9,550 GERMANS SLAIN IN 1 DAY'S FIGHTING: REDS

Soviets Slow Drive on Oil Fields.

MOSCOW, Aug. 4 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Soviet troops fighting in the Don river elbow 80 miles northwest of the industrial city of Stalingrad and in the western Caucasus have killed 9,550 Germans in a successful 24 hour stand, it was announced early today.

This claim was preceded by an announcement that the Russians fought defensive battles that slowed the Germans somewhat in the western Caucasus a scant 138 miles from the oil derricks of Maikop. The Red armies also stood solidly in the Don bend 80 miles from Stalingrad.

Reds Deal Counter Blows.

In the area of Kletskaya northwest of Stalingrad, the midnight communique said, two Russian units killed more than 1,300 Germans. It added that the Red army was "dealing counter blows against enemy tanks and motorized infantry."

Southwest of Kletskaya in the Tsimlyansk area of the curving Don, the Russians said the Germans still were throwing tanks and men across the river in what appeared to be the lower arm of a great enveloping attempt against Stalingrad.

"On one of those sectors, the Germans lost up to 650 officers and men killed alone," the communique said.

In the critical Salsk-Kushchevka areas of the western Caucasus, 75 and 50 miles respectively below the Don, the lines apparently were swaying back and forth. The communique said 400 Germans were killed in the Salsk region, and another 600 in the Kushchevka sector.

Cossacks Kill 1,500 Men.

The bulk of German men, tanks and screaming dive bombers were hurled at the Red lines in the Kushchevka area, 50 miles south of Rostov, and at Salsk, 100 miles to the southeast. In those areas the Don and Kuban Cossacks fought with such vigor for their homelands that they killed 1,500 Germans alone in one night.

The Germans were throwing hordes of fresh reserves of machines and men into the battle with characteristic disregard for death. The drive into the Caucasus was Adolf Hitler's supreme gamble to knock Russia from the war and seize the oil he desperately needs.

[The Germans said that a tank column was approaching the upper Kuban river, 120 miles south of Rostov, and that local resistance was broken. The Nazis said that troops from the Tsimlyansk bridgeheads were pushing the soviet eastward.]

Day's Action Summed Up.

The action was summed up thus in an earlier communique:

STALINGRAD FRONT: "In the Kletskaya area, the Germans attacked in a number of sectors with infantry and tanks supported by aircraft which bombed soviet troop positions. Our troops firmly withstood the enemy's pressure and flung them back to their original position."

TSIMLYANSK FRONT ON THE LOWER DON: "An attack by two enemy battalions was repulsed. The enemy left 11 disabled tanks and more than 2,000 killed on the field."

WESTERN CAUCASUS: "In the areas of Kushchevka and Salsk our troops continued to fight severe defensive battles against the enemy. Soviet long range bombers and dive bombers carried out a number of successful raids on enemy tank and motorized columns and inflicted severe losses."

[The British Broadcasting corporation said soviet naval guns and planes made a successful attack on a German convoy in the Sea of Azov off the western Caucasus, sinking one 15,000 ton German transport.]

Drive Down Railway.

It was in the Caucasus where the Germans were exerting their fullest pressure in a mighty offensive down the Baku railway in frantic quest of oil. The Maikop fields produce about 7 per cent of the Russian oil and there are no great mountain barriers between the Germans and the pool.

At the rate the Germans were throwing in reserves competent military observers estimated that it would take almost superhuman soviet resistance to halt their advance. In the 10 days since Rostov fell the Germans have moved 100 miles to the southeast and 50 miles south upon Salsk and Kushchevka.

THE NAVY NEEDS BINOCULARS

On the back page of today's issue appears a full color feature in poster form, prepared by Milo Winter, Chicago artist, calling attention to the American navy's need for binoculars now in possession of civilians.

In all issues of tomorrow's Tribune will be presented a full page color map by William Wisner of the north central part of Egypt, theater of the desert war now raging. Shown in this map are the Qattara depression, the rich Nile valley, the Suez canal, and other physical features. Large scale inset maps of Cairo and Alexandria are included.

CITY'S TRAFFIC MUST HALT IN AIR RAID TEST

All Are Instructed to Find Shelter.

General black-out instructions for civilians in the 6th civilian defense region, embracing 50,000 square miles of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, were issued yesterday by Col. B. B. Freud, regional director.

He urged that every one of the 12 million persons affected familiarize himself with these suggestions before Aug. 12, when the middle west will undergo its first general black-out from 10 to 10:30 p. m. Freud said that efforts have been made to obtain nearly uniform regulations, but that local ordinances will vary the regulations.

In Chicago detailed instructions will be issued today to civilian defense workers. Civilians should familiarize themselves thoroly with these sugestions to make the black-out a success.

Turn Out Lights in Homes.

This is what you must do if you are in areas outside the downtown district when the black-out begins.

Extinguish all lights in your home and remain indoors. If there is a refuge room, go to it. A refuge room is one especially prepared with window black-out curtains so that lights may be kept on without being seen from without.

Do not admit any strangers.

If you are a pedestrian when the black-out comes, seek a refuge immediately in a doorway or some other such protected place. Refuge zones have been established in many churches and lodge buildings.

If you are driving your car, draw at once to the curb and put out the lights. If no parking space is available on main thorofares, pull into a near side street, park, and shut off the lights.

If you are driving on a country road, pull off the road entirely if that is possible. If not, get as far off the road as possible, then turn on only the parking lights.

Buses, Trains Must Stop.

Street cars, buses, and elevated trains must proceed to the nearest corner or station and turn out their lights. Passengers must remain in their seats.

Street lights will be extinguished by city and park district electricians.

Emergency vehicles, such as those operated by police and fire departments and public utilities, will function during the black-out. Their lights will be covered by an opaque material which may have a three inch slit a half inch wide in it.

Railroad lights necessary to operation, airway beacons, and navigation lights must not be extinguished.

Rules for Downtown Area.

In the downtown area Earle Shultz, division chief, said this procedure must be carried out within five minutes after the air raid warning has been given:

LADY ASTOR'S TALK ON RUSSIA MAY BE ISSUE IN COMMONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 4 [Tuesday].—The controversy over Lady Astor's weekend speech, in which she is reported to have said that the Russians "are fighting for themselves, not for us," is expected to become an issue in the house of commons involving Minister of Information Brendan Bracken.

Several members of parliament, according to political sources, have taken exception to Lady Astor's sentiments and intend to demand from Bracken how far she reflects the views of the ministry of information, under whose auspices the meeting at which she spoke was held. Some members of parliament from Lady Astor's own party, the Conservative, according to the Daily Herald, are advising her to make an apology in parliament.

In a letter in this morning's Daily Herald, which was bitterly critical of her remarks, Lady Astor complains that the paper printed "mischievously an isolated sentence," giving a false impression of her speech, and explains that she thought her "undisguised partiality for America would be excused on the ground that I was born there." The Herald protests that "Lady Astor's enthusiasm for America does not entitle her to sneer publicly at Russia."

Belden Offers Money or War Bond Dividend

The Belden Manufacturing company of Chicago yesterday adopted a suggestion made in a CHICAGO TRIBUNE editorial March 21 and became the first firm in the nation to invite stockholders to accept payment of a newly declared dividend in war bonds or stamps instead of cash.

The new dividend of 37½ cents a share was set at a figure that will give the holder of every 50 shares of Belden stock an $18.75 return—exactly the amount required to pay for a bond with a $25 maturity value. At the option of the shareholder the dividend will be payable either in cash or in war bonds and stamps.

Issued Thru Credit Union.

The Belden company announced that its credit union will serve as the issuing agent in handling the war securities. Special forms have been perfected by the firm for the project and will be made available to other companies, Belden officials said.

The dividend, totaling $90,000, is the third return of the year for Belden, a manufacturer of insulated wire for 40 years in plants at Chicago and Richmond, Ind. Two previous cash dividends were for 35 cents each.

Treasury department officials, complimenting Belden for being the first company to offer stockholders the privilege of taking dividends in war bonds and stamps, said the plan could increase the securities' sales by as much as 500 million dollars a year if adopted by other corporations, and stave off compulsory savings plans.

Tribune Advanced Idea.

The proposal was made originally in a TRIBUNE editorial that suggested corporations offer to be the agent for investing dividends in war bonds, even tho there are legal and other obstacles which might prevent a company from compelling shareholders to take their returns in the bonds.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Daniel W. Bell requested R. D. Cahn, manager of THE TRIBUNE's planning department, to present the proposal to a number of large corporations. Belden Manufacturing officials began preparing their program as the result of the editorial suggestion, and completed it after consulting Cahn on further details.

PANAMA CANAL UNDER A ONE HOUR AIR RAID ALARM; MAN ALL GUNS

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS, PANAMA CANAL ZONE, Aug. 3 (AP).—The vital Panama Canal Zone underwent a one hour general air raid alarm this afternoon after a friendly plane not immediately identifiable had touched off the strategic waterway's elaborate defense system.

The plane was first spotted while heading toward Panama across the Gulf of Chiriqui at an estimated speed of 250 miles per hour. It was soon identified, but Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commander of the Caribbean defense zone, decided to prolong the alarm for a full test of the canal's defenses.

The alarm was the first since shortly after the United States entered the war.

The sirens shrilled from one side of the isthmus to the other, and defense crews quickly manned their posts.

The alert had not died away before soldiers, sailors, and marines on the Canal Zone defenses, ranging from giant coast artillery down to individual small arms, were in firing position or on their way to battle stations.

SAILOR SAYS U. S. AND JAPS FOUGHT BEFORE DEC. 7

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP).—Vessels of the United States fleet exchanged shots with Japanese warships in the Pacific before the attack on Pearl Harbor, Chief Gunner's Mate Joseph Purta related today on a visit to his home.

Purta, 35 years old and a veteran of 15 years in the navy, said he was serving on a warship when the incidents occurred. He declined details, adding that in several encounters the American losses were less than those of the Japanese.

[The navy department at Washington said it had no information and no comment to make on Purta's story.]

Jaundice Fatal to Col. Reed of Ordnance Staff

Lieut. Col. Edward Platt Reed, chief of the inspection division of the Chicago Ordnance district, died in the army hospital at Fort Sheridan yesterday. The district public relations office reported that he had been taken to the hospital five weeks ago to be treated for acute catarrhal jaundice.

Lieut. Col. Reed.

Relatives said that Col. Reed was inoculated against yellow fever last February.

His death recalled Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson's announcement of July 24 that 28,585 cases of jaundice had developed in the army, apparently from the use of yellow fever vaccine, and the recommendation of Rep. J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] for a congressional investigation.

More than 60 Victims Die.

Secretary Stimson said that 62 of the soldiers stricken had died. Rep. Thomas, ranking minority member of the house military affairs committee, termed the jaundice situation a national disgrace and said that the country is entitled to know what happened.

Col. Reed, who was 44 years old, had been chief of the inspection service for the last three and one half years. He was responsible for employing, training, and supervising the 2,600 men and women inspectors of the district.

Ex-Arsenal Employé.

During the last war he served in the gun carriage and ammunition departments of the New York Air Brake company at Watertown, N. Y. He was in the employ of the Rock Island arsenal at Davenport, Ia., when he joined the staff of the ordnance district here in 1937. On June 18, 1941, he was commissioned a major in the ordnance reserve. He was promoted to lieutenant colonel last June 26.

His home was at 3111 North 78th avenue, Elmwood Park. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Della Reed, and a daughter, Rita, 7 years old. Services will be at Fort Sheridan at 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

Call Lindbergh Today in Pelley Sedition Trial

BY WARREN BAKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on page 2.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 3.—Charles A. Lindbergh will be the principal witness at tomorrow's session of the sedition trial of William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts.

Pelley himself wound up his defense on the stand today after a few questions by the government in his trial before Judge Robert C. Baltzell and an all-male jury here. It didn't take him long, and his defense consisted of an outright denial of every allegation of the government in a 10 count indictment charging hampering of the war effort.

Lindbergh on Scene.

Lindbergh arrived in Indianapolis tonight in answer to a subpena directing him to appear as a witness. The airman is now a technical adviser to the Ford Motor company.

The jury today heard Pelley make the following statements:

"The United States is first!"

"I never held any animus against a Jew."

"I don't believe in any persecution. I've suffered too much of it myself."

"If I made any mistakes, they were of the head, not the heart."

Pelley's direct examination began with his background. He testified that he has been a publisher for 30 years; that he is of Irish, Scotch, and English ancestry, an ancestry which he traced back to 1595. He said his father's people came over on the second voyage of the Mayflower and that his ancestors have served in every war in the nation's history.

Son of a Minister.

He said his father was a Methodist minister and that two of his uncles were killed at Gettysburg. He testified he was a second lieutenant of military intelligence in the Siberian campaign during the World war. His son is registered for the draft now and is "proud to serve," Pelley said.

He said he had seen the whole Communist movement come into being and that he had started the Silver Shirts to combat the inroads of communism.

He said the organization was disbanded in 1940 because it was no longer needed. He said there were 25,000 members of the Silver Shirts in 47 states when the movement was disbanded. There had never been any violence of any sort, he asserted.

Pelley said that after war was declared he was sorry it had happened but that his sole desire was to see the United States win. He took the credit or the blame—depending upon the jury—for every magazine article cited in the indictment. These chiefly were writings he had published in the Galilean, a weekly magazine, which he testified he published to carry out subscription contracts.

Denies Plan to Harm Morale.

He asserted the United States had solicited war with the axis nations, that the President's speeches and the acts of the administration from February, 1933, to December, 1942, were inflammatory.

It was at this point that he made his first denial, subsequently repeated point by point, that he had any idea of damaging the morale of the armed forces. He said he had given orders to his staff to see to it that none of his publications was mailed to soldiers, sailors, or marines, as such.

He insisted time after time that he

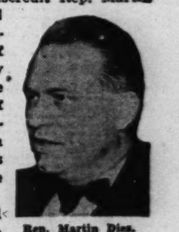
URGES HOUSE BAR GALLERY TO RED PAPER

Wilfully Distorted Story, He Says.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—A plot to smear and discredit Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.] and other congressional foes of Communism by the deliberate manipulation of news stories embroidered with falsehoods was uncovered in the house today.



Rep. Martin Dies.

Dies suggested in a letter to the speaker of the house that the New York Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party in the United States, be denied the privileges of the press gallery as a result of the disclosure.

Dies' letter, inserted in the Congressional Record by Rep. Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.], member of the committee on un-American activities of which the Texan is chairman, presented a copy of a telegram sent July 23 by Louis Budenz, managing editor of the Worker, to his Washington correspondent, Adam Lapin.

"Bring In Dies' Name."

Referring to the indictment of 28 persons for conspiracy to impair and cause disunity in the armed forces, Budenz remarked that it was the "big story" of the day. He instructed Lapin to emphasize that the "leading Red baiters" in the country [William Dudley Pelley, Gerald B. Winrod, etc.] were involved and then added the following direction, remarkable in view of the fact that Dies' committee had furnished much of the evidence upon which the indictments were based:

"Bring in Dies' name with these people."

A copy of Lapin's next day story was attached to the letter. Buried deep in the dispatch were the names of those actually indicted. But the third paragraph stated: "The trial of the conspiracy as uncovered by the grand jury points straight to congressional defeatists such as Rep. Hamilton Fish, professional Red baiters such as Rep. Martin Dies and the financial and industrial interests behind the America First committee—altho these higher ups in the fifth column were not actually indicted."

Imputed Other Guilt.

The story said that "a complete list of members of congress tied in with the defeatist groups named by the grand jury would probably come to about 50 representatives and senators."

Other members of congress listed in the story so as to give the casual reader the impression that these legislators had also been indicted were as follows:

Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.], Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], Rep. Frank Woodruff, presumably meaning Rep. Roy O. Woodruff [R., Mich.], and Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the senate military affairs committee.

Of the Budenz telegram and the stories and editorials which followed in the Daily Worker, Dies had this to say:

"I do not need, Mr. Speaker, to dwell upon the utterly unethical character of the journalism which this telegram represents. It is obviously of the gutter type which has characterized the technique of this publication thruout the 19 years of its existence. I do wish to emphasize the fact that the Daily Worker is a registered agent of a foreign principal, and further that its representative in Washington, Mr. Adam Lapin, has been accorded the privileges of the press gallery of this house. The Daily Worker's telegram instructing Mr. Lapin to 'bring in Dies' name with these people' is a piece of contemptible abuse of the press courtesies which this house has extended to Mr. Lapin and his paper."

Exploited Indictment.

"It was clearly the intention of the Communist party's newspaper," Dies wrote, "to exploit the indictment of the 28 persons for the purpose of smearing the house of representatives which has repeatedly during the past four years given its approval to the special committee on un-American activities by overwhelming majorities. The Daily Worker's charge that a committee of this house has shielded un-American groups or individuals is, of course, a scurrilous falsehood. If there were a semblance of truth in the charge, this house would have been the first to condemn the committee.

"It is not my purpose to recite in detail the evidence of the falsity of the charge that this house or its special committee on un-American activities has failed to investigate or has shielded the 28 persons named in the recent indictment. The records of the special committee on un-American activities show that all of them have been investigated and that many of them have been subpenaed to appear as witnesses before the committee.

Cites One Example.

"To take a single example: One of those indicted, William Dudley Pelley, has been a subject of the committee's investigations during the entire four years of its existence. The committee's records will show that we have expended more funds on the investigation of Pelley than on any other individual, whether Nazi, Fascist, or Communist. Furthermore, the committee unanimously found that Pelley's activities were un-American and long ago published its finding to the house and the country.

"The house will recall that a previous attempt, involving the fabrication and use of spurious letters, was made to link my name with William Dudley Pelley. That attempt was an abysmal failure, and the house took the drastic action of expunging a not-too-shrewd set of falsehoods from the record.

[Dies referred to an incident when letters were inserted in the Congressional Record by Rep. Frank Hook (D., Mich.), purporting to show a connection between Dies and Pelley. The forger of the letter later confessed.]

Quickly Followed Up.

Dies showed in the letter to the speaker how the Communist front organization, the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, immediately took up the Daily Worker campaign. The record of the federation's Communist connections fills a hundred pages of the Dies committee report. A press release by this organization on July 24 was attached to Dies' letter.

"It parrots the identical falsehoods which the editor of the Daily Worker instructed his Washington correspondent to write," declared Dies.

He concluded:

"My long experience as chairman of the committee of this house has taught me to expect personal abuse from those whom I have investigated. But I am concerned that the privileges of the press gallery should be abused in this manner for the purpose of making a thinly disguised attack upon the house as a whole.

No Place in Journalism.

"No one believes more firmly than I in the freedom of the press, which must, if it has any meaning at all, include the freedom to engage in political controversy. But I am sure that the whole decent press of this country—and by that I mean practically all of it—will agree with me that an editor's instructions to his correspondent to vilify any individual member or committee of congress without regard to the facts have no place in decent journalism.

"The Daily Worker is free to utilize the freedom of the press to make political capital out of the indictment of the 28 individuals, but I wonder if there is any reasonable argument which can be adduced to justify the house in extending the privileges of its press gallery to the Daily Worker, an agent of a foreign principal, in order that these privileges may be turned, by the use of deliberate falsehood, to the undermining of public confidence in the house."

Action on Dies' suggestion is not expected until Speaker Sam Rayburn returns from a Texas vacation.

Theme Aped in Speech.

The theme of the Daily Worker article, Dies said, was followed in a floor speech soon after it appeared by Rep. Elmer J. Holland [D., Pa.], who attacked Capt. Joseph M. Patterson and Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, publishers respectively of the New York Daily News and Washington Times-Herald. They are doing their best to bring about a Fascist victory, he asserted, and "would welcome a victory by Hitler in preference to a democratic government headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Rep. Holland, a freshman legislator who arrived in Washington only last May to fill a vacancy, called Capt. Patterson and Mrs. Patterson "America's No. 1 and No. 2 exponents of the Nazi propaganda line."

Referring to a News editorial which mentioned the propaganda war engaged in by both sides of the warring nations, Holland asked:

"Would any American with the slightest spark of patriotism state in an American paper these words: 'Our government delivered a propaganda thrust on Thursday for what it might be worth in worrying Hitler about a second front'?

"The Pattersons and their ilk must go. We want no Quislings in America."

VETERAN OF 16 RETURNS FROM DUTCH HARBOR

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 3 (AP).—Sixteen year old Theodore Earl of Los Angeles is back from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, where he served as a private in the United States army since May without disclosing his true age.

Pvt. Theodore Earl.

The army only recently discovered he was 16, and thought it a little young for the rugged duty required in the Aleutian Island outpost where the Japanese already have made two bombing attacks.

Pvt. Earl, who said he enlisted in November, 1939, just after his 14th birthday, agreed.

"I was with a platoon that was credited with bringing one Jap plane down on its raid over Dutch Harbor," he said, "and—well—I'll admit I was plenty scared. A bomb knocked me 32 feet."

Earl, who suffered a minor shrapnel wound in the air raid last June, said morale was high among the Dutch Harbor troops. He expects to return home after receiving his discharge here.

SABOTEUR CASE FINDINGS GIVEN TO WHITE HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—The fate of eight Nazi saboteurs tonight rested in the hands of President Roosevelt as the military commission which had considered their case since July 8 deposited its findings and recommendations at the White House.

The President will review the lengthy record of the trial and the commission conclusions before he personally announces the verdict, which is generally expected to be execution by hanging or shooting for at least seven of the men.

The eighth member of the group, which was landed by U-boat on the Long Island and Florida coasts in June, is understood to have supplied valuable evidence and may escape with a prison sentence. He is George John Dasch, leader of the group which landed on Long Island.

If the commission recommends the death penalty and is upheld by the President, Mr. Roosevelt must determine the date and place of execution, according to the procedure outlined for consideration of this case.

NAVY FATHERS CAMPAIGN FOR 10,000 MEMBERS

The Navy Fathers and Sons of America launched a campaign to enlist 10,000 fathers of navy men in the Chicago area at their first meeting last night in the Hotel Sherman. Purposes of the organization are to promote the welfare of the men in the navy, coast guard and marines and to help rehabilitate them after the war. C. Ashley Deneen, son of Charles S. Deneen, former United States senator and governor of Illinois, was elected president. He announced that the group will coöperate with the navy mothers club and establish a clubhouse in the loop. W. T. Jenkins, whose son, Jack, a pharmacist's mate, was reported missing in the capture of Bataan, was elected vice president.

had never intended to cause insubordination or mutiny.

He said his idea in publishing various articles cited by the government and the grand jury as seditious was to "show up" the New Deal. He said the intent was entirely political, but that he wouldn't even have published the Galilean if he had known that any one could construe it to be derogatory to the war effort.

Cites "Quarantine" Speech.

Of the charge he had termed America's diplomacy "baleful and provocative," he said there were 28 separate acts by the administration to support his claim. He named half a dozen that he considered of prime importance, including the President's "quarantine" speech in Chicago, the note to the emperor of Japan, the lending of flyers to the Chinese government, the lend-lease act, and the British destroyer-defense base exchange.

He cited Washington's farewell address, quoting the section against foreign entanglements and the Monroe Doctrine in support of his stand.

He said a section of the indictment that deals with his assertion that "we are bankrupt" was taken out of context but that figures will show that the nation's liability is approximately $2,000 per capita, or 260 billion dollars, while the nation's wealth is about 146 billions.

Judge Bars Figures.

He said these facts had been brought out in congress many times. His attempt to read from the congressional record of June 5, 1939, however, was thwarted by Judge Robert C. Baltzell, who held that the figures were too old to be representative.

In answer to the charge he was antagonistic to Jews, Pelley said he had studied the question for 20 years and had written two ethnological textbooks but never had held animus toward an individual Jew.

He said 51 per cent of the people want American troops kept home, not scattered thruout the world.

"I want the United States to win!" Pelley snapped in answer to one of his lawyer's queries. "I want to see an early peace. I want to see the United States get out of this whole mess as quickly as possible." He said he was heartbroken at the losses suffered thus far.

Excerpts taken from his writings against Britain and the Jews, he answered by citing Prime Minister Winston Churchill's statement before parliament that "the proudest moment of my career was when I got the United States into this war."

Among others who will testify, in addition to Lindbergh, are former Sen. Rush Holt of West Virginia and former Congressman Jacob Thorkelson of Montana.

Chicago Spy Tells of Kunze's Knowledge of Coast Defense

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 3 (AP).—A confessed peacetime espionage plotter told a federal court jury today of onetime Bund Leader Gerhard Kunze's familiarity wih American military installations and interest in possible Pacific coast landing spots.

The witness was Dr. Otto Willumeit, president of the Teutonia Publishing company, Chicago, on the stand as a government witness against the Rev. Kurt E. B. Molzahn, Philadelphia, Pa., Lutheran pastor, charged with being a member of the ring.

Later Federal Bureau of Investigation Agent E. Russell Davis testified that Nazi propaganda, including a photograph of Hitler and Goebbels, was found in a search of Molzahn's parsonage.

Willumeit, a bund official, has pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to violate the 1917 espionage act. Willumeit's testimony linked Molzahn with Kunze by telling how the bund leader had informed the Rev. Aleski Pelypenko of arrangements for getting Kunze's passport pictures in Molzahn's hands. Pelypenko is a Ukranian priest and counterespionage agent in the employ of the FBI.

Speaks of Chicago Meeting.

Willumeit testified that at a cocktail lounge meeting in a Chicago hotel between himself, Kunze, Pelypenko and others, Kunze said:

"Pastor Molzahn would take care of everything."

It has been testified that Kunze was trying to leave the country to forward pre-Pearl Harbor military information to Germany and Japan.

Willumeit told of a trip which he and Kunze took last fall thru much of the middle west and west and of Kunze's full knowledge of the terrain, of military and naval locations and of alleged weaknesses in west coast defenses.

Traveled Without Road Map.

He related that they drove thousands of miles from Chicago to Seattle, Wash., to El Paso, Tex., and back to Chicago, but that Kunze never needed a road map.

As the two traveled between Seattle and San Francisco, said Willumeit, Kunze pointed out "the weaknesses in the defense of the coast."

At El Paso, Tex., home of Dr. Wolfgang Ebell, another member of the spy ring who has pleaded guilty, Willumeit became suspicious of Kunze's future intentions.

The three crossed the border to Juarez, Mexico, where Kunze wanted to meet the brewmaster of a local brewery. Failing to, he returned to El Paso, but Ebell suggested that Willumeit continue to San Antonio, Tex., while Kunze remained to see the brewmaster.

Willumeit said he became suspicious that Kunze intended to leave the country and insisted that the bund leader go along with him.

Recites Kunze's Words.

Willumeit answered a question propounded Friday concerning what Kunze had told Pelypenko. He said:

"Mr. Kunze told Pelypenko that he was going to forward passport pictures either to him or to Pastor Molzahn; that he wanted Pelypenko personally to meet Pastor Molzahn, and that Pastor Molzahn would take care of everything."

Willumeit, Kunze, and others conferred with Father Pelypenko in the cocktail lounge of the Hotel Bismarck, Chicago, it has been testified.

Woman Sent to Camp

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3 [Special].—Mrs. Margareta Bertelmann, who aided an escaped Nazi flier last April 18, has been sent to a camp for women alien enemies, it was learned today. Oberleutnant Hans Peter Krug found refuge in her home after his flight from a Canadian concentration camp. She summoned Max Stephan, the naturalized American citizen who now is awaiting sentence for treason—a sentence which may be the death penalty.

Under the law, Mrs. Bertelmann could not be accused of treason because she is a citizen of Germany. She was given hearings before the alien enemy board, however, and the result of these hearings was her transfer to the camp.

According to testimony at Stephan's trial, Mrs. Bertelmann gave Krug $20, fed him, and aided Stephan in helping Krug during the two days he was here.

OBJECTOR, STILL HUNGER STRIKER, RETURNS TO WORK

Elkridge, Md., Aug. 3 (AP).—Corbett Bishop, son of a former Alabama share cropper, went back to work today with a pick and shovel in a drainage ditch at the Avalon conscientious objectors' camp determined to continue his 37-day hunger strike even tho he becomes a "casualty."

The 36 year old bookshop owner from West New York, N. J., passively obeyed an order from Washington selective service headquarters that he go back to work after being sent to the camp infirmary when he began a fast in protest against inaction on his request for a furlough. But he steadfastly refused to eat.

"I am not overwhelmed with hunger," Bishop said in an interview leaning his 129 pounds on a shovel handle under a shady tree in Patapsco state park where his crew worked. A stretcher lay nearby in the grass.

Bishop said he weighed 173 pounds when he began his hunger strike June 26.

Ensign Tony F. Schneider, 24, Hillsboro, Mo.—For his part in destroying a large storehouse and damaging two bombers on the ground.

TELLS NEW DEAL: END EXPERIMENTS AND FIGHT WAR

Mason Says Smear Bloc Resents Criticism.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—America must be convinced New Deal social planners are not conducting an internal revolution while the nation wages an external war, Rep. Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.], declared in a house speech today.

Rep. Noah M. Mason.

Confidence in the country's leadership, Mason said, can come only when people are convinced no effort is being made "to destroy our free American form of government, our free enterprise system of economy, our free American way of life."

Mason warned that the people face two grave dangers, one arising from unpreparedness to meet the onslaughts of foreign maurauders and the other from the "unabated efforts of people in this country who want to overthrow our free constitutional government and bring about communism or Fascism in this nation."

Must Save American Way.

"This war is essentially a war to be fought by trained military and naval experts," he said. "The trouble has been to date that it has been run entirely too much by social experimenters, welfare workers, and opportunistic politicians.

"Our boys are out fighting and dying on the battle fronts to protect and defend and perpetuate Americanism. We at home can do no less than to exercise our uttermost caution and knowledge to preserve and protect and perpetuate Americanism. If we sacrifice our American form of government, our American way of life, we shall have lost the peace, regardless of whether or not we win the war.

"That must not be!

Calls Criticism Essential.

"The men and women who should be elected to the next congress of the United States should be elected not on the basis of what somebody says they belived back yonder before Pearl Harbor, but on the basis of their determination not only to fight this war thru to a decisive and victorious finish, but to fight on to protect our American form of government and our American way of life after this war is over."

The Illinois congressman, a member of the Dies committee on un-American activities, told the house that propagandists and smear artists are seeking to discredit the legislative branch of the government and suppress all criticism of the administration's conduct of the war. Congress, he said, is the voice of the people, and if their own voice is discredited they will have no further control over their government.

Mason maintained that constructive criticism is not only patriotic but essential for the most efficient conduct of the war. It is the duty of every one to support the war effort in every way possible, but there is neither sense nor patriotism in supporting or continuing a mistake, he said.

Entitled to All Facts.

"Mistakes are not remedied by submissive silence," Mason continued. "Passive allegiance to any administration in which inefficiency is apparent will not win the war, but will bring disaster upon the nation.

"The American people have the courage and character and capacity to withstand the harshest blows of adversity and to bear up under the most terrible news of disaster. They are entitled to all of the facts about this war that they can be given without injury to military strategy. The danger that constantly attends censorship imposed by the necessities of war is that that censorship will be used to cover up mistakes and failures and inefficiencies and corruption which can lose us the war as France lost the war."

MARTIN CHARGES AROFF TRIED TO INDUCE PERJURY

Singer Tells of Finding $375 Bond for Car.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 3 [Special].—Tony Martin, the curly haired former singing star of screen and radio, today accused Lieut. Comm. Maurice N. Aroff of attempting to induce him to make false statements to naval intelligence officers.

Tony Martin.

Martin made this charge against his friend and former adviser when he took the stand as the star witness for the prosecution in Aroff's court martial on charges of accepting an automobile from the singer as a reward for facilitating his enlistment in the navy.

Wearing the insignia of a chief boatswain's mate, Martin, now manager of the navy theater on Treasure Island, testified he gave his luxurious sedan to Aroff a few days after joining the navy last Jan. 2 and that Aroff did not offer to pay for it.

Suggested a Story.

Two days after April 18, when Aroff was relieved of duty following an investigation of his handling of applications for naval commissions, Aroff suggested to him that he tell intelligence officers Aroff had paid for the car in installments of $200, $400, and a $375 war bond, Martin said.

Aroff stared impassively at Martin as the singer's damaging testimony went into the record. Martin was on the stand for more than an hour. He smiled often and displayed remarkable memory of conversations with Aroff and other naval officers.

Martin said he told navy intelligence officers the fabrication that he had received payment for the car, but that he decided to tell the truth when the officers prepared his statement in writing and asked him to sign it.

Tells True Story.

"Gentlemen," he said he exclaimed to the investigating officers, "I'm not going to sign that statement. Do me a favor and give me an hour to myself."

The officers gave him his hour, he said, and he went out and had a cocktail while he thought the matter over. When he returned to the room he said, "Fellows, get out your pencils," and then for the first time told the true story of the transaction.

Martin said that on May 17 a $375 war bond made out in his name arrived by mail at his Oakland home. After talking the matter over with his mother he asked her to send the bond back to Aroff, he said, and she did so.

Argued About Bond.

Several days later Aroff met him and they argued about the bond, Aroff insisting that he take it back, Martin testified. He quoted Aroff as saying, "It's no good to me." The singer said he refused to take back the bond but that it subsequently reappeared in a cubbyhole of his dresser. Neither he nor his mother, who found it, knew how it got there, he said.

Under cross-examination of Aroff's counsel, Martin said the bond is now in the possession of the naval intelligence department but that he intends to get it and retain it as part payment on the car. Pressed for an explanation, Martin said:

"Well, it's my bond and can't belong to any one else because it's in my name. And it's apparent the man sent me the bond because he wanted me to have it."

Knew Aroff in Hollywood.

Martin said he had known Aroff in Hollywood and that they were good friends before and after he joined the navy, calling each other Tony and Maury and often dining together. When he flew to San Francisco from Chicago to join the navy he disappointed Aroff, who had asked him to buy an automobile in Chicago and drive it to the coast, he said. Partly because of this disappointment he offered Aroff his car.

Frequent clashes between Lieut. Irving Klein, the judge advocate, and C. Ray Robinson, Aroff's counsel, enlivened Martin's testimony.

3d Army Rehearses for War; Reds and Blues Ready to Clash

Practice 'Trick' Plays

THIRD ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Louisiana, Aug. 3 (AP).—The 3d army today begins four months of intensive field training designed to whip Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's command into a coördinated, prime fighting force.

In contrast to the much publicized war games held in this area in 1940 and 1941, this year's operations will be something of a "secret practice" before the big game—with all the latest trick plays to be polished.

The 8th army corps, commanded by Maj. Gen. Daniel Sultan, will undergo training for the first six weeks, followed by the 4th corps under Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold.

The operations will not put large bodies of troops against each other as the 1940 and 1941 maneuvers did. Instead, highly technical and advanced problems will be worked out by units that have been rehearsing for months. Coördination of air and ground forces is one of the prime objects.

Move in Darkness

Wadesboro, N. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—Maj. Gen. E. J. Dawley, 6th army corps commander, and maneuver director, has set 5 a. m. tomorrow as starting hour for the next exercise of the Reds and Blues in the Carolina maneuvers.

Gasoline and supply trucks tonight raised columns of dust rolling down the back roads with the last minute deliveries of materials. Jeeps kicked up their little spurts as they carried company commanders to final staff conferences.

Tonight the columns are on the march. By daybreak the bulkier units, which do not move except in darkness, will be in brand new bivouacs.

The maneuvers are designed, Gen. Dawley said, not to teach grand strategy, but to teach officers and men to make the most of themselves and the best use of their equipment.

CITY WILL HONOR COAST GUARD AT CEREMONY TODAY

Chicago will pay tribute to the United States coast guard today at ceremonies in the Jackson park station, where 300 recruits will be sworn in during a double celebration of the service's 152d birthday, and the creation of "Coast Guard day," proclaimed by Mayor Kelly.

Further honoring the service will be the renaming of a section of the Outer drive opposite the station as Coast Guard drive. The new name was chosen by the park district and the city council.

At the dedication ceremonies, Guy Robertson, the actor, will read the mayor's proclamation, and Frances Knight, musical comedy star, will entertain the recruits. The ceremony will begin at 2 o'clock.

CHILD, 8, OFFERS 27 INCH TRESSES FOR BOMB SIGHTS

Arlene is only 8 years old, but her hair, lustrous and blonde, is 27 inches long. She offered to cut the tresses, her most precious possession, yesterday if Uncle Sam could use them for cross hairs in bomb sights. Arlene thought of offering her hair after seeing a photograph of 7 year old Beth Adams of New Orleans, La., who had done the same, in last Saturday's TRIBUNE.

BODIES OF TWO U. S. SOLDIERS FOUND IN NOVA SCOTIA WATERS

DIGBY, Nova Scotia, Aug. 3 [Canadian press].—The bodies of two, and possibly three, United States soldiers have been found by fishermen off the bay of Fundy coast of Digby Neck, a narrow peninsula jutting off the southern end of Nova Scotia about 40 miles from here.

Royal Canadian mounted police said the bodies had been found during the last week. Police estimated that they had been in the sea for a month or six weeks. No other details were divulged.

One of the bodies found was that of an American sergeant. Phillip Lent, a Freeport fisherman, found it and after removing the identification papers buried it at sea.

The body of a second American soldier was found by Westport fishermen who brought it ashore and buried it in the Westport cemetery. In both cases, the fishermen forwarded the identification papers to the mounted police. A third body was found at Darmouth Cove, near Freeport, but police said it was impossible to tell whether it was that of a soldier or a civilian. It was buried at Freeport.

INVENTOR OF SUB URGES UNDERSEA CARGO CARRIERS

Tells of Secret Device to Silence Craft.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—Simon Lake, 75 year old inventor of undersea torpedo boats, today described a counter invention which he said would take the sting out of the axis submarine menace to American shipping.

Lake told a senate subcommittee that a secret silencing device he had perfected could open the way for a fleet of submarine freighters which could elude planes, ships, and other undersea craft with ease. Lake also expressed the opinion that the Nazis already are operating such craft.

Proposes Undersea Freighters.

Interest in Lake's testimony swung the committee's attention away for a day from the cargo-plane possibilities it had been investigating for the last week.

Lake advocated the building of undersea cargo carriers capable of transporting 7,500 ton loads of supplies, oil, tanks, guns, munitions, and men to the fighting zones to supplement those transported by the proposed cargo planes.

Lake declared shipyards could convert to submarine building the same material, machinery, and equipment used in the Liberty ships and "still have some steel left." The yards themselves would require no conversion at all, he said.

Could Use Concrete.

In response to a question he said the underseas craft could be built of concrete, but that use of that material would require "considerable experimentation and I would prefer steel."

Lake estimated the cost at $2,125,000 each and said that, while it "might take five or six months" to build the first cargo submarine, one shipbuilder had inofrmed him that he could turn them out at a rate of two a day after production got under way.

The inventor said that he had contacted both the navy and maritime commission in regard to his plan, adding, "but it's pretty hard to get any government official to take the responsibility for developing anything new."

Better Surface Vessels' Speed.

Stating that the submarine freighters could travel at the same speed as surface merchantmen—12 knots or better on the surface—he added that by submerging in bad weather t' ey could make 8 knots, which he ld was faster than surface craft could travel during storms. He asserted their silence and invisibility would cut thousands of miles from their voyages because they could take the shortest routes.

BRICK MACHINE PLANT DAMAGED BY $35,000 BLAZE

Fire caused estimated damage of $35,000 last night to the block long factory of the Chisholm Boyd & White company, 610 West 57th street, makers of machinery for the manufacture of firebrick. A 3-11 alarm sent extra fire apparatus and firemen to the scene. The fire started from unknown causes in the pattern room on the second floor, and spread quickly to the roof and along the greater length of the big structure. Chief Fire Marshal A. J. Mullaney estimated the loss.

BAHR WILL ASK COURT TO QUASH NEW INDICTMENT

Newark, N. J., Aug. 3 (AP).—Counsel for Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr planned today to ask the quashing of a superceding federal indictment charging his client with being the American connecting link with an axis spy ring in six nations.

Frederic M. P. Pearse, court assigned counsel for Bahr, said he may make the motion Friday, three days before the trial date set by Federal Judge William F. Smith.

2 VESSELS ADDED TO ENEMY TOLL; TOTAL SUNK 410

British Ship and U. S. Tug Are Lost.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The sinkings of four vessels, A British, a Norwegian, and two small United States ships, were announced yesterday by the navy, raising the Associated Press total of announced ship losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor to 412.

412

Destruction of two other vessels also was disclosed, but pending further clarification they were not included in the total. An Argentine freighter told of one loss in a report on the rescue of 47 survivors of an unidentified British merchant vessel torpedoed in the Atlantic.

Total Deaths: 2,296.

There have been 2,296 persons reported dead in the 412 sinkings, with 1,630 listed as missing and 12,193 rescued.

The arrival at Nassau, Bahamas, of 47 other survivors from a torpedoed, unidentified freighter revealed the other sinking. The men landed last Thursday on Acklins Island in the Bahamas from a lifeboat and raft after being adrift 29 days. Six were lost with the ship, two died at sea and eight survivors were hospitalized.

Thirteen of 24 seamen aboard the small Norwegian merchantman were killed when the ship was torpedoed in the Gulf of Mexico July 19.

No Time to Launch Boat.

With the ship breaking in two and sinking a minute after being smashed by a single torpedo, the 11 survivors had no time to launch a lifeboat, but had to jump into the sea. A lifeboat blown free of the ship was their salvation. Following directions given them by the Nazi U-boat commander, the survivors reached a West Indian island 40 hours later and then came to an east coast port.

Five men were killed and seven others of a crew of 17 were wounded when a submarine shelled and sunk an American Diesel fishing trawler in the North Atlantic. The trawler was returning to port from the fishing banks with 75,000 to 80,000 pounds of fish when the sub appeared.

Lifeboats Shelled.

Survivors of the British ship, torpedoed and shelled in the south Atlantic May 28, said the axis submarine which attacked them riddled their lifeboats with machinegun fire as they tried to launch them.

Forty men were saved and two killed when the ship went down 300 miles from shore.

The crew members spent four days in their punctured lifeboats bailing and pumping before they were rescued by a war vessel.

DEMAND YANKS TRIED BY U. S. IN BRITAIN GET BRITISH PENALTIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 4 [Tuesday].—Before giving effect to the government's request to rush thru at a single sitting of the house of commons the bill enabling United States military authorities to establish their own courts in this country, several members of parliament, political sources said today, will seek assurance that the punishments meted out by the American courts will not differ substantially from British penalties.

The house of lords passed the bill almost without question. This "revolution in legal procedure," according to the Daily Express, will affect hundreds of thousands of members of the United States fighting forces in these islands.

Under the bill the right of British police to arrest Americans will continue but offenders must be handed over for trial according to American law in United States military courts. Courts of summary jurisdiction will be set up wherever considerable numbers of Americans are stationed, it was said, and special higher courts will tour the country and stage trials for more grave offenses. Wherever British citizens are concerned the American government, it was stated, agrees that trials are to take place publicly near the place of offense. Prisoners, it is expected, will be lodged in British jails.

PERU, IND., NAVAL BASE MESS HALL RAZED BY FLAMES

Peru, Ind., Aug. 4 [Tuesday]—[Special].—Fire early today destroyed a large two story mess hall in the center of the new Peru naval reserve aviation base, 7 miles south of here.

Damage has been estimated at $150,000, according to an announcement by Lieut. Roger Q. White, in charge of naval public relations for the 9th naval district. He said an investigation has been launched to determine the cause of the blaze.

The fire broke out about 10 p. m. last night and for more than three hours fire fighters fought desperately to prevent a spread of the flames to barracks and other buildings. Fire departments from Peru, Logansport, Kokomo, and Wabash were summoned. Hundreds of civilians watched the flames from U. S. highway 31.

The aviation base occupies 2,500 acres and is still under construction altho about 800 cadets and enlisted men of an expected quota of 3,800 are already on duty there. The mess hall was nearly a mile from the hangars where training planes are stored.

ADMIRAL POINTS TO SUCCESS OF COAST CONVOYS

BALBOA, Panama Canal Zone, Aug. 3 (AP).—Rear Adm. Clifford Evans Van Hook, commandant of the 15th naval district, told a press conference today that during July the Caribbean had been particularly free of effective enemy submarine attacks.

The admiral met the press to discuss the effectiveness of the convoy system which Washington has announced was instituted last month after raiding U-boats sank 13 United States vessels in 12 days of early June.

"As for the effectiveness of the measures we are now taking I refer you to an item in the [Panama] Star and Herald in which Adm. Doenitz, the German submarine commander, is quoted in a German broadcast as saying, 'The battle in American waters is no simple matter since the Americans know how and have established quickly a defense which demands respect.'"

Van Hook said that "our facilities for providing sufficient and adequate escort are improving rapidly, and shipping in this area now is being escorted effectively."

JAPS RE-ENFORCE ARMY ON COAST OF NEW GUINEA

Allied Bombers Set Fire to Cargo Ship.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 4 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Japanese forces established in the Gona-Buna area on the northern coast of New Guinea have been reënforced by small numbers of troops and supplies, it was indicated today in reports that Japanese shipping had gone to that area.

An army spokesman disclosed that the original naval force which made the landing there July 22 consisted of two heavy cruisers, three destroyers and five transports. Of this invasion force one transport was sunk and two received direct hits. The size of the original force has been estimated at 1,500 to 2,500.

Today's daily allied command communique said the ground situation remained unchanged at Kokoda, inland jungle town toward which Japanese patrols marched overland to come in contact with allied patrols. Allied planes strafed the Japanese positions there yesterday, the communique said.

Fire Jap Cargo Ship.

The headquarters statement that the situation was unchanged at Kokoda was interpreted to mean that enemy patrols still were in the contact area where allied forces had driven back the enemy on the previous day.

Allied bombers set fire to a Japanese cargo ship in a raid on Salamaua and Lae, New Guinea, allied headquarters announced. The communique said a pilot previously reported missing over Buna has returned safely.

The first announced enemy submarine activity in this region since June 15 was disclosed by allied headquarters in a bulletin reporting the escape of a small British trawler off the east coast of Australia after being shelled by an enemy pig-boat. Two members of the crew were killed, and four wounded.

JUNGLE TRAINING GROUND

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 3. — Military authorities are closely studying the results of allied patrol activities in the Kokoda area in New Guinea, which is regarded as a proving ground for training in methods of jungle warfare adopted since the Malayan debacle.

Light skirmishes in which the allies were reported today to have dispersed enemy outposts are expected to show how much has been learned of this type of fighting in the last few months.

The Japs are said to be following their usual infiltration methods, involving the use of light infantry mortars and automatic weapons. So far they have not been able to penetrate much beyond the area in which the allies were contacted, and in a number of cases they have been thrown back.

Jap Convoy at Rabaul.

Allied reconnaissance is said to have detected no major reënforcement of the original 1,500 to 2,000 troops landed in the occupation of Buna bay, which strengthens the theory that the enemy has not intended a serious overland assault on Port Moresby but planned only to dig across the track to Port Moresby as far up the line as possible.

Soon after Washington announced the presence of American troops at Port Moresby, the Japs began assembling a small convoy at Rabaul, which was subsequently used in the occupation of the Buna and Gona area.

This, many observers feel, is intended more as a containing action than a spearhead of attack. It is possible for the Japanese to sneak reenforcements thru the coast jungle from Lae and Salamaua, but those familiar with the territory say it would be exceedingly difficult.

Mountains an Obstacle.

The track along which the enemy has advanced to Kokoda is a road thru low lying, fertile country. Between Kokoda and Port Moresby is the formidable Owen Stanley mountain range.

In addition to digging in around Buna bay the Japs are believed to be attempting to establish a number of small inland airdromes.

Meanwhile Port Moresby defenses have been strengthened, not only by the arrival of the Americans but by the presence of a number of Australian officers with long service in the middle east.

17 FLYERS JOIN CATERPILLARS ON 'AUSTRALIA FRONT

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 3 (AP).—Parachutes have saved the lives of 17 pilots of one United States pursuit group operating in this area. The group has shot down 55 Japanese planes and lost only four pilots—none of them in parachute jumps.

Nine of its caterpillar club members were forced to bail out as the result of combat, however, and the other eight joined while in training. Lieut. Clarence Sanford of Auburn, N. Y., who jumped over the gulf of Carpentaria on his return from a fight and swam three miles before natives rescued him, was the first to enroll in Australia.

Lieut. Stephen Andrew of Dallas, Tex., Lieut. Keith Brown of Pittsburgh, Maj. Robert D. Van Auken of Saxis, Va., and Lieut. Pierre Alford of Sioux City, Ia., are other members.

TELLS OF 5 DAY TERROR AIMED AT PARIS JEWS

Suicides to Escape Arrest Reported.

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 3 (AP).—The French police, prodded by the German Gestapo, started mass arrests of Jews in Paris suddenly at 4 a. m., July 16, and touched off at least five days of terror during which many committed suicide rather than submit to arrest, according to a letter reprinted in the newspaper Berner Tagwacht today.

In all 27,000 were arrested and sent to concentration camps as previously reported in brief dispatches. Today's letter, giving details of the roundup, was printed by the Tagwacht with the editorial comment, "We cannot keep silent."

Leaped from Windows.

The writer of the letter said that altho the arrests were begun July 16 they still were continuing on the date of writing, July 21, with Jews being picked up on the streets.

"We passed many terrible hours," the writer said, citing several, instances of women who jumped out of windows with their children rather than submit to arrest.

Women were interned in Paris hippodrome while girls and women without children were taken to Drancy to await final determination of their cases. Some deaths were reported among those arrested along with many cases of scarlet fever and measles.

The hippodrome was filled with so many people that there was room for them to sleep only in a sitting position.

Warned from Flats.

The writer of the letter said that many Parisians extended sympathy to the Jews, warning them not to go to their apartments. Keys to cellars and vacant apartments were given to Jews so that they could escape the Gestapo. Children left behind were quickly adopted.

There were a few cases of apartments left behind by Jews being plundered, the writer said, but he added that these were few.

Up to the time of writing no direct word had been received from the arrested Jews, the writer said. It has been reported that Jews first taken to Drancy since have been sent to Germany and Poland.

U. S. TECHNICIANS BATTLE SAND TO KEEP 'EM FLYING

Trouble Shooters of Air Force Described.

BY WESTON HAYNES.

WITH UNITED STATES BOMBER FORCES IN THE MIDDLE EAST, Aug. 3 (AP).—Shaded from the sun by the wing of a huge Boeing flying fortress, George McDonald of Seattle, Wash., spoke his mind today about North Africa and the desert.

George MacDonald.

"It's that . . . sand," he said. "It knocks hours off the flying time the ships can make before overhaul, hours in which we can't dump stuff on the Jerries."

MacDonald is a Boeing man, typical of hundreds of highly specialized technicians whisked to the fighting areas. They are labeled officially by a small shoulder insignia: "United States technical representative."

Trouble Shooters Swap Ideas.

Unhampered by formalities, men like MacDonald are the trouble shooters sent out by their respective companies to iron out the mechanical kinks which develop under local operating conditions. MacDonald is a structural expert who can whip together an airworthy plane from broken craft of four makes—including RAF parts.

These technicians swap ideas to get the job done. A General Electric man will puzzle out a problem with a Pratt and Whitney motor expert. The majority of them can fly. Many were prewar advisors with commercial air lines.

Use Hairpins for Repairing.

Altho the technicians advise the army, navy and air force, their uniform is a nondescript garb, stained with grease and sweat. Some wear sun helmets inscribed with the autographs of Chinese generals and British brigadiers, along with wisecracks scrawled by Americans of the Flying Tiger group in China.

"There was Rangoon," MacDonald recalled. "My kit had been blown to hell. We had 10 pilots who needed fast transportation and one of the plane's carburetors was blooey. We took it to a hotel where we spent three hours working on it in a bedroom with the aid of four hairpins borrowed from a Polish girl in the lobby. The boys left on time."

AMERICAN AND BRITISH BOMBERS BLAST ENEMY POSTS IN NO. AFRICA

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 3 (AP).—Britain's four motored Halifax bombers have joined American planes of like size in bombing enemy shipping in the Mediterranean and ports in North Africa.

Heavily armed, these big planes have been found very effective in this arena where clear skies facilitate bombing from high altitudes, RAF sources said. Few have been shot down.

A joint British air and army headquarters communique said:

"During the night of Aug. 1-2 our patrols were active in all sectors. Yesterday our artillery shelled enemy positions in the southern sector. Fighter bombers successfully attacked an enemy reconnaissance unit near the Qattara depression. Groups of enemy transport in the central sector were bombed."

Reports Artillery Duels.

ROME, Aug. 3 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—The Italian communique today said:

"In Egypt there were violent artillery duels. Opposing air forces were very active. Italian and German air forces have bombed with visible effect troop concentrations and lorries in the enemy rear."

Bomb Malta Airport.

BERLIN, Aug. 3 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command today reported that Halfar airdrome on the island of Malta was effectively bombed by German and Italian fighter planes.

"In the eastern Mediterranean a sailing vessel carrying transport was sunk by a German U-boat," the communique said.

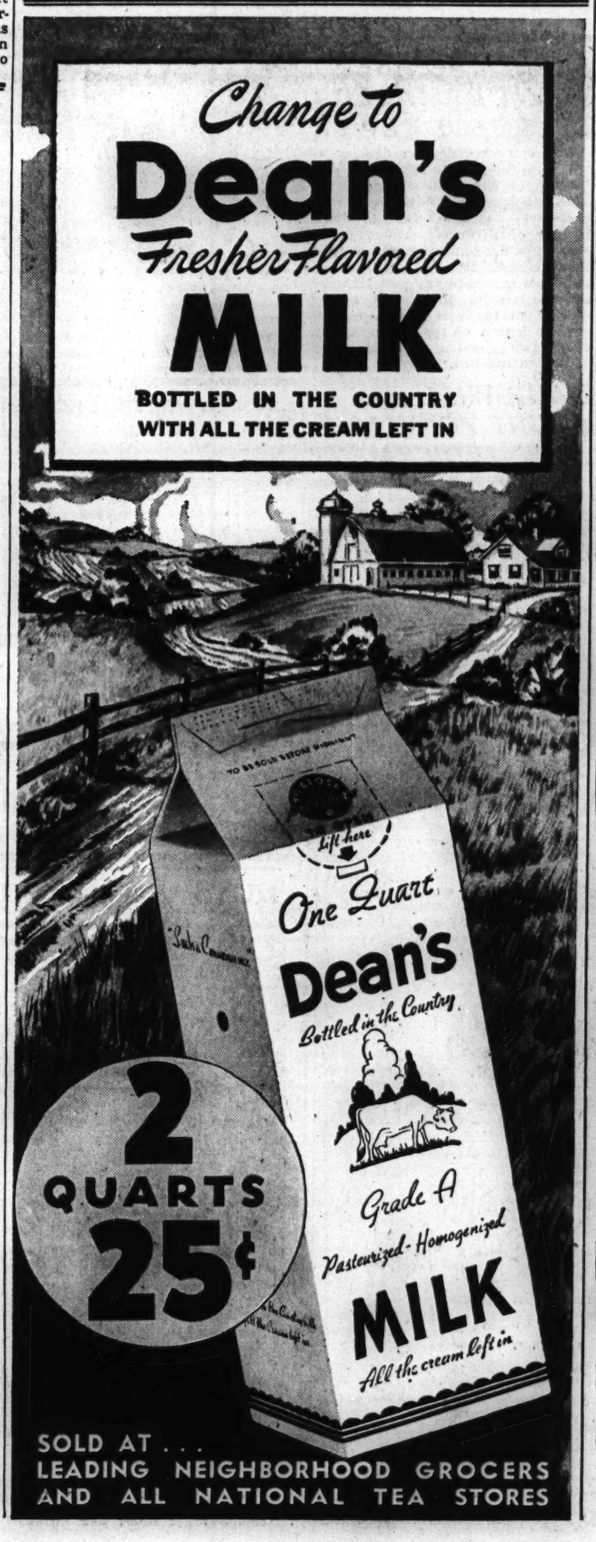
GANDHI CALLS ON PRINCES: SHARE POWER WITH US

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 3 (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi today appealed to the Indian princes to share their powers with the people rather than remain tied to the "imperial chariot wheel" of Britain which guarantees their authority.

The appeal, appearing in his weekly newspaper, Harijan, followed closely upon a warning to the British that unless they grant India independence discontented elements will welcome a Japanese invasion.

Gandhi told the princes that if the British imperial machine were wrecked, "they will disappear" unless they have thrown in their lot with the Indian nation.

The little nationalist leader expressed the personal opinion that a Japanese invasion—welcomed by discontented Indians—would be "a calamity of the first magnitude," which, he said, the British government should avoid by granting independence at once.



CLOTHING PRICES CUT IN BRITAIN AS BUYING TAX DIES

Whole Family's Utility Wear Affected.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Englishmen insisted today that they are not going to be badly dressed just because they will have to wear utility suits and their clothes will cost them less. Bond street styles always have been the fashion here, and square shoulders never have caught on—and all Europe, Germany included, used to dress in the Bond street fashion. Englishmen merely will have their suits made henceforth of utility cloth, and the suits will be as good as ever. Lack of trouser cuffs will make little difference, for, even before the war, many had discarded turnups as dust collectors.

With the removal of the purchase tax on utility suits as from today, and the fixing of new prices for them, men's suits, women's costumes, utility footwear and household textiles and bedding are cheaper. Even babies' wear costs less.

How Prices Are Cut.

Here is a comparative table of the new top prices [translated into dollars] compared with the old prices current before today:

	Old prices.	New prices.
Man's suit	$18.40	$17.80
Man's overcoat	10.80	10.00
Woman's coat	16.80	16.00
Woman's costume	14.80	14.00
Woman's rayon dress	6.20	6.00
Cotton print [per yard]	.40	.20
Artificial silk stockings	.42	.40
Man's flannel shirts	3.40	3.00

Utility boots and shoes, on which there is no purchase tax, will be on sale in increasing quantities all over Britain by Sept. 1. Prices will range as follows: Women's, from $3.20 to $8.20 a pair; men's, from $4.40 to $9.40.

New Trade Code Developed.

Other Board of Trade orders fixing margins of profits for producer, wholesaler and retailer in the case of a large number of articles of clothing, not of the utility grades, but of similar categories, are intended to be applied ultimately as a standard to almost all articles of common use sold in stores, except foodstuffs, and constitute a new trade code intended to be permanent.

Under these orders the maximum gross profit permitted to any retailer on the sale of nonutility goods in the defined classes is from 30 to 37½ per cent. Manufacturers' maximum profits range from 4 to 7 per cent. There is a further order forbidding manufacturers to charge a higher price for any goods than that charged for comparable goods on June 30 last. This, together with the margin of profits orders, will apply to the tailoring and private dressmaking trades.

But, if you don't want to dress like other people, there is nothing to prevent you from making up original costumes of your own, or even getting someone else to make them for you, providing you find your own material.

YANKS' 21 DAYS ON PACIFIC ISLE FULL OF CHICKEN!

And They Got Plenty of Watermelon.

[Here is the second of three dispatches on the adventures of an American pilot and his radioman in the Coral sea. The third dispatch will complete the story of their experiences.]

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., July 28 [by air mail].—Lieut. Anthony J. Quigley, a 27 year old pilot from the carrier Lexington, who has made his way back to Honolulu after being forced down on a Pacific island during the battle of the Coral sea, kept a diary of his experiences from the time his plane hit the sea after being struck by Jap anti-aircraft fire.

Lieut. Anthony J. Quigley.

Quigley and his radioman, R. E. Wheelhouse, 23, of Rushville, Ill., had dropped a bomb on a Jap carrier on the morning of May 7 when his rudder and left aileron jammed. His journal tells the story of the next three weeks as follows:

"Thursday, May 7—About 11:45 landed in water off coast of Rossel Island. Left wing dropped off [dipped] about 3 feet from water, but landing was fairly good.

"Wheelhouse didn't get scratched, and only injury I received was a split gum from face striking telescope. Obtained boat, chart board, Very pistol from plane prior to its sinking. After getting in boat we made no headway by rowing, as current and tide were too strong.

Picked Up by Natives.

"Picked up by three natives in sailboat who brought us to another missionary's house whose name was Ernest Joseph Natalebu in the village of Panaeati [Misima]. Sakisi Agau name of missionary in sailboat.

"Roasted chicken and sweet potatoes for dinner.

"Wheelhouse slept on mat on floor—I on a cot. Mats used for blankets.

"Vesper services—people called together by beating of drum. Sang 'Adeste Fidelis.' Sighted what we believed to be a Jap flying boat at high altitude about 3:30 p. m.

"Friday, May 8—Arose about dawn. Breakfast consisted of roast chicken, fried bananas, fresh bananas, tea.

"Plane flew around bay about 7:30, but we failed to attract pilot's attention.

"We decided to attempt to row around island to look for a sailboat said to be owned by a missionary, and at the same time make ourselves conspicuous from the air by being in a yellow boat. Failed to get all the way to the sailboat as the wind was too strong. While on the return trip a plane made several passes at us and we hope he definitely recognized us and will send help.

"Returned to house—had lunch consisting of white potatoes, an emergency ration of stew left by a former pilot, and tea. About 17:00 [5 p. m.] a seaplane flew by, which Wheelhouse saw and thought it to be a Jap plane.

Watermelon and Chicken.

"Saturday, May 9—Up at dawn. Shortly afterward heard plane which we thought to be coming for us. We saw it circle at about 10,000 feet and head northwest. Lots of food and good treatment from natives. Ate watermelon, papaya, another roast chicken. Smoked our last cigaret.

"Sunday, May 10—About 12:30 saw a plane overhead headed northwest. We decided it was probably Jap. Natives spent most of day in church. Had baked chicken today.

"Monday, May 11—Up at dawn. Heard what sounded like gunfire or bombing about 9 a. m. Walked over to see Mr. Osborne's Yela Girli [a ship. Osborne was a former white resident of Rossel Island]. It was longer walk than anticipated. Rained all the way. Came back by rowboat propelled by four natives. Arrived back at mission wet, dirty, and hungry about 9 p. m.

Find Some Canned Food.

"Tuesday, May 12—Arose late. Rained all night and practically all day. No planes.

"Wednesday, May 13—Arose at dawn. Heard what sounded like gunfire or bombing about 7:30.

"Thursday, May 14—Have been here one week today and are unaware of any attempts for our recovery. Today Tevi [a friendly native] came over in power launch.

"We are going to move to Mr. Osborne's house, as it seems that planes circle there frequently. Have also in our possession now some canned food which had been left by former stranded pilots.

"Friday, May 15—Spent day traveling to Avaletti [on other side of isle] by way of motor launch with Tevi, Billie, etc. Arrived about 23:30 [11:30 p. m.] very tired. Many mosquitoes.

"Saturday, May 16—Disappointed with Mr. Osborne's house. Have to devise some means for getting out of here. Going to go to Tagula [another island] as soon as possible and endeavor to get passage from there to civilization.

"Gave note to Sagisi Agua to take to Misima when he goes Monday or Tuesday.

"Have decided to send Tevi in power launch to Tagula in search of Messrs. Babitt and Pierce [white men natives said lived there]. Will give them letter requesting necessary information and ask for food.

"Sunday, May 17.—There is a great deal of reading material here which will help to pass time. Spent morning cleaning room and reading. Spent afternoon repairing gas engine on motor launch so Tevi can leave tomorrow. Three native boys [former house boys for Osborne] are going to cook and keep house for us. No planes today.

"Monday, May 18.—Up at dawn. Tevi is ready to leave on mission assigned. Squally weather and sea rough, but I hope he is able to overcome these difficulties. About 11:00 [11 a. m.] saw first plane we have seen in eight days. Did not seem to have seen us—looked like same plane that previously sighted us. Has done much to raise our spirits as we now know that the allies must have forestalled the Japanese thrust southward.

Sight Flying Fortress.

"Tuesday, May 19.—Up at dawn. No boys showed up in morning. Tevi came up about 12:00 [noon] with live chicken which was killed and boiled for supper. Boys came in afternoon with vegetables and fruits.

"Tevi says he is leaving at 21:00 [9 p. m.] for Tagula.

"Wednesday, May 20.—Arose at dawn. Washed pants and shirt. Despite anxious moments of waiting did not see nor hear a single plane. Tevi hasn't been around all day so suppose him to be on way to Tagula.

"Thursday, May 21.—We have been here two weeks today—what a futile way to be spending one's life.

"John brought up a watermelon. Tevi should be at Tagula. No planes today.

"Friday, May 22.—Nothing unusual today—did not see or hear a plane—weather very good, no clouds, and sea calm. Tevi has not returned.

"Saturday, May 23.—Names of some of the boys—Bada, John, Karow, Belibai. Tevi not back.

"Saw what we believed to be a Flying Fortress at 9:45 a. m.—was heading in an easterly direction and flying about 10,000 feet.

"Sunday, May 24.—Third Sunday on Rossel and routine getting very tiresome—hope this to be last Sunday we spend here. No planes today. Tevi hasn't returned.

"Monday, May 25.—Rain last night—we needed it badly as our water barrel was just about empty. Water barrel now overflowing.

Ship Takes Them Off.

"Tuesday, May 26.—Up at dawn. Broke the axe handle—probably will have a difficult time obtaining firewood now. Wheelhouse took a walk about 13:00 [1 p. m.] up to the top of the hill to see if he could see Tevi coming.

"He saw more than he anticipated and came back on the run—a ship about 150 feet in length. Turned out to be government boat and as it came into the bay it was sending 'Ensign Quigley' on the blinker.

"Turned out to be the H.M.A.S. ———— in command of Sub. Lieut. ————. Anchored inside reef for night and we came aboard her. We will be aboard for about two weeks, as we are going to look for more survivors and also for Japs.

"Certainly was a lucky day.

"Wednesday, May 27.—After killing a cow, set sail about 7:30 a. m. and dropped anchor at ———— for the night."

[The remainder of the diary is concerned with the movements of the Australian ship—which cannot be detailed].

Fighting on the Chinese Fronts

(Story in adjoining column.)

HINT YANKS BEAT JAPS IN 2D GREAT CHINA AIR BATTLE

Enemy Tries to Smash U. S. Hengyang Base

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 3 (AP).—Some of Japan's best fighting airmen made another unsuccessful attempt over Hengyang today to wrest mastery of the skies from Americans in this region of China, it was reported by Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters.

The outcome of the fight was described as "favorable to the Americans," but details were withheld for release tomorrow. The Japanese flyers vainly tried to do today what 119 failed to accomplish in a bitter 36 hour battle Thursday and Friday.

Select Crack Flyers.

In that first tussle 17 Japanese planes were destroyed and 4 others probably blasted out of action. Ameriprobably blasted out of action.

Stilwell's headquarters had announced earlier that the scale of the first big attack on Hengyang indicated that the invaders had assembled a special force of improved fighter planes for the express purpose of trying to wipe out the American air base.

The Chinese high command confirmed press reports that its forces had recaptured Tsingtien, 22 miles northwest of the port of Wenchow in Chekiang and said the Japanese were retreating upon the air base of Lishui. Just west of Wenchow, the communique said, the Chinese recaptured several strategic points and fighting was said to be raging on the outskirts of the Japanese-held port.

Changed Hands Four Times.

Japanese columns were admitted to be closing in upon Sungyang, 25 miles west of Lishui in southern Chekiang province, however.

Tsingtien was captured on July 29, the Chinese said, after it had been occupied by the Japanese only 24 hours. It has changed hands four times.

Giving further details of the Jap air attack Thursday and Friday, Gen. Stilwell's headquarters gave special mention to Lieut. John Lombard of Ionia, Mich., and Lieut. D. A. Clinger of Etna, Wyo., who found themselves at one time engaged by 23 enemy fighter planes. Before extricating themselves from these impossible odds, the Americans each shot down one of the enemy.

TRIPLETS TINY NO LONGER AS 2D BIRTHDAY NEARS

The Wallace triplets, who weighed less than 6 pounds each at birth, now weigh more than 25 pounds as they approach their second birthday Aug. 13, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wallace, revealed yesterday.

The triplets, Cecelia, Terry and Timmy, were born in St. Joseph's hospital, Bloomington, Aug. 13, 1940. Cecelia weighed 5½ pounds, but her brothers weighed only 3 pounds 14 ounces each.

Wallace is employed as an announcer at a Chicago radio station.

PRE-BUILT HOME SANCTION VOIDED IN FEAR OF LABOR

Members of the building and zoning committee of the city council, fearing that construction unions might object, yesterday erased a reference to "prefabricated houses" from its new ordinance designed to liberalize the building of defense homes.

The proposed ordinance, originally inspired by the Federal Housing administration, was approved by the committee without the word "prefabricated," and will be submitted to the whole council tomorrow. The section which gave the zoning committee the labor jitters read in part that "dwellings constructed in a manner not generally considered conventional, such as prefabricated houses, will be treated as special cases."

"Don't Want Trouble Here."

"That should never be in there," warned Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st]. "Union labor would never let you complete a prefabricated house here. They would find some way to stop its construction."

William D. Sorgatz, FHA chief architect, retorted, "Don't you think union labor would find it unpatriotic to interfere in the construction of homes for defense workers?"

"That has nothing to do with it," replied Cowhey. "We just don't want trouble here. Unions broke a builder in Detroit because he tried to erect prefabricated homes, and we don't want strikes and disorder around here."

During the discussion several aldermen who represent comparatively new residential wards said that under the proposed ordinance row houses, or homes which are constructed with common sidewalls, could be erected anywhere and might lower the value of high residential property.

Mayor Kelly, who attended the meeting, said it was not the intention of FHA or the administration to lower property values, but warned that if provision for row house construction is not made the government may "come in and build its own defense homes and it will build them as it pleases."

The committee then recommended that row house construction be permitted in any apartment house district if it is approved by a special committee.

NAZI MANEUVERS IN NORWAY SHOW FEAR OF INVASION

Prince Bernhard Plans His Return to Holland.

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP).—Neutral accounts of German defense maneuvers along the "invasion coast" of Norway emphasized today that Hitler's generals are taking more and more seriously the threatened second front.

While the Nazis intensified propaganda to build up public faith in the strength of its western defenses, fire was added to second front talk by the announcement of the Netherlands government information bureau that Prince Bernhard, husband of Crown Princess Juliana, is making preparations "for a return to the Netherlands."

Prince Bernhard, recently made a Dutch major general and rear admiral, and given "new duties" suggesting a Dutch commando assignment, was said to have discussed his new work with Queen Wilhelmina while in the United States. His return to England was announced today.

Iceland Post Bombed.

Coincident with dispatches from Stockholm telling of recent maneuvers by German air, sea, and land forces along the coast, the United States garrisoned outpost of Reykjavik, only 600 miles distant, disclosed a bombing and machine gunning of a remote military installation in southeastern Iceland by a German plane.

There were no casualties and only negligible damage was done in the attack yesterday, the fifth time in two weeks that German planes have appeared in the Iceland area.

The Stockholm correspondent of the Swiss newspaper Neue Zuricher Zeitung said the German exercises in Norway were carried out from Kristiansund on the west coast to Trondheim, in an area where the ill-fated British and French expedition of 1940 went to the relief of the Norwegians.

Newsreels Show Forts.

Other Stockholm dispatches told of German films showing the arrival of fresh troops in Norway. A broadcast of DNB, official German news agency, said Lieut. Gen. Jacob, "inspector of fortifications," had just returned to Berlin from an exhaustive survey of the defense system from Biarritz, France, to Kerkenes, Norway. The general was said to be convinced of the strength of the defenses.

Aneta, Dutch news agency, said German authorities in the Netherlands have barred all civilians from railway stations and yards, unless they have special passes, as the result of the recent wrecking of 40 trains by "Netherlands patriots."

WPA TO START SCRAP DRIVE IN CHICAGO TODAY

A government financed scrap hunt will start this morning south of the loop in search of old boilers, radiators, pipes, machinery, and equipment, Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director of the War Production board, and Charles P. Casey, state WPA administrator, announced yesterday.

Five work crews equipped with trucks, cutting equipment and dismantling tools, will scour the neighborhood bounded by Harrison street, Roosevelt road, Wabash avenue, and Ashland avenue, and collect all salvageable metal articles which an earlier survey disclosed would be donated by owners.

William L. McFetridge, metropolitan area salvage director, who suggested the project to the Work Projects Administration, estimated the area would yield 5,000 tons. Other city areas may be covered later.

McFetridge said the WPA should be able to return a profit to the federal treasury on the project. He estimated the cost of recovering a ton of scrap would average $5.30 a ton and that the WPA could sell the donated scrap for as much as $17.75 a ton. The returns on the sale of scrap would depend on its quality.

ILLINOIS LEADER OF EAGLE FLYERS WINS WAR CROSS

LONDON, Aug. 4 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Diminutive Flight Lieut. Oscar Coen of Murphysboro, Ill., who leads one-half of the First American Eagle squadron, has been awarded the distinguished flying cross, it was announced today.

Combat against the German air force over western Europe is all in the day's work for Coen, a blond youngster who is one of the smallest pilots in the First Eagle squadron. Coen was born at Walum, N. D., in 1917. He has been with the First Eagles more than a year, in the course of which he was in about 75 operational sorties. He has destroyed one German aircraft, assisted in bringing down another, and has damaged several more.

The citation lauded him for "displaying at all times courage, devotion to duty, and leadership of high order." The decoration makes DFC's of all three American leaders of the First Eagles. Others are their commander, Squadron Leader C. G. Peterson of Santaquin, Utah, and Flight Lieut. Gregory Augustus Daymond of Van Nuys, Cal.

Call for 2d Front in London

RUSSIANS EAGER TO DEVOUR NEWS OF SECOND FRONT

Pleas to F. D. R. Bring Them Pleasure.

MOSCOW, Aug. 3 (AP).—Thruout Moscow Russians read an increasing display of "second front" news from Britain and America today.

The Communist party newspaper alone carried five stories on the possibility of a second European front, and altho the foreign news section is the back and not the front page of Moscow's four page newspapers, it was to this section which most readers turned quickly.

A favorite item seemed to be the dispatch of telegrams reported received by President Roosevelt urging creation of a new western front. Readers pointed this item out as they passed their newspapers on to neighbors. The Russian newspaper reader is learning quickly such names as Sen. Pepper—altho here they pronounce it "paper."

Hitler's "Rear Weakened."

Lines of Muscovites form at newsstands, and by the time the average reader gets 50 feet away with his paper he is reading the second front stories, nodding to himself.

One of Pravda's articles, entitled "Hitler and His Allies," dealt at length with the diversion of German reserves and the troops of Germany's vassal states to the Russian front, and declared:

"This serves further to weaken the European rear of Hitlerite Germany.

"More than ever before it is necessary to exert and merge all the efforts of participants in the anti-Hitler front in order to thwart Hitler's bloodthirsty gamble and his plans of conquest."

Draws on Satellites.

In the article, Pravda said Hitler had "reduced to minimum strength the occupation troops in France, Belgium, Holland and Norway."

Pravda said Hitler also had drawn heavily upon the troops of his axis satellites, Rumania, Hungary, Italy and Finland, and had withdrawn occupation forces from Jugo-Slavia and Crete that had been intended as reinforcements for Field Marshal Rommel in Africa.

The news agency Tass distributed a dispatch from Geneva which said German talk of strong forces capable of repelling invasion, of a powerful line of coastal fortifications, and of the dispatch of SS elite guards] units to France was no more than propaganda and deception.

BRITISH HOLIDAY CROWDS BOMBED BY NAZI AIRMEN

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP).—Britain and Germany sparred by air today with a series of daylight raids.

For Britain RAF Spitfires attacked freight trains and barges in the German occupied Netherlands. In addition the British flyers peppered coastal gunposts and German army camps.

For Germany, Nazi airmen made hit-skip raids, bombing and machine gunning scattered towns in northeastern England, the Midlands, and along the southwest coast and causing casualties among crowds gathered at resorts for the annual bank holidays.

At one seaside town in southwest England six persons were killed and others injured when 10 German Focke-Wulf 190 planes bombed and machine gunned the street.

Three were known dead in a northeast coast town. Several casualties, including at least two killed, were reported in another northeastern town.

SWEDEN WILL USE ARMS TO DEFEND ITSELF: PREMIER

New York, Aug. 3 [Special].—The Swedish prime minister, Per Albin Hansson, said in a speech last night that Sweden's difficulties have increased, but her position as a whole is the same as it has been since the war began, the Stockholm radio reported today. "However, a time may come," the prime minister said, "which will make it necessary to defend our neutrality. We do not think of a conflict, but we shall use our arms when it is necessary, and we are always determined to defend our freedom with gun in hand."

FORGET CAUTION, SAYS SEN. PEPPER IN URGING SECOND FRONT NOW

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—The allies should cast caution aside and hit Hitler now, Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] said tonight in urging the immediate opening of a second front.

In an address at the Washington Industrial Union Council rally in support of a second front, Pepper said "the instinct of America today senses that nothing we can do is so dangerous as to do nothing."

Criticizing those who use the word "impossible," Pepper said:

"The genius of America has been its unwillingness to admit that anything was impossible. No mountain was too high to scale. No vein too deep in the bosom of the earth to be inaccessible. No stream too wide to span. No continent too difficult to cross. Americans did not ask whether it could be done. They did it."

BLACK-OUT RULES FOR RAID TEST IN CITY ISSUED

[usually the building manager] will see if the various civilian defense workers have turned out all lights—penthouse, roof, flood, fire escape, basement, store front, and others.

Tenants leaving for refuge zones in buildings must extinguish all lights in their offices. Floor wardens are responsible for this.

The refuge zone in an office building usually is between the fifth floor from the bottom and the fifth floor from the top. Floors above and below those afford less protection from bombs. The refuge zones usually are in corridors.

Floor wardens then turn off corridor lights, but leave stair lights burning if they are not visible from the outside.

Prepare for Accidents.

There are 1,700 buildings and other properties in the area bounded by Ohio street, Clinton street, Roosevelt road, and the lake, Shultz said. Only 20 per cent of the buildings in the loop area are estimated to be prepared completely for a blackout. Sixty per cent are said to be partly prepared. The other 20 per cent have made no preparations.

Provision should be made in each building for proper first aid facilities, fire extinguishing equipment, emergency lighting and battery operated radio.

Special plans for the downtown area will be discussed at 11 a. m. today in room 735 of the Marquette building, Shultz said. There are 12 districts in the downtown area.

Ralph H. Burke, deputy OCD coordinator in charge of protective services for the metropolitan area, conferred yesterday with Otto K. Jelinek, chief of technics, on plans for the blackout.

The blackout will be the most extensive ever attempted in the interior of the United States.

BOYS STEAL GOLD, RECALL HOARDING LAW, DISCARD IT

Two boy burglars who threw away four $5 gold pieces they had stolen for fear the government would prosecute them for hoarding were held in the Chicago Lawn police station last night for questioning about 15 south side burglaries.

The prisoners are Richard Adamczyk, 12 years old, 7040 South Justine street, and Harold Koestner, 15, of 1452 West 70th street. They were captured after Mrs. John Blythe, wife of a policeman attached to the Chicago Lawn station, saw them climbing into the home of George Wieschlich, 7238 South Campbell avenue.

Policeman George Johnston, who was sent to arrest the boys, questioned them and found they had burglarized his home a week ago, taken a revolver, and left. An hour later, he said they told him, they discovered Johnston's name on the gun and returned it, but took the bullets. The boys were said by police to have admitted 12 to 15 burglaries, in one of which they found the gold pieces they said they later discarded.

INDIANA HORSE TRAINER DIES.

NORSE IN EXILE PARADE BEFORE KING HAAKON, 70

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 3.—King Haakon of Norway, on his 70th birthday today, reviewed about 5,000 of his subjects in an impressive Hyde Park parade. The king was accompanied by Crown Prince Olav and Crown Princess Martha, who reportedly flew from America for the occasion.

M. I. Kalinin, president of Russia, and President Roosevelt were among those who sent congratulatory messages.

Riots, Arrests in Oslo.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 3.—There were riots and arrests today in Oslo on the occasion of King Haakon's birthday. Loyal Norwegians turned out with unobtrusive flowers in their buttonholes, which the Germans "regarded as a demonstration in favor of the deposed royal house in accordance with a decree of September last." Quisling storm troopers attacked Norwegians wearing flowers. Many florists were closed by the police and street vendors of flowers were dispersed or arrested.

Crowds gathered and sang the national anthem and the royal song. A number of demonstrators were arrested.

BLUE CLAD WAVES IN JAUNTY HATS TO SALUTE MALES

Wellesley Head Is Given Oath as Their Chief.

Waacs Get 250 More

Fort Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 3 (AP).—Two hundred fifty more young women arrived today to begin training as officer candidates in the women's army auxiliary corps. The women, who appeared to be younger than the first contingent of 444 officer candidates who arrived two weeks ago, were full of smiles as they piled into army trucks which brought them here from trains in Des Moines. Training will begin Thursday. Among the new Waacs is Miss Nika Stanko, a native of Siberia, who has been an air line secretary in Chicago. Another candidate is Miss Jean Billou, 25, a Chicago medical technician, who has a silver trophy for her prowess with a rifle.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—The Waves will salute male naval officers, but it hasn't been decided yet whether Jack Tar will salute the girl ensigns and lieutenants.

This came out today at a press conference held by Dr. Mildred McAfee, blonde, merry eyed, 42 year old president of Wellesley college, after she was sworn in as head of the newly created feminine naval reserve with rank of lieutenant commander.

The navy oath was administered by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. Attending the ceremony was Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet.

Miss McAfee was quite solemn.

She said she accepted the high honor "as a representative of the women of America who welcome each new opportunity to render service to the nation."

Blue Uniform for Winter.

The navy plans at the present to train 1,000 women officers and 10,000 enlisted personnel to release men for active sea duty. The reservettes will be put into uniform—blue now and for winter, and white next summer. The two piece navy blue suit will consist of a jacket with one breast pocket and a skirt, slightly flared, with two pockets. There'll be no gold braid. "That's expensive now," laughed Miss McAfee.

Officers' rank will be determined by bands of "reserve blue"—a shade Miss McAfee described as Williamsburg blue—and a blue shirt for work will be of the same hue. There will be a white shirt for dress. Black shoes with moderate walking heels will be worn. Stockings will be lisle, may be dark blue or black. The women may wear makeup in "good taste."

The hat, which has an interchangeable crown of reserve blue and white, is a narrow brimmed affair rolled up on the sides. It was copied from seamen's hats of the 18th or 19th century. "It is quite attractive," said Miss McAfee.

A Clothing Allowance.

The officers will buy their own uniforms, girdles and such out of a clothing allowance. Enlisted personnel may do the same.

The first officers' training school will open Oct. 1 at Smith college. The girls will be housed in two dormitories on the campus and in Northampton inn in Northampton, Mass.

Smith college is turning over to the navy an administration building, a gymnasium and its playing fields.

SEARCH FOR 12 FROM CAPSIZED YACHT IN LAKE

Woman Reaches Shore, Gives Alarm.

Standish, Mich., Aug. 4 [Tuesday] (AP).—Searching parties returned today from a four hour quest for 12 men and women who have been missing since their 30 foot cruiser overturned in Saginaw Bay at 2 p. m. Sunday, empty handed save for a coat identified as belonging to a member of the fishing party.

A search by air and water which began yesterday morning was spurred by the return of Mrs. Louis Repke of Bay City, Mich. The 23 year old woman, exhausted and incoherent, said 10 members of the party still were clinging to the overtuned yacht when she struck out with her husband and a second woman in the hope of reaching shore.

Breaks Into Hunters' Cabin.

The three became separated when darkness fell, she told Sheriff John Johannes, but, buoyed up by a life jacket such as all three wore, she reached shore safely after hours in the water. Mrs. Repke said she broke into an unoccupied hunting cabin and spent Sunday night there, trudging three miles to the nearest farmhouse on Monday.

Allan Hoffman, Bay City pilot, flew out over the bay before dusk Monday night, following Mrs. Repke's vague directions. He reported sighting what appeared to be a wrecked vessel resting on the bottom, but said he could not be certain it was the missing cruiser.

Three Rescue Boats Put Out.

Three rescue boats manned by volunteers put out from here for the spot, and found a blue coat which relatives identified as that worn by John Zametzer of Linwood Beach, Mich., one of the missing party. A coast guard crew continued the search.

The owner of the boat and six couples who had chartered it for a fishing trip were aboard when the craft capsized. The sheriff said the missing were Cecil Day of Standish, the skipper; Mrs. Repke's husband; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Badour of Au Gres, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sauve, and Mr. and Mrs. William Hatcher of Kawkawlin, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Zametzer, and Mr. and Mrs. Abe La Bean of Bay City, Mich.

He Doesn't Mourn.

Mei-Lan, little brother to Mei-Mei, the giant panda who died at the Brookfield zoo early yesterday morning, frankly doesn't care about the death of his playmate. He rolled his black-ringed eyes, cocked his tiny Micky Mouse ears and chewed daintily on a stalk of corn yesterday as thousands of schoolchildren asked mournfully for Mei-Mei.

"If anything, Mei-Lan seems to be pleased about Mei-Mei's death," said Robert Bean, assistant director of the zoo. "He's behaving better than he has since he moved in three years ago. Usually he's ornery, nipping at trouser legs and ignoring his public."

Mei-Mei died from abdominal dropsy, said Dr. J. V. Lacroix and Dr. George McKellys, veterinarians.

Lloyd's of London, who insured Mei-Mei for $7,500, have sold the body to the Field museum for $50.

A new baby arrived at the zoo yesterday morning, perhaps in atonement for Mei-Mei's death. He is a gangly 5 feet 6 inch reticulated giraffe. The baby may be named "Toledo" in memory of his sister who was sold to the Toledo zoo. Unlike most new-born colts, Toledo strutted steadily along beside his mother, Isiolo, yesterday while his father, Jack, 19 feet high, poked his nose proudly into the pen.

3 Die, 20 Hurt in Panic at Montreal Stadium Fire

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 3 (AP).—Panic following a small fire in the East End Ontario Wrestling stadium resulted tonight in three deaths and a score of men, women, and children were injured, some seriously. 'TIGER GIRL,' 26, DIES MONDAY IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Hope Virtually Gone for Hitchhiker-Slayer.

Lake Charles, La., Aug. 3 [Special].—Her resources apparently exhausted, Mrs. Annie Beatrice [Toni Jo] Henry, pretty brunette of 26, today began her last week of life which is scheduled to end in the electric chair next Monday. She was sentenced for the murder of a man she killed as he knelt nude in a frozen rice field praying in vain for his life.

The so-called "Tiger Girl," who was thrice convicted and sentenced to die, will be the second woman executed in Louisiana history. Mrs. Ada Bonner le Boeuf was hanged in 1927 for the murder of her husband.

Toni Joe committed her crimes in the hope of helping her husband, Claud [Cowboy] Henry, serving a life term in a Texas penitentiary for killing a policeman.

Picked Up by Salesman.

With a friend, Finnon Burks, 25, the "Tiger Girl" robbed a hardware store of guns in February, 1940, then set out to get a car which they intended to use to rob a bank of funds to try to free her husband.

They were hitch-hiking near Orange, Tex., when they were picked up by J. P. Calloway, 42, salesman of Houston, Tex. As they drove near St. Charles, La., they took possession of the car, drove off a side road and forced Calloway out.

He was robbed of his clothes and was marched out into a frozen rice field. There the girl was said to have shot him as he knelt naked and begged for a chance to see his daughter graduate from college.

Burks Awaits Appeal.

Burks testified he was carrying Calloway's overcoat back to the car when he heard the shot, that he called out to Toni Jo asking what she had done, and she replied, "It's none of your business." Burks also was ordered executed but has an appeal for a new trial before the state Supreme court.

Toni Jo won two retrials thru Supreme court appeals but each time the verdict was the same—the death penalty. Appeals to the state courts and a fourth to the Supreme court were in vain. Her attorneys were said to have abandoned plans for a last minute appeal to the pardon board.

Only a last minute decision could keep the "Tiger Girl" from the electric chair and that would have to come from Gov. Sam Jones who already has signed the execution decree and set the date.

F. D. R. Signs Bill Raising Pay of Federal Workers

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed legislation today providing salary increases for thousands of government workers, mostly in the lower paid classifications, and boosting the minimum for full time adult workers from $1,020 to $1,200 a year. The budget bureau estimated the increases would total $15,768,000 annually.

REPORTS ARMY SUPPLIES AMPLE, MOVING QUICKLY

Maj. Gen. Gregory.

America's first battle, the battle of the production lines, is being won hands down, Maj. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory, quartermaster general, said yesterday before a wartime conference of the National Canvas Goods Manufacturers association in the Drake hotel.

Gen. Gregory does not stop with procurement of the thousands of items which feed, clothe, and equip the millions of men in uniform. He must see that the soldiers get them, as well.

He said the quartermaster corps maintains 39 storage depots at strategic points over the country. One of the largest is located on Chicago's south side. It distributes supplies to Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Montana and Nebraska, and is the corps' main procurement center for nonperishable foods.

Scores of canvas items were on display at the conference, including the new fireproof tent adopted by the army.

TAVERN BANDIT SLUGS WOMAN.

East Moline, Ill., Aug. 3 [Special].—Mrs. Julia Anderson was beaten unconscious and robbed of $510 today by a bandit in her tavern.

26 Tank Cars of Crude Oil Burn After Derailment

Kinmundy, Ill., Aug. 3 (AP).—Twenty-six tank cars filled with crude oil burned last night after they were derailed on the Illinois Central Edgewood cutoff near Edgewood, Ill. Trainmen said the derailment apparently resulted from a broken rail.

Pocahontas Stoker Coal

Increases Volume of Sales in Chicago Area . . .

. . . Proof of its growing Popularity—

There are big reasons for the increasing popularity of this balanced stoker fuel . . . greater efficiency, all-round convenience, and real economy.

Genuine Pocahontas coal used in stokers effects an appreciable reduction in stoker running time and a saving in cost of operation. Low ash content of Pocahontas coal reduces time and expense of fire cleaning and refuse disposal. Its properly balanced chemical elements produce complete combustion and maximum use of high heating units. And it burns without releasing objectionable gases.

Realize a higher return on your stoker investment. A representative of the railway's Chicago Coal Bureau will be glad to explain the advantages of using genuine Pocahontas dustless coal the year 'round. Call or write:

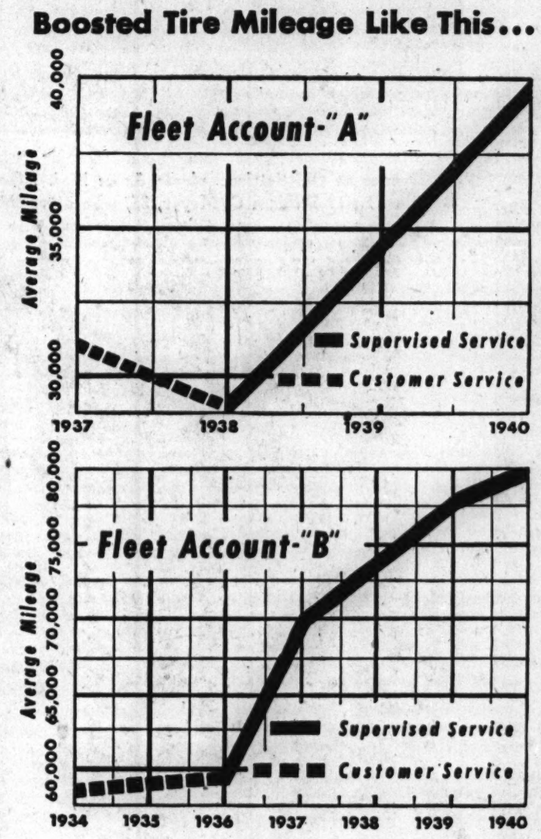
NEW PLAN SHOWS HOW to SAVE THOUSANDS of TONS of RUBBER

Engineers Such as These...

Paul Bernard—Temple University. Extensive business background as district manager; joined B. F. Goodrich in 1927. Tire sales and service work for ten years. National account representative for three years. After factory training transferred to Tire Conservation Dept. on March 23, 1942.

Paul Viall—Ohio State and Akron Universities. Three years as Estimator and General Manager in construction industry; joined B. F. Goodrich in 1933; factory production work for two years; tire service engineer and adjusting department work for seven years. Transferred to Tire Conservation Dept. Feb. 16, 1942.

Boosted Tire Mileage Like This...



B. F. GOODRICH offers services of tire engineers and perfected maintenance plan to America's truck fleets. Records show program extends tire life. Truck owners say plan saves more than it costs.

Here is a scientific plan for tire care and rubber conservation now being applied to the needs of truck fleets after 15 years of successful use on many of the country's biggest bus fleets. On the basis of actual records of this plan at work, we say that it can save America thousands of precious tons of rubber—and save fleet owners thousands of dollars!

Bus fleets cooperating have ordinarily received up to 50% more tire mileage—which means they use much less tire rubber. Now this same plan is being made available to truck fleets by B. F. Goodrich. Consider that truck tires often weigh 100 to 200 pounds apiece . . . consider the millions of trucks on the road today, and you will see how savings of rubber through widespread use of this perfected B. F. Goodrich personalized service program might easily mount up to thousands of tons.

Already some of the most important truck fleets in the country have signed up, and they tell us the service is worth far more than the fee!

Trained Engineers Take Charge

This is not just a "free tire conservation plan," good as they are. It is a complete point-by-point program under which B. F. Goodrich factory-trained engineers take over the complete supervision of tire care. One hundred tires or thousands . . . the care of each casing in a fleet is given the necessary supervision by the B. F. Goodrich engineers. Whatever is needed to get results is done by personal inspection.

Because the tire maintenance personnel we have is limited and our technical men must be specially and thoroughly trained for this work, we can offer this plan to only a limited number of fleets at present. This new plan, which will help you cooperate with the government's Truck Conservation Corps Program, is the first of its kind to be offered by any rubber company—another example of the leadership which has made B. F. Goodrich "First in Rubber" in war and peace. If you as a fleet owner wish to participate in our new tire conservation plan, write the

U. S. SUES TO LIFT PETRILLO BAN ON MAKING RECORDS

Charges Conspiracy; Asks for Injunction.

James C. Petrillo, $46,000 a year boss of America's 140,000 union musicians, was sued by the United States government yesterday.

The government accused Petrillo and eight other officers of the American Federation of Musicians of conspiracy to violate the Sherman antitrust act by the union's ban on canned or recorded music. The suit asks an injunction to nullify the ban.

The suit, ordered by Attorney General Francis Biddle, was filed in the United States District court here. It was drawn by Daniel B. Britt, special assistant to the attorney general, in coöperation with J. Albert Woll, United States attorney.

Juke Box Recordings.

The government action resulted from Petrillo's order of July 25 that members of the union he heads should not play after last Saturday for commercial phonograph recordings, radio transcriptions or juke box records.

The suit charges that the defendants conspired to:

1. Prevent the manufacture and sale of all phonograph records and radio transcriptions.

2. Eliminate from the market all manufacturers, distributors, jobbers and retailers of phonograph records and transcriptions.

3. Prevent radio stations from broadcasting recordings.

4. Prevent the use of records in juke boxes in hotels, restaurants and dance halls.

5. Prevent the use of phonograph records in the home. [Petrillo's order permits his musicians to play for records for home use. Government prosecutors said, however, that manufacturers have no power under the law to designate the buyers and that Petrillo's permission for the manufacture of home use records is meaningless because it violates the antitrust law.]

Boycott of Dealers.

6. Prevent the sale of records to radio stations and juke box operators by requiring manufacturers to boycott dealers who sell to them.

7. Eliminate all musical performances by radio except those of AFM members.

8. Require radio stations to hire unnecessary "stand by" musicians of the AFM, whose services are neither required nor desired. This was accomplished, according to the suit, by forcing radio networks to boycott affiliated stations which did not hire union members at musicians' pay to turn the records.

The suit said the canned music ban was placed upon three concerns that manufacture 99 per cent of the records sold in the United States: Decca Records, Inc., Columbia Recording corporation, and RCA Manufacturing Company, Inc.

More Expensive Orchestra.

The government also accuses the union of ordering all its bands to boycott all radio stations in southern California affiliated with the Don Lee Broadcasting system. This, the government charges, was "for the purpose of forcing radio station KFRC of San Francisco, an affiliate of the Don Lee Broadcasting system, to hire a larger and more expensive orchestra, altho no dispute of any kind existed between the AFM locals and any radio station affiliated with the Don Lee Broadcasting system except radio station KFRC."

The government also struck at Petrillo's order banning from the air the 12 year old series of school children's concerts from the National Music camp at Interlochen, Mich. The series for the present summer was to have begun July 11, with the boys and girls of the camp's symphony orchestra playing each Saturday afternoon over the National Broadcasting system.

The ban on the children's music brought a nation-wide controversy. Petrillo explained that he did not ban the concerts, but merely called NBC's attention to its closed shop contract with his union.

Ask Temporary Injunction.

Immediately after filing the suit the government prosecutors demanded a temporary injunction forbidding the union to enforce its bans pending a full hearing. Judge Michael L. Igoe of the United States District court set a hearing for Friday morning.

Petrillo, a commissioner of the Chicago park district and a rough and tumble labor leader since boyhood, has fought canned music for years on the ground that it takes work from live talent. He also has fought nonprofessional musicians, asserting that they take work from his members.

The musicians' chief has often required organizations sponsoring performances by nonunion musicians to hire an equal number of union members to stand by.

His customary reply to criticism on this point is that 50 per cent of his members are out of work and that his job is to find work for them.

The government had an answer to that yesterday: "Not more than 50 per cent of the members are dependent solely upon music for a livelihood."

THE QUESTION.

What great event would you like to see take place more than anything else?

WHERE ASKED.

La Salle Street station.

THE ANSWERS.

Irvin Belmonte, telegraph messenger, 1743 Roosevelt road—I'd like to have the war end with the allies the victor. Then I think Germany should be divided between Poland and Czecho-Slovakia because they've suffered so much. To top it all off I would like to see Gen. MacArthur as President.

Miss Lorraine Masterson, typist, 10715 Fairfield avenue—Of course, we all want the war to end. After it's all over I'd like to have the time and money to travel around the world to see the effects of the war and the readjustments in all the nations that must be made when peace is a reality.

Edward Huster, sailor, Elkhart, Ind.—I'd like to see the war end so we could all go home. Next to that I guess I'd like a date with Ann Sheridan. Boy! That would be something! I hope the navy transfers me to the west coast so I can at least see her before I go to sea.

Miss Charlotte Pearson, bookkeeper, 1823 Austin avenue—I'm engaged to a man in the army so I'm especially anxious for the war to end just as fast as it can. It would mean the beginning of everything for me. As a volunteer worker for Travelers' Aid I see lots of service men and I know that the end of the war is what they want, too.

Willis Hovarter, sailor, Sturgis, Mich.—I think it would be fine to be stationed on an aircraft carrier. That's where all the action is. I hope I run across my two brothers who are in the navy, too. But most of all I want the United States and the allied nations to win the war.

Miss Lois Williams, student, 920 Windsor avenue—About the most wonderful thing that could happen to me would be for some one to give me a house in Spencer, Ia. That's my home town and I want to go back and live there with all my friends.

NEW TRIAL DENIED '3 HAT' SLAYER BY JUDGE WARD

Petition for a new trial for John Pantano, leader of the "Three Hat" gang, who was convicted of killing Policeman Charles Williams in a tavern at 4301 North Western avenue last Dec. 10, was denied yesterday by Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court.

Frank Ferlic, assistant public defender, asserted in the petition that Pantano, condemned to death by a Criminal court jury July 17 for Williams' death, had been convicted on perjured testimony by Charles Theos and Joseph Moreale, Pantano's companions in the crime.

Theos and Moreale turned state's witnesses against Pantano, Ferlic said, but asserted they had not been promised special consideration for their testimony. Yesterday Theos took the stand in Judge Ward's courtroom and said he and Moreale were told by a Sergt. John J. Hanrahan that they would receive 14 year sentences if they testified against Pantano. They protested that this agreement was violated when Theos got 14 years in prison on the murder charge and 10 years minimum and 15 years maximum on the robbery count and Moreale was sentenced to 20 years for the killing and a minimum of 10 years and a maximum of 20 years for the robbery.

Judge Ward denied the motion, but gave Ferlic until Sept. 17, the eve of Pantano's scheduled electrocution, to file a new trial petition on the grounds of perjury with the State Supreme court.

UAW DELEGATES DISCUSS MERGER WITH AFL HERE

Delegates to the convention of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] in the Hotel Sherman yesterday were seeking to settle their own problems before peace negotiations with the American Federation of Labor are begun.

The automobile workers decided to hold their election of officers Friday instead of Wednesday as had been suggested; they wanted to discuss making Chicago a separate zone as far as the union is concerned, and to discuss questions of dues, salaries of their officers, and the number of their vice presidents.

Charges Goon Tactics.

Rudy Ilic, a delegate from Lansing, Mich., where he is employed at the Oldsmobile plant, interrupted the proceedings to charge that Delmont Garst, an executive board member from St. Louis, Mo., was attempting to order delegates how to vote. He said Garst was the head of a goon squad. He was ruled out of order, and the chairman said there were no goons present, nor would goon tactics be tolerated from any group.

R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW, is expected to be reëlected without opposition. He will act as one of the negotiators, by appointment of Philip Murray, president of the CIO.

The delegates at the automobile workers convention were eager for the news of the peace maneuvering, it was reported at the convention press room.

There are 1,850 delegates present, it was announced, and many of them are expert mechanics and toolmakers whose services are badly needed in their present jobs of turning out tanks, airplanes, and artillery.

It was with a view to hastening the procedure that the proposal was made to hold the election of officers tomorrow, but many of the delegates who said they wanted to know how the candidates stand on several issues, shouted down the proposal. The election will be Friday, it was decided.

Capt. C. C. Poole, a British army officer and member of parliament, addressed the convention on the subject of the workers' duty toward their government. He said he had been a labor representative for the last 24 years. He urged the mechanics to spare no efforts and to work any hours necessary to provide the fighting services with materials.

AFL EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS HERE TODAY; TO DISCUSS CIO MERGER

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor will meet for 10 days beginning today in the Drake hotel, with consideration of proposals for an end to competition between the AFL and CIO expected to take an important part in the discussions.

William Green, president of the AFL, will arrive today to attend the council meeting. In Washington yesterday, he refused to discuss the suggestions by Philip Murray for a working arrangement, but said he would issue a statement when he arrived here. Murray, national president of the CIO, wrote a letter to Green last week agreeing to enter negotiations for "possible establishment of organic unity between our organizations."

It was unofficially reported that President Roosevelt was largely responsible for the peace movement between the two great union organizations. The word in labor circles was that the President had hinted to Murray that he should make a peace offer to Green.

Murray named himself chairman and R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO affiliated United Automobile Workers of America, a member, of a committee of three to confer with any committee named by Green.

WOMAN, 70, GOES ON TRIAL SECOND TIME AS SLAYER

Mrs. Harriet Tracy, 70 years old, went to trial before Judge Grover Niemeyer in Criminal court yesterday for the slaying of Morris De Young, 66, with whom she lived for six years in a basement flat at 6714 South Aberdeen street. Eight jurors were chosen, five women and three men. The jury is expected to be completed today.

Mrs. Harriet Tracy.

De Young was at first believed to have died from natural causes in the Aberdeen street flat on May 2. The coroner's physician, however, discovered he had been shot in the back with a .22 caliber bullet. Mrs. Tracy then admitted she shot him. She claimed self-defense.

She made the same claim in 1912, when W. W. O'Brien, her attorney then and now, won her acquittal on a charge of killing a former husband with a revolver.

'L' TRAINS CRASH IN LOOP; SEVERAL RIDERS SHAKEN

Several passengers were jarred but none was injured seriously yesterday when a southbound Jackson Park express "L" train ran into the rear of a southbound Kenwood avenue express at Van Buren and La Salle streets. The collision occurred soon after the rush hour.

Two front wheels of the Jackson Park train were derailed. Service was delayed 15 minutes. Company officials late yesterday questioned E. J. McSweeney of 855 West 50th street, and Daniel Kidney, 6647 Stewart avenue, the two motormen, to determine the cause of the accident.

A company service inspector, John G. Tyson, 65 years old, of 4424 Albany avenue, was tossed 10 feet when he was struck by a west side train that had been rerouted as a result of the collision. He narrowly missed lighting on the third rail. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital for examination.

SHOT OVER DICE GAME; DIES.

Alvin Ray, 24 years old, a Negro, died in the Bridewell hospital yesterday of a bullet wound inflicted by another colored man near his home at 4240 Calumet avenue, Sunday, after a quarrel about a dice game.

MISSING: HOTEL CLERK AND $8,567 IN VALUABLES

Police last night sought a room clerk in the Croydon hotel at 616 North Rush street who disappeared yesterday morning shortly before the hotel noted the loss of $3,217.89 in cash and checks, a $5,000 defense bond and a $350 sapphire and diamond ring.

The clerk, who obtained employment at the Croydon last Friday after moving out of the Congress hotel, told the hotel management he was going out for a cup of coffee yesterday. When he did not return the loss was discovered in the safe.

The bond, ring and $1,939.60 of the missing funds belonged to hotel guests. The remainder represented hotel receipts.

Look at these pictures. Free Americans—typical of the 338,000 in the plants of United States Steel.

They and their fellow workers have broken 706 production records since Pearl Harbor.

What is a production record? It may be something tremendous, like our shipyard launching four United States Navy destroyers in 50 minutes. It may be cutting only three minutes off the time of filling or emptying a furnace.

Big records and little records—add them all together, and they count up to millions of tons of steel—cannon, bombs, tanks, planes, pipelines and ship-plates. United States Steel's current production of ship-plates is at a rate in excess of 100 ships a month. And more steel pours out of our mills day after day than from all the mills of Germany.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 4, 1942.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

TWO FIGHTING SPEECHES.

Gov. Green journeyed to Omaha on Saturday to address a meeting of midwestern Republican leaders. Mr. Werner Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, spoke on the same day at a homecoming rally at Princeville, Ill. Both men discussed the rôle of the Republican party in the war.

What they had to say was important. They rejected the silly notion that their party must virtually suspend operations for the duration, a notion put forward by Democratic leaders and pinko purgers. The Republican party, as Gov. Green said, has "the paramount responsibility of winning the war and the equal responsibility of preserving our constitutional form of government and the rights of states and communities in it."

Mr. Schroeder had much the same idea. "The duty of patriotic criticism makes the responsibility of the Republican party the greatest it has ever known," he said. "The Republican party is the repository of freedom and democracy."

Both men were addressing themselves to the obvious effort of the Democratic party to use the war as the excuse to destroy all opposition. They called attention to specific tasks which only an effective opposition can accomplish. In the absence of strong and alert criticism there will be few checks on expenditures for wasteful, nonessential government services. There will be a complacent acceptance of incompetence in the management of the war effort. There will be a base yielding to pressure groups and to profiteers.

We can solve the rubber problem if American ingenuity is freed from the restraints of bureocratic meddling, said Mr. Schroeder. We can lick the submarines off our coasts. We can clean out the war profiteers. We can have efficient organization of procurement. And so on. But if the opposition is weakened none of these things is likely to come to pass. Only a strong opposition can shake the complacency of the party which has been in control in Washington for 10 years.

Gov. Green and Mr. Schroeder spoke with the great authority which is theirs by virtue of the fact that they have played leading rôles in breaking the power of the New Dealers in Illinois. Both speakers could point with satisfaction to the superb record of their state and their section in support of the war effort; they could make the best answer that can be made to the Democrats' claim that only the party in power is patriotic.

Both speeches were aggressive, fighting appeals. It was thru such tactics that the Republican party achieved its great successes in the middle west in the last election. Both men spoke over the heads of their immediate audiences to address the leaders of their party in all sections of the country. The voice of Illinois, the voice of the Republican renaissance, calls for an end to all pussyfooting and a forthright appeal to the voters to place the Republican party in a position where it can end the abuses which are hampering the war effort and preventing victory. The Republican party in this, as in every other war we have fought since it was created, is the party of victory.

THE AUDITORIUM.

Chicagoans will applaud Mayor Kelly's decision to put the Auditorium hotel and theater to immediate use as the fourth of the city's service men's centers. The building has been vacant since financial difficulties forced it to close a year ago, but it is so intimately a part of Chicago that no one was satisfied to let it stand idle. A committee of prominent Chicagoans, with the wholehearted support of Mayor Kelly, had been active ever since the closing to plan some new use for the property and to raise money for the purpose. The immediate future is now provided for but the committee should not abandon the project.

The building, with its gracious tradition of almost 53 years, should make a favorable impression on the thousands of service men who come to Chicago for training. The hotel will provide comfortable recreation facilities and the theater is available for staging entertainments. Both will accommodate large groups, and will need to, with 20,000 army radio men moving into the nearby Stevens and Congress hotels.

No city has made a better impression than Chicago on the boys in service, and a great factor in creating this good will has been the service men's centers. The first of these, in the old Elks club, was a success from the start, and the center in Lincoln park with its beach and opportunities for outdoor recreation has complemented the downtown center nicely. The colored men's center on the south side is the third of the chain.

The Auditorium, entering on its new career, will continue to give useful service to the community. It is the hope of all friends of the old building that after the war it will be put to some other good use which will enable it to give expression, as so often it has in the past, to many of the things that are best in the life of this city.

TRIAL BY JURY.

Dr. Sebastian Soler, a guest from Argentina, witnessed his first jury trial in Chicago the other day, altho he has sat for years as a judge in the state of Rosario in his native land. Argentine law is that of continental Europe as it was molded by Napoleon, and while the country's constitution allows trial by jury in criminal cases it is not practiced except in the city of Buenos Aires.

Dr. Soler's opinion of this predominantly Anglo-Saxon institution was unfavorable. Trial by jury is needless and wasteful in a democracy, he asserted. "The jury system was inaugurated in countries where it was necessary to limit the powers of a dictator or a king," he said. "Here the law protects the people."

Our visitor has placed the cart before the horse. The jury system was developed by men who had already won freedom, as one of many precautions against the suppression of their freedom by dictators. It was developed by men who were aware that the danger of tyranny is inherent in all governments, unless the governed keep in their own hands the means of restraining authority.

We do not discard these safeguards because, as free men, we no longer need them; we cling to them because they are the means of keeping us free.

NICE WORK IF YOU CAN GET IT.

It is possible to learn to operate one of the motion picture projectors used in Chicago theaters in two weeks. Running the machine pays from $80 to $120 a week of 40 hours. If the thought occurs that that's an easy way to make a good living, be assured that it isn't original. It has occurred to a number of people in the past, including some of our choicest hoodlums, and explains why the motion picture operators' union in this city has been one of the richest as well as one of the most gang ridden of the city's labor organizations.

It also explains why a union of only 350 members [in a field of 750 regular jobs] manages to pay two of its numerous officers $38,000 a year. It explains why Tommy Maloy was able to take a reputed million dollars or more out of the union before some one dictated his resignation with a sawed off shotgun on the Outer drive in 1935.

To understand what the union members are up against and the conditions they are trying to clean up at present, it might be a good idea to go back to Tommy. Maloy died a gangster. There are those who say he started out on the level. Unlike later day hoodlums who have invaded the union, Maloy was a motion picture operator himself. One story is that he got his start in the union when a couple of gunmen, seeking to exploit its members, invaded his booth in a Cottage Grove avenue theater. Maloy, it is said, kicked them in the teeth and chased them down the street, guns and all.

As business agent of the union, a post which he got about 1920, Maloy found that the motion picture theater owners of Chicago were peculiarly vulnerable to demands for wage increases for their operators. If a theater owner was recalcitrant a stink bomb or, on occasion, a dynamite bomb brought him to time in a hurry. Maloy had so little difficulty in boosting the wages of the members of his union that the thought apparently occurred to him that there was no need of letting the working stiffs keep all the money he got for them. He originated the permit man.

Instead of letting workers join the union when new jobs were opened, the holders of the jobs were given permits to work at them, for which they paid 10 per cent of their wages. This went into the union treasury, where union officials were free to divide it according to the methods in vogue in gangster run unions. Permit men were serfs without any vote in union affairs. Another racket of the union bosses is to take the better paying operators' jobs for themselves or their political or gangster friends. They don't actually appear on the job. They draw the pay and some permit man, as a condition of holding his own job, has to do the work on the other one as well.

The current bunch of hoodlums in control of the union appear to have been more rapacious than Maloy, who was content with 10 per cent from the permit men. About 100 of the present group of permit men, in addition to paying 10 per cent of their wages into the union treasury, are, it is alleged, forced to pay half of the remainder directly into the hands of the hoodlum officials. That leaves them $40 or $50 a week for a job on which the nominal wages are more than twice that sum. The racketeers get the rest.

Maloy was murdered in 1935. Within a short time control of the union was taken by George E. Browne. Browne, a front for the Capone gang, was recently sent to prison for extortion, along with the ex-pander, Willie Bioff.

The membership of the union is engaged in rewriting its by-laws to get rid of the vicious permit man system. The union has not admitted a new member since 1919. Permit men, under the current proposal, will be admitted to membership and freed from their onerous assessments. This, presumably, can stop the racket in the union. In all probability it won't.

Unpopular as the idea may be in some quarters, there has to be some sort of relationship between the pay received for a job and the skill and training necessary to do that job. This doesn't mean, of course, that a wage for a particular job must remain static, but it is necessary that it be increased or decreased only in proportion to wages for other jobs. Whenever the wage gets completely out of line with the skill required, somebody is getting something for nothing. And whenever somebody gets something for nothing a smart fellow turns up to collect a commission on the transaction. He may be a politician or he may be a gangster business agent, but the unearned increment doesn't go very long to the boy with straw in his ears.

WHERE IS HE NOW?

The army air force has released a photograph, published Monday in THE TRIBUNE, of the Thunderbolt pursuit plane, for which a speed of 400 miles an hour and a ceiling of 40,000 feet are claimed.

This plane is the P-47, made by the Republic company. It is a very good plane today. It would have been a sensational plane in 1938, the year in which Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky claims that its prototype was designed, offered to the army and, in his words, "denied a hearing because it did not use the pet engine." [The "pet engine" to which he referred is the Allison liquid cooled motor; the planes equipped with this motor do not fight effectively at much over 15,000 feet.]

Actually the P-47 did not win the approval of the air corps until 1941. It will not be in the hands of American fighter squadrons in any appreciable numbers until the end of this year. Three years have been lost.

This delay is a proper subject for congressional inquiry. The person or persons who turned down the P-47 should be named. The nation needs assurance that he, or they, are no longer in a position to make similar blunders.

LIFE IN A FISH BOWL.

[Illinois State Journal, Springfield.]

Mayor La Guardia of New York would have the selective service act so amended that full publicity will be given to the basis for each deferment. He is indignant because of the number of deferments supposed to have been granted on fraudulent claims.

Because some of the New York mayor's unpatriotic neighbors have been dodging the draft, or trying to dodge it, is no reason for condemning all deferents to life in a fish bowl. Why parade the dependents of honest deferents with details of their economic status and the like?

The selective service act can be made effective, we believe, without supplying gossip for the scandalmongers of every neighborhood. The draft dodgers will be caught up with in good time, but it will never be possible to undo the mischief proposed by Mayor La Guardia.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

THIS CHANGELESS WORLD.

The Linemaster is now pursuing tranquility on the high remote sweeps of Shangri-La or in those Xanadu caverns measureless to man thru which the sacred river Alph ran to the sunless sea. Behind he left his desk surmounted by a yellow sign, "Quiet Please . . . Genius at Work."

[Pound the brasses, wail the dirge,
The Linemaster is gone!]

* * *

The sign was once pinned up by the Linemaster's quixotic fellow workers, a deferential group of gentlemen who like to give credit wherever it is due and so pinned similar signs above every desk in the department. Nevertheless, it seems at first thought a difficult legend to embody.

[Pound the brasses, wail the dirge,
He left a legend here!]

* * *

On second thought and after intensive research into the Linemaster's workday, we have decided we can carry on with surprising ease, for we discovered that his principal activity was a CC project.

[Pound the brasses, wail the dirge,
Collins is a boondoggler!]

* * *

Now, the Linemaster is an anomaly among newspapermen in that he clings happily to an ancient roll-top desk, and he was wont to rejoice in it until one day a painter, victim of flair for modernity, sneaked in and painted its battered oaken surface a dull sage green.

[Pound the brasses, wail the dirge,
He painted the desk green!]

* * *

It was a thing of shining curves and planes, this new green desk, and it harmonized well with the dull green metal desks surrounding it, but it had one flaw: the Linemaster hates green. With what might be termed commendable alacrity he set to work to scrape away the green with his penknife.

[Pound the brasses, wail the dirge,
The knife is mightier than the paint!]

* * *

Locally this is known as the CC project, but we might add that even for an alphabetical worker his progress has been remarkably slow. To date he has cleaned the flat writing surface of the desk and the curved runners on either end. It seems improbable that we can finish the task in two weeks, but it is a task to be relished.

[Pound the brasses, wail the dirge,
This paint must now come off!]

* * *

There is one grave drawback. The Linemaster left us with the complete works of Shakespeare, a four volume edition of the plays of W. S. Gilbert, a pop-open-to-the-touch file of contributors and a nice sharp letter-opener. But after peeking into each of the 14 cubbyholes which this camouflaged roll-top contains, we cannot find the penknife.

[Pound the brasses, wail the dirge,
Genius is suspended.]

Memories of the Future.

What shall we remember of this time?

Shall we remember the bare legs of the girls who have given their stocking money to the USO? The colors of defense stamps? The singing hum of airplanes in the sky? The sight of factory smoke at midnight?

Shall we remember the smell of fresh turned earth in little gardens in tenement back yards? The taste of wild honey in our coffee? The good fatigue that comes from doing two men's work in the factory, on the farm?

Shall we remember the trumpets and the marching songs, the angry songs: "He hath loosed the fateful lightning of His terrible swift sword"; the laughing song, "You can tell it to the soldier, you can tell it to the sailor"; the songs that are prayers: "Jimmy will go to sleep in his own little room again," and "Protect us by Thy might, great God our King"?

Or shall we remember the horror, the mourning headlines, the frightful fascination of the casualty lists, and the waiting, the not knowing——?

No. We shall forget. These things will pass.

But we will remember and never forget the sight, and the smell, and the taste of freedom. From this war we will gain a keener appreciation, a sharper sense of the value of those liberties that we have, that we have always had, that we shall have, even to the ends of the earth.

SKIN DISORDERS AND SULFONAMIDE OINTMENT.

THERE seems to be no end to the uses of the sulfonamide drugs. We now employ them in pneumonia, meningitis, septic sore throat, and many other maladies for which virulent organisms are responsible. If any chemicals have the right to be termed miraculous, justice will demand that these compounds be named.

Recently experts in diseases of the skin observed the favorable response of many cutaneous blemishes to sulfathiazole when given by mouth. At first it was thought that the effect was incidental inasmuch as the preparation was used for another purpose. In its own right, however, the substance was found to be healing. The only objection to the procedure came from patients who complained of headache, nausea, fever, burning of the eyes, etc. These symptoms were incidental reactions to the dye and varied in severity depending upon the individual.

But there was a way out for the dermatologist. Just as our surgeons have learned that dusting one of these derivatives into an infected wound will greatly retard the growth of bacteria, so crushing a tablet of the remedy and sprinkling it over certain skin lesions has been followed with prompt relief. In consequence sulfathiazole ointment has been utilized successfully for the past year.

At first a strong mixture was advocated—namely, one part of the substance plus equal parts of lanolin and boric acid. The sufferers were instructed to cleanse the areas with soap and water, remove all crusts, dry thoroly, and then apply the antiseptic two or three times daily. Less than a week, on the average, was required for cure.

What is the ideal strength to use? Experience soon demonstrated that a 5 per cent salve was as effective as one several times as strong. The advantage of this plan appears to be that absorption is slow and without systemic effects. In other words, the medicine comes in contact with the germs which we wish to destroy but does not enter the circulation other than in infinitesimal amounts.

Apparently in this suggestion we have an excellent antidote for many skin disorders. Several cases of impetigo cleared up completely altho they were treated previously in the routine fashion, without improvement. In a report on a 17 year old boy the eruption healed within four days and little evidence remained that it had ever been present.

But what about complications? According to recent summaries none has appeared thus far. It is safe to say that if trials continue to be beneficial, one of the terrors of the nursery may be banished. We know how rapidly impetigo can spread in hospitals, how it may sap the vitality of infants, or even jeopardize their lives.

As has been pointed out repeatedly these sulfa compounds are not foolproof. The statement must be reiterated that no one should take them unless they are clearly indicated and with the victim under the watchful eye of a skilled physician.

JUGGLING PIECEWORK RATES.

Chicago, July 31.—When a prime contractor lets a job to a subcontractor, that job is contracted for at a flat rate, no matter if it takes a month or a week. The sooner it's finished the quicker the big company has its parts and the more money the subcontractor makes.

Also, thousands of factories have a piece or bonus rate and the employé is told to work as fast as he can. Here's the catch. If the worker makes a bonus more than 20 or 30 per cent of his daily pay, the rate is lowered. So naturally he only works so fast and no faster. I know of cases where the employé actually works four or five hours to make his full day plus his 20 or 30 per cent bonus, and the other three or four hours of his shift are wasted.

Don't these factories realize that the employé is in reality the subcontractor, who if given a chance would produce more than any outsider? Let the defense worker make as much as he can without cutting a rate! After all, the cost will be the same and production will be stepped up 50 to 100 per cent! J. K. L.

WHY THE MIDWEST IS GRIM.

Benson, Ill., July 25.—We of the complacent midwest would like to express just how we feel about the attitude of the sputtery noise makers down east. As a start, with just about one-tenth of our population in the armed forces, we are not complacent, just grim. With several old men, much older than some of "the nine old men" of the Supreme court whom they tried so hard to discredit, running our war effort, we believe we have reason to feel grim. With ships being sunk faster than we can build them, we find nothing to smile about. We know the submarines are getting help on the east coast and the head of the navy knows it, too. Why not try a job of cleaning up enemy aliens and their helpers there as the army cleaned up the west coast? Why leave it all to the FBI? Why not declare social functions off in Washington for the duration? It may be the strain of attending these that is crippling our war effort. Physical endurance declines with age. Also, as we are sending out all our youth from the midwest to fight, why not inject some young blood into the high command down east? GRIM MIDWESTERNER.

NEGRO CHOICE OF PARTY.

Chicago, July 29.—As usual, the Negro race was forbidden to vote in the Arkansas Democratic preferential primary. I can't understand why one single Negro would vote the Democratic ticket. The Republicans freed them and it seems to me they should see the light pretty soon. It seems to me that they would band together to crush the oppression of the Democrats. They have never been turned from the polls by the Republican party. It is time they show their appreciation of Lincoln, who made them free men.

FEEDING THE ANIMALS.

Oak Park, Ill., July 29.—The death of Deed-a-Day, the elephant at the Lincoln park zoo, caused by indiscriminate feeding by spectators, prompts me to write of unkindness on the part of zoo spectators which I recently witnessed. My small daughter and I were spending an afternoon at the Brookfield zoo and came to a playground for children. Around the sides of this playground were placed small cages of animals of special interest to small children, billy goats with a small kid, doves, and a cage of monkeys. These small monkeys would have entertained the youngsters, but it was impossible for small children to see the monkeys because the cage was surrounded by adults watching a group of young men who were entertaining their girl companions.

They were feeding the monkeys small green apples from nearby hawthorne trees. If monkeys suffer from ailments common to children, they probably were ill from the effects of these green apples later on. The monkeys were given a pocket mirror which was promptly broken and looked dangerous with its jagged edge clutched in the paw of one of the animals. As a finishing touch, one of the hoodlums handed a lighted cigaret to the monkeys. The monkey who reached for it burned his fingers, and his look of surprise and distress was pitiful, but the young people roared with laughter. Certainly to the children the lesson was not one of kindness to animals. I think all zoo attendants should be deputized to arrest hoodlums feeding the animals.

ANIMAL LOVER.

JUSTICE BYRNES AND RUBBER.

St. Paul, Minn., July 29.—There seems to be a perfectly good reason why the appointment of Justice Byrnes to investigate the rubber situation would be inconvenient.

On March 30, 1939, the senate was debating an authorization for an appropriation to cover the purchase of strategic materials for defense. On motion of Sen. Byrnes, the amount was reduced by 60 per cent from $102,000,000 to $42,000,000.

Chicago, July 29.—Concerning the Congress street improvement project, I wonder where we could find out how many politicians who have an "in" bought Congress street property with a view of selling it to the taxpayers?

SAM SAYLOR.

DEMOCRACY.

Bloomington, Ill., July 29.—We hear and read much these days about "democracy." What is it, anyway? The word is not in our Constitution establishing our republic. It is not in our Declaration of Independence, the Monroe Doctrine, or Washington's farewell address.

Jefferson Davis claimed democracy in his day. It brought war and debt upon us, and tried to put secession and slavery upon us. Cleveland proclaimed democracy, and we had hard times and closed factories. Wilson desired the world made safe for "democracy," and we had war and debt. Now we are in the New Deal democracy.

Well, many people prefer the Republicanism of this republic to this democracy stuff. Democracy can mean anything a politician wants it to mean.

LICENSE PLATES.

Chicago, July 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can you advise us regarding the purchase of license plates for a car of 1931 vintage?

1. We did not have any last year, as we could not afford to get them.
2. Do we have to pay the full amount now, or half rate, as half the year is over?
3. Not having any plates last year we are doubtful about sending half the amount or full. J. C.

1. If you drove your car last year you must pay the license.
2. There is no provision for a fractional payment except in cases where the car is newly bought.
3. It will be necessary for you to send at least the full amount for this year. In general, the secretary of state is the proper source of information on these points.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 27.

1. How many amendments to the Constitution have been repealed? None One Two Three.
2. Which one of these American ports is nearest by sea to Buenos Aires? Los Angeles Philadelphia New Orleans Boston.
3. Which one of these would be most likely encountered in the troposphere? Tropical fish Clouds Deep sea divers Coral.
4. The battle of Libya occurred at approximately the same latitude as that of New York City Jacksonville, Fla. Panama City Rio de Janeiro.
5. Late in the morning two Boy Scouts set out on a hike, heading due west. At noon they heard the usual factory whistle which always signaled 12 o'clock right on the dot. The boys instantly consulted their own watches, which kept perfect time. Their watches, however, registered 15 seconds past 12 o'clock. They didn't stop for lunch at that time, but continued till they heard the 1 o'clock factory whistle. Again their watches indicated 15 seconds after 1 o'clock. Following their meal, they continued with their hike until they heard the factory 4 o'clock whistle. Again their watches registered 15 seconds past the hour. Now they pitched their tent. Their pedometers indicated that they had walked 9 miles since noon. Can you answer the following questions?
   [a] In whole numbers, approximately how far from the village were they at 4 o'clock?
   [b] What direction was the village from them at 4 o'clock.
   [c] What was the total distance they had hiked?
   [d] What had been the probable course of their hike since noon?
   [e] If both boys were southpaw pitchers on their baseball team, what was the probable direction they took at 12 o'clock.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts six points.]

FARLEY RECALLS MEAD'S PLEA TO STAY OUT OF WAR

Challenges His Pose as 100% Interventionist.

New York, Aug. 3 [Special].—Democratic State Chairman James A. Farley charged today that United States Senator James M. Mead [D., N. Y.] has been inconsistent in his support of the foreign policies of the administration.

Challenging Mead's right to present himself in the battle for the New York gubernatorial nomination as a 100 per cent pre-Pearl Harbor supporter of the policies of President Roosevelt, Farley said Mead made a "stay out of it" speech at the National Democratic club here Feb. 15, 1941.

Farley coupled his charge against Mead with a prediction that Mead will not be placed in nomination at the Democratic convention Aug. 19.

Backs Bennett in Race.

Farley reiterated his belief that Atty. Gen. John J. Bennett has more than a majority of the delegates to the convention under pledge despite President Roosevelt's support of Mead.

When Mead's National Democratic club speech was delivered, world affairs were in a desperate state and Harry Hopkins had that day arrived from England with an S.O.S. for the President, Farley said.

A newspaper account of the Mead speech was quoted by Farley as follows:

"Senator James M. Mead said today at a forum of the National Democratic club that the United States should not embark upon a world crusade to 'impose our democratic principles upon peoples whose consciences may reject them,' nor should the United States 'sit in judgment upon the good faith of their beliefs.'

Limits Duties of Nation.

"But it is for us," he said, "to prevent them from imposing their misguided convictions upon our sister republics of Central and South America. It is beyond the field of our duty to resort to the sword to prevent the imposition of anti-democratic concepts upon European or Asiatic nations."

Farley commented that Mead's words make a mockery of the Atlantic charter and Secretary of State Cordell Hull's speech on our war aims.

Mead paid New York his second visit since becoming a candidate for the nomination for governor today.

At a press conference at the Hotel Roosevelt he said he hopes to unite all win-the-war groups back of his candidacy, but made no statement concerning his acceptance of American Labor party support.

Answering a question as to whether he might withdraw in favor of a compromise candidate, Mead said he is in the fight to stay.

WILLKIE URGES PARTIES UNITE ON WAR TENETS

New York, Aug. 3 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie today urged Republicahs and Democrats thruout the nation to agree on "unity" principles in convention platforms and thus take the war effort out of politics and leave the field open for "legitimate" economic and local issues.

Three basic "unity" principles were outlined by Willkie at a press conference as follows:

1. That America must fight this war in union with other countries until the last vestige of totalitarianism and aggression is destroyed.

2. That no matter how long and painful the road to victory, it must be pursued with "no thought of appeasement."

3. That a post-war plan "of international, political and economic cooperation and adjustment among the nations of the earth" must be worked out to end excess nationalism, even to the devising of some system of "joint international force."

CHANDLER'S LEAD IN KENTUCKY RISES TO 69,290

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 3 (AP).—Returns from more than three-fourths of Kentucky's 4,375 precincts today gave Sen. A. B. Chandler a lead of 69,290 votes for the Democratic senatorial nomination over John Young Brown.

Reports from 3,709 precincts showed that in Saturday's primary Chandler received 116,251 votes to 46,961 for Brown. The chief issue was Chandler's swimming pool, the gift of a contractor.

In the Republican senatorial primary Richard J. Colbert apparently was named to oppose Chandler in the November election.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men. Technical questions covering selective service or military regulations should be referred to the Friend of the Yanks.]

Mrs. R. writes: "I wonder if you would advise me about my daughter, who is the wife of a private now stationed in Michigan. They have been married only a short time, and altho she is employed here, she wishes to join him. However, he has been unable to find suitable living quarters. They have little money to live on while she tries to locate work there. Do you think she should go there without definite plans?"

ANSWER: Your letter is typical of many we have received. Your daughter must remember that no station in the army can be considered entirely permanent. Many wives have moved to distant cities to join their husbands, only to find the men have been transferred. Both the army and the navy prefer that wives "stay put" unless definite living arrangements have been made for them. Separation, of course, is difficult, but the disappointment, worry, and expense involved in impulsive moves must be taken into account.

Mrs. F. writes: "I am a widow, alone in the world except for a foster son, who is in the coast guard. He has been stationed in the east, and altho he promised to send money for rent and coal this winter, I have not heard from him for over two months. I don't know what I shall do, and wish you could help me. I am 61 years old, in poor health, and unable to work."

ANSWER: The Navy Relief society, Great Lakes auxiliary, suggests that you write to your foster son's commanding officer. Explain your predicament and give your son's full name, rating, and last known naval address, plus information as to whether he supported you prior to his enlistment. The officer will attempt to trace your son. If you do not hear from him within a reasonable time, apply directly to the Navy Relief society at Great Lakes, Ill.

M. T. writes: "I am the wife of a soldier. We have managed to live on his pay, but I worry constantly about what I will do for support if he receives orders which will take him away from home suddenly."

ANSWER: The Army Emergency Relief has been created for the specific purpose of giving assistance to relieve temporary need such as you describe. It has offices at every army camp, post, and station.

BLOCK SPEEDY PAYMENT TO KIN OF SERVICE MEN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—Immediate consideration of legislation to permit prompt payments to dependents of service men under the recently enacted allotment and allowance act was blocked in the house today by Rep. Herman P. Eberharter [D., Pa.].

Eberharter said he would object because the proposed change would confuse the government agencies administering the law. Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.], who requested consideration of the new measure, then withdrew his motion. Under present law first payments will be made Nov. 1, with the first checks including amounts accrued since June 1.

GAMBLERS SLAIN BY DUPE IN BETS ON WILLKIE VOTE

Broker Tells $100,000 Double Cross.

New York, Aug. 3 [Special]. — A gambler's double-cross was paid off in death today when Max Fox, 48 years old, once New York's biggest betting commissioner, shot down his former business partner, Robert C. Greene, 40, and another man as they sat in their shirt sleeves in a midtown bridge club.

The slaying was a payoff for a betting swindle revolving around the Roosevelt-Willkie Presidential election of 1940, Fox calmly admitted to police when he surrendered a few hours after the shooting. He said Greene duped him out of almost $100,000 by pretending to support him in backing Wendell Willkie at long odds.

Fox said he risked all of his money backing Willkie, but that Greene secretly hedged and not only switched to Roosevelt but pocketed the wagers of customers who backed the President. Fox and Greene were then partners in the Wall street betting commissioner firm of Greene & Co.

When time came to settle, Greene sadly told Fox that the firm was cleaned out and that he was bringing in Morris [Dimples] Wolenski with fresh capital for a new start. It was Wolenski, once a small time hoodlum, who was killed with Greene by Fox's bullets.

Fox said that about 20 months ago he was squeezed out of the firm by Greene and Wolenski, and since then he has carried on as a betting commissioner with his office "in his hat."

He was broke, according to Broadway rumor, and his family was being cared for by a brother-in-law, Dutch Goldberg, one of the few kingpins of the prohibition era still surviving and prosperous.

Fox disclosed he had planned the double slaying for last Friday at the Ray Robinson-Sammy Angott fight, but was forced to postpone his vengeance when Greene failed to attend the bout. He was determined to kill both men at once, he said.

His chance came early this morning when he learned Greene and Wolenski were playing bridge at the White House Bridge association, a retreat for big shot betting men north of Times Square. He entered the bridgeroom wearing a mask and fired six shots at his victims, then ran to the street.

BATON TWIRLERS POPULAR PART OF MUSIC FESTIVAL

Hundreds to Toss Wands in Brilliant Spectacle.

Festival Tickets

Tickets for the 13th Chicago Music Festival, to be held the night of Aug. 15 in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 55 cents and $1.10 at THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service offices in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail orders should be addressed to the Festival Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, and checks should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

One of the most ancient and colorful of the dexterous arts will be part of the opening spectacle at the 13th Chicago Music Festival, to be held the night of Aug. 15 in Soldiers' field.

Fred W. Miller.

The event will be a mass exhibition of baton twirling by hundreds of boys and girls and young men and women from thruout Chicago and its suburbs. Ranged around the cinder track that encircles the great oval field of the amphitheater, they will hurl their silver wands high into glare of searchlights.

Once Dangerous Sport.

As the spinning batons hurtle back to earth, the youngsters will catch them and send them thru intricate spins and whirls almost too fast for the eye to follow. Baton twirling now is a sport, a skilful exercise, and a fascinating game. But there was a time when it was not only serious business, but was dangerous as well.

It originated among the soldiers of ancient Siam and was performed not with harmless wands, but with barbed spears and lances. In this grim sport the weapons were thrown high into the air in such a way they descended point downward.

Penalties for Missing.

The players were required to stand in one spot and catch the spear as it came down. For those who lost their nerve and stepped aside there was reserved a punishment that was considered vastly amusing by their comrades in arms. This was the clipping of their ears and noses.

The Chicago Music Festival gets the cream of the baton twirlers and in years past many physical directors and others who teach the sport have come to the festival to learn new stunts.

One of Best in Nation.

Fred W. Miller, who is the festival's supervisor of field events and who serves as chairman of the baton twirling contests, said yesterday that the exhibition given each year in Soldiers' field is considered one of the most outstanding in the country. Championships awarded there are recognized everywhere.

In the festival exhibition, the twirlers will be spaced around the cinder track and will perform their routine to the music of two award winning bands. The music will be two famous marches, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," by Sousa, and "National Emblem" by Bagley.

The principal judge of the baton contests will be Ray Gaedke, one of the nation's best known exhibition twirlers. Gaedke, in private life, is a commercial artist and was co-author with Miller of a book, "Baton Twirling."

Army, Navy Funds Get Profits.

And in addition to the baton twirling, there will be many great and colorful events at this year's festival. The great stadium will blaze with uniforms. All branches of the armed forces will be represented.

All profits from the great show will go to the army emergency relief fund and the navy relief society. These two funds assist needy families of men in the services.

Among the entertainment to be contributed by the armed forces will be presentation of the famous band of Great Lakes Naval Training station under direction of Lieut. Comm. E. E. [Eddie] Peabody; the Great Lakes choir, directed by Chaplain [Lieut. Comm.] Hjalmar Hanson; precision drills by two platoons of United States marines, stationed at Navy pier, and a special event by men of the army, details of which will be announced later.

Training School Boys Flee, Into Tall Corn; Captured

Three inmates of the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles escaped yesterday by hiding in the tall corn growing around the school farm. But guards eventually tracked them down and returned them to the school. Their punishment will be forfeiture of their right to live on the farm, which is outside the fenced area of the institution. They are Ray Bly, 17 years old, of Chicago; Robert Cooprider, 17, of Winthrop Harbor, and Paul Vaughn, 15, of Cairo.

DOCTORS, 8 PATIENTS ROBBED.

Dr. Henry Hillebrand, a physician, and Dr. Maximillian Swiech Jr., a chiropodist, and eight patients wee held up in their offices at 2349 North Western avenue by two gunmen last night, and robbed of a total of $194. Dr. Hillebrand lost $40 and Dr. Swiech $130.

Ferry Pilot

Capt. Alec Gingiss with his mother yesterday.

Enemy bullets are just one of the hazards that pilots ferrying combat planes and bombers are called upon to face, according to Capt. Alec Gingiss, of the RAF ferry command.

One of his narrowest escapes, the 27 year old flyer, whose home is at 2100 Lincoln Park West, related, resulted when he flew his plane into a flock of birds. He made an emergency landing in an English field, his propellor gone, one wing broken, and the windshield of his craft shattered.

On another occasion the captain said, he suffered an attack of appendicitis while winging over the English countryside. He made another emergency landing, and underwent an operation—also emergency.

MILITARY POLICE BEGIN DRILLING IN GRANT PARK

Grant park assumed a martial aspect yesterday as members of the two military police battalions assigned to guarding units 1 and 2 [formerly the hotels Stevens and Congress] of the airm air force radio training school began using the park as a drill ground.

Acquisition by the army of the parking lot in the rear of the Stevens was announced yesterday by Brig. Gen. Arnold M. Krogstad, commander of the school. Civilian automobiles were moved out, and their places taken by armored vehicles, bristling with machine and anti-aircraft guns.

First classes will start Sept. 7, Gen. Krogstad said. During August, classrooms will be equipped and prepared for thousands of students. Negotiations for taking over the Coliseum, the Eighth Street theater, and the old Forrest building at 739 South Wabash avenue are in progress, but no official acquisition orders have come from Washington, the general stated.

Bandits Lock 4 in Closet After Lodge Hall Holdup

Three bandits robbed four persons, forced them into a closet and pushed a 1,000 pound safe against the door in a holdup last night in the Mid City Odd Fellows' temple, 3350 Jackson boulevard. They escaped with $86 and $135 in jewelry taken from Robert

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

Altho summer is generally considered vacation time for federated women's clubs, the war has changed the routine to the extent that ordinarily quiet clubrooms are often opened now for first aid classes or special benefits.

Mrs. Ford Hicks, president of the Rogers Park Woman's club, joins this "extracurricular" program of the clubs to announce a card party at the Rogers Park clubhouse, 7079 North Ashland avenue, beginning at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The project is to raise money for a grocery bill. The club has offered to provide the food for the Howard Service Men's center this week-end. Mrs. Moyne Myers, war service chairman for the club, has been checking to see what the grocery order would be and says: "The more I find out, the bigger success I hope this card party will be. These boys surely do eat!"

Mrs. Clifford R. Plettner, canteen chairman for the center, is the source of Mrs. Myers' information. And by way of telling Mrs. Myers what would be needed, Mrs. Plettner simply described last week-end. "I fried eggs for 125 breakfasts Sunday morning," she said, "and while I was cooking eggs as fast as I could another one of us was frying bacon. I think she probably fried about 15 pounds before she was thru."

On an average week-end the soldiers, sailors, and marines who call at the center consume about 60 pounds of meat, a case of eggs, 20 gallons of milk, five pounds of butter, and a dozen large cans of fruit juices. The meat consists mostly of cold baked ham, pork, and beef. The meat usually is baked before it is brought in. "We don't serve so many hot dogs," said Mrs. Plettner, "because we know that they are plentiful almost everywhere the boys go. We try to provide a little variety."

The center operates on subscriptions from Rogers Park residents. All the food is contributed, and the service men do not pay for anything. The center is located in what used to be the ballroom of the Broadmoor hotel at Howard street and Bosworth avenue. It was dedicated June 27, a crowning achievement after nearly five months of effort in which practically every Rogers Park organization took part.

Before the center was established hundreds of soldiers and sailors from Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes would leave trains at Howard street every week-end to spend hours and hours of just wandering around the Howard business district. Mrs. Alexander M. Kerr, who is president of the center, was one of the pioneers in the campaign to do something for the men who had time off and nothing to do with it. She read a report about the situation as chairman of the girls' work committee of the Rogers Park YMCA.

In conference with other YMCA workers and Harry G. Hansen, executive secretary of the Rogers Park unit, it was decided that the problem was too big for the Y, and thereupon 80 invitations were sent out to Rogers Park organizations and leading citizens to attend a meeting held March 13. Thereafter followed weeks of discussing ways and means. Mr. Hansen was given the task of finding quarters, and he trudged miles of stairs inspecting rooms. Finally Harry Yavitt, the Broadmoor hotel manager, heard of the quest, and he offered the ballroom. He had just come to the hotel to take over while the owner, his son, Arnold Yavitt, went into service.

Store space on Bosworth avenue was rented as an entrance to the ballroom, and the workers then had to get subscription pledges to guarantee that rent. And there had to be decorating and furnishing. But it was all accomplished thru the cooperation of at least 28 different organizations, as well as dozens of individuals. The Rogers Park Woman's club, which is holding today's benefit, pledged $1,000. Other contributions, small and large, came in.

Week-ends are devoted to the Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes men. There is dancing every Saturday evening. Last Saturday 250 were served luncheon and supper, and many more came and went during the dancing party.

Mrs. Clayton Marsh heads a hospitality staff which registers families who will give a service man a bed for Saturday night. This has worked out so well that many of the host families have invited their particular soldiers or sailors back for repeat visits.

Mrs. Richard Steinbrecker heads the office staff, and there is always some one on duty from 10 o'clock every morning until 10:30 o'clock every evening except the week-ends, when the closing is an hour later. And, of course, the opening is a good three hours earlier for those Sunday breakfasts. The telephone number at the center is Briargate 7825, and there's always time for a call that announces a bed for a week-end service guest or a donation of a few baked hams!

The center has a special Wednesday evening program for the men at Northwestern's midshipman school. Those students do not have the week-ends, but they have a little free time on Wednesdays. They come in about 5:15 o'clock, and they eat in relays of 70—the top seating capacity. There usually are about 175 of them, and as soon as they've finished their meal, there is dancing until 8:30 o'clock when they must leave to be back at a class at 9 o'clock.

Old Settlers Life of Picnic Despite Years

Teen-aged jitterbugs couldn't hold a candle yesterday to the dancing of the grandparents and great-grandparents who gathered at Harms park for the 68th Old Settlers' picnic, sponsored by the Chicago Turners. The youngsters wearily sought ringside chairs long before silver haired ladies and gentlemen abandoned the dance floor.

They had a wonderful time, those old settlers of Chicago. They all said so. Remember the Chicago fire? And the Haymarket riot? It was fun remembering the days when Chicago was young. William C. E. Meyer, 4528 North Oakley avenue, 85, was 8 years old when he attended his first Settlers' picnic. That was in the old Ogden grove. "Just prairie in those days," he recalled, "but now it's a big manufacturing district."

Wearing costumes of the type popular at the first Old Settlers' picnics, Mrs. Emilie Lyons, 76, of 2643 West Lake street, and her friend, Mrs. Catherine Gray, 78, of 2744 West Adams street, entered right into the spirit of the festivities. They even rode the park's merry-go-round. Tonight they'll carefully fold their costumes away in boxes and begin counting the days until the next outing.

Two veterans of the Civil war and members of the G. A. R., Maj. Albert E. Gage and Capt. Dennis W. Finley, talked about the war. Maj. Gage, who is 97 years old, kept his youthful partners busy as he went thru the paces of polkas and hops.

Dance prizes of old fashioned bouquets went to Mrs. Sarah Donahue, to Capt. Finley, and to Maj. Gage. Medals went to others.

"I can't compete," mourned John Maurer, 77 years old, who resides at 4822 Magnolia street, "I'm too young."

Lange Directs Symphony in Park Premiere

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra last night temporarily abandoned the cozy, homey surroundings of Ravinia and moved downtown to Grant park—to a concert site which needs only a snow capped peak or two to be the most spectacular on earth.

Under the direction of its associate conductor, Hans Lange, the orchestra put its art before a crowd which would burst the seams of the Ravinia pavilion or of Orchestra hall but which was not uncomfortably large out in the great sky-roofed audience area on the lake front.

At this, the first of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's eight 1942 Grant park concerts, Mr. Lange chose for his principal program items two works which not only contrast strikingly but which represent admirably the achievements of their respective centuries. They were Mozart's Eine Kleine Nachtmusik and Tschaikowsky's Fifth symphony.

The Mozart is one of the high points of 18th century music—a work discreet, elegant, finely chiseled and yet not cold. Dealing only with well contained and well realized psychological states and keeping within a narrow compass musically, the composer here achieved what is of its kind absolute perfection. The performance emphasized the balance and delicacy and fineness of the writing.

The Tschaikowsky, on the other hand, is an extravagantly rich product of 19th century romanticism—a passionate, tumultuous piece of music which aims to express some of its creator's most profound emotions and which uses an enormous variety of musical device in order to do so. Mr. Lange, a past master with this piece, did justice to the all-out quality of the writing.

The program also held Tschaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty" waltz, the first of the two suites drawn from Bizet's "Carmen," the Strauss "Don Juan," and Mendelssohn's "Ruy Blas" overture.

Love May Offer You Just What the Doctor Ordered: Proper Diet

New York, Aug. 3 (AP).—That thing called love may offer just what the doctor ordered—a wholesome, balanced diet for persons who ordinarily think only in terms of steak and potatoes.

Dr. Jack Nagler, director of food laboratories of the New York Institute of Dietetics, said in an interview today that a person in love might even go so far as to order spinach and like it.

"People in love," said Dr. Nagler, "forget their settled habits, even in eating. They give in to changes sooner. In a restaurant they are more likely to order foods they ordinarily don't eat."

Since, said Dr. Nagler, most persons eat too much of the wrong thing, falling in love may cause them to eat more proper foods.

The expert hopes that in an unguarded moment, when you're gazing at those heavenly blue eyes across the table, you'll reach for a carrot instead of a potato and discover that vegetables are tasty items.

There's a patriotic element, too. Some foods, such as sugar, coffee, bananas, already are scarce. Perhaps others will be. But there is an abundance of the vegetables and fruits in which most persons' diets are deficient.

Career Woman.

Merriel Abbott, internationally famous teacher of dancing, is writing finis to one chapter of her colorful career by retiring, after 28 years, from the teaching field. During this time more than 10,000 pupils, from 4 year olds to theatrical stars, have benefitted by the sound advice and vast experience of this lissome and dynamic instructor in the art of dancing in all its forms.

Starting her career as a teacher, Miss Abbott's first job was as kindergarten instructor at the University School for Boys at Dearborn and Elm streets. But dancing soon attracted her, and after a year abroad she returned to teach in the Pavley-Oukrainsky School of Ballet. For 12 years she studied each summer at the Imperial Russian ballet in Moscow, also in Paris, Rome, and London. Her list of pupils over the years includes such stage and screen luminaries as Ginger Rogers, Mary Eaton, the Duncan sisters, Marilyn Miller, Harriet Hoctor, Rae Dooley, Barbara Newberry, and Florence O'Denishawn. Her famous units of trained dancers, notably the one in the Empire room at the Palmer House, have won unstinted praise all over the country and abroad.

Altho she is relinquishing her teaching career, Miss Abbott will continue to produce the revues, started 10 years ago, for the Palmer House. She also is taking courses at the University of Chicago to acquire a master's degree.

Contrasts.

"Now that I'm home again, all that I can remember of my vacation are contrasts. Weatherbeaten, unpainted barns. Modern farm houses. . . . The farmer boy and his dog leisurely urging the cows along the lane toward the barn. The shiny tractors and smart looking cars under the wagon sheds. . . . Groups of young girls traveling alone to summer resorts, and the remembrance of the strict chaperone I had when my youthful holiday trips were made. . . . The bride and groom on the bus, holding hands across the aisle when they couldn't get seats side by side; so different from the days when honeymoon couples tried to appear casual, seldom succeeding.

6 o'clock bus taker."

Pleasant Dreams.

The Skokie valley lies asleep
And all her dreams are flowers
Of pink, pale purple, rose and blue—
To gild the summer hours.

A cool green wood presumes upon
The precincts of a town,
And Browneyed Susan stems are bent—
The winds would blow them down.

The valley is not stirred by those
Who hurry thru a day,
But spends her strength beguiling all
To tarry on their way.

Take Care!

Paul C. Standley, curator of the herbarium at Field museum, had cause recently to be grateful that he is immune to poison ivy. He received a letter from a woman saying that she was inclosing for identification a sprig from a tree. She described it as a tall tree with a thick trunk, sending out branches from the lower part. One look at the leaves she'd inclosed proved they were poison ivy, which is, of course, not a treet, but a climbing vine with many strong arterial rootlets that hold its stems tightly against the trunk. It also is to be found in many vacant city lots where small children play, or where victory gardens have been planted. We are glad to pass along Mr. Standley's timely warning to avoid the venomous green leaves, even tho, at first glance, they look as tho they'd make a pretty decoration for the table.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

A little boy who'd like to come to our baseball party next week told me that he'd seen Wrigley field from the outside just lots of times, but never on the inside.

He and 99 other boys and girls will have an opportunity to see the famous ball park on the inside when they attend our party on Aug. 13. They'll see all the players on the Chicago Cubs when the Cubs meet the St. Louis Cardinals, and they'll have good things like ice cream and popcorn to eat, too.

If you'd like to be one of this group, don't wait too long to write and tell me about it, because Thursday, the day on which the winners will be selected, isn't awfully far away.

If a party like this would be a real treat to you, and you can write a good letter telling me about it, maybe you'll be a winner. However, when you write your letter, don't forget that I must also know your full name, your address, and your age. The address is: Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Lyric Sopranos Sing in Festival Contest Tonight

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

In order better to balance the number of vocalists to be heard tonight and tomorrow night in the Chicago Music Festival auditions for south and southwest side singers, the lyric sopranos, who were to have been heard tomorrow night, have been shifted to tonight's contest. They, together with tenors, contraltos, and baritones, will compete in the Chicago Woman's club theater, at 72 East 11th street. The contests, open to the public at 30 cents admission, including federal tax, will begin at 7 p. m. Tomorrow night the singers will include dramatic sopranos, coloraturas, mezzos, basses, and bass-baritones.

Among the lyric sopranos who will be heard tonight is Miss Emagene Foster, 22 years old, of 328 East 70th street. She was born in Falls City, Neb. She came to Northwestern university and later entered a conservatory of music in Kansas City, Mo., where she was graduated. Another lyric soprano is Miss Betty Woodward, 18, of 8108 South Green street. Miss Woodward has won many amateur contests and last year appeared as guest soloist with the Beverly Symphony orchestra.

[Hoffman Photo.] Betty Woodward.

Among the bass-baritones to be auditioned tomorrow night is Paul Stogis, 50, of 400 West 72d street.

The judges for tonight will be Naomi Cook, Rollin Pease, and Frank Bennett. Tomorrow night the judges will be Eugene Dressler, Edward Clissold, and Gilderoy Scott. The accompanists will be Rhea Shelters tonight and Helen Rauh tomorrow night.

The Cook county vocal finals will be held Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel. The public will hear 30 voices, three winners of each voice classification from the three sections of the city. Ten winners will be chosen there to represent Cook county in the vocal finals on the festival Saturday morning, Aug. 15. At that time four singers will be selected to appear that night in Soldiers' field before an audience of 85,000 persons. The final judging will determine the "best man singer" and "best woman singer" of the festival.

SYNOPSIS.

James Milcom, English journalist with Loyalist sympathies, is in Madrid covering the Spanish Civil war. While out walking he comes upon a half starved woman who asks him for milk for her child. He notices she is beautiful. She tells him she is a White and he takes her to breakfast.

CHANGE IN FORTUNE.

INSTALMENT II.

Milcolm asked the woman how she, a White, came to be in Madrid.

They had been caught, she said, she and the child, when they went to visit her husband in hospital at D——, in September, 1936. He was in the Navarrese division, was wounded and sent to hospital. It had seemed safe to go and see him, but there was a surprise attack by Los Rojos, and they had been taken there.

She had a brother in Madrid on the Republican side—"we are so mixed up; it is very complicated," she said, with another of those little sophisticated smiles—and she had somehow managed to get to him. "While he was living, it was really all right; he managed things for us," she said simply; "but he was killed six months ago, fighting, and now—it is rather difficult."

"And where is your husband now?" Milcom asked.

"He is in prison at Almadera—so far as I know. I have heard nothing from him directly, of course, but the last news that my brother got for me, he was recovered and well."

In spite of his antipathy to the cause of Gen. Franco, and therefore to Whites, Milcom found himself liking this woman. She was so quiet and direct, and her gift for understatement was almost English. He made some more inquiries into her circumstances, most of which she parried with a gentle courteous skill that indicated a high degree of social training.

Now that he was able to take her measure, to place her, more or less, the pathos of that first appeal came home to him with fresh force. And why the devil did he feel so sure that he knew her face?

At last, straight out, he asked her name.

"Raquel de Verdura," she said.

Milcom was uncomfortably certain, afterwards, that at that softly pronounced name he must have jumped like a shot rabbit. The Condesa de Verdura! The legendary beauty, acclaimed everywhere as the most beautiful woman in Spain, if not in Europe; the great heiress, married to a husband 20 years older than herself, of almost equal wealth and of even more legendary infidelity.

No wonder her face was familiar—before the war the social papers had displayed it whenever she appeared in public. And her portrait, by every European artist of note, had adorned the main picture shows in Madrid, Paris, London, Berlin, for years past. He looked at her again, thoughtfully, while the stories about her husband and his amours flowed back into his retentive journalist's memory.

When they had eaten, he went with her to her home, still carrying the load of wood—which now seemed the most improbable of burdens for the escort of the Condesa de Verdura. It should have been a mink coat, or flowers!

The "home," when they reached it, was a wretched place. All that could be said in its favor was that it was in a cellar which, in view of bombardments by night and aerial bombings by day was a definite recommendation, since it made frequent trips to the public shelters less necessary. But it was dark, damp, carpetless; there was a rickety table, one chair and one stool—a rather tumble-down stove in one corner, with a few pieces of wood beside it, a single palliasse on the floor in another; a minute mirror on the wall, a few clothes hanging from nails.

It was perfectly neat. One or two cups and plates, and a few jugs and dishes were ranged tidily on an old wooden tea chest by the stove. There was a tin basin for washing, and a bucket of clean water on the floor; a towel hung from a nail above. An unshielded electric bulb gave light; the window was, of course, broken, and had been patched partly with wood, partly with sacking.

One thing Milcom found peculiarly touching. In a common earthenware jar on the table some dried wild grasses, and the seedheads of various common weeds were arranged like a vase of kowers, with great taste and skill—in every shade of fawn, beige and deep brown and striking decoration in that miserable room.

And he could not help being touched by the child. She was a little thing of about seven, russet in coloring like her mother, but fairer, and not beautiful; only the same immense blue-gray eyes looked out of her small, pitifully thin face. She sprang up at their entrance, and went toward her mother with an illuminated face of greeting, but without a sound—then checked at the sight of the stranger. When she was introduced she curtsied, and then busied herself in stacking the wood neatly in a pile beside the stove, and in stoking that up with a few small bits. It was bitterly cold in the room.

The Condesa sat on the stool and gave Milcom the chair with the imperceptible gracious finality of the accomplished hostess, which it would have been ill-bred to disobey. He did his best to conceal his dismay at their surroundings, and talked as well as he could. Most of the time he watched the child. She looked horribly fragile. And they had been living together like that, in that room, for a year!

Before he left he got the name of the Republican brother who had been killed fighting before Madrid. Milcom was on the best of terms with the Republican authorities, and had some excellent connections in high quarters; being a foreigner, he could befriid even a White, if he chose, without much risk, but the brother's name would be a help. As he walked away he realized that he had definitely decided to befriend this pair to some extent—that look in the child's eyes had clinched the matter.

Food was his first concern. The child looked half starved. He, like most foreigners, had a very small reserve of such things as chocolate, sugar and cigarets, presents brought in from outside, which came in handy on occasions like the present. He went and talked to one of the relief organizations, explained the situation, and raised a couple of tins of condensed milk; from the proprietor of a restaurant where he had eaten regularly for months he managed to obtain some tinned soup, and, for a vast price, four eggs and a small lump of butter. Later he made an expedition to a very shabby indeterminate little back yard down by the Manzanares, from which he emerged with a small and ancient hand-saw wrapped in newspapers, three more eggs.

Milcom's room contained a wall cupboard, with a good lock, and in this he stowed away all but one tin of milk and two of soup, the four restaurant eggs, the butter and the saw. These he made up into a parcel with some sugar and some chocolate, and again on foot, he set off to carry them to the Condesa.

As he went, he was thinking, oddly enough, about his mother. She had been in his mind all day. She had had the same unusual blue-gray eyes as the Condesa. Irish eyes, he had always imagined them to be. It must be the Condesa's eyes, and that little child's that had brought her back into his mind like this.

The fact was that life had always been difficult for him, and tragic. Less in the sense that he had any immediate personal tragedy than that he was deeply imbued with what Unamuno calls the Tragic Sense of Life. For this his mother was at least partly responsible.

She was Irish, married to a Yorkshireman who was a reasonably wealthy owner of a wool mill outside Bradford, and her wit and the sparkling quality of her mind, the queer dancing logic of the Irish mentality had been in perpetual gay conflict with his father's dear, hard-headed, and wholly unenthusiastic common sense.

The elder Milcom was implacably opposed to home rule. His youngest brother-in-law, over in Ireland, became an ardent Sinn Feiner, and was eventually shot by the Black and Tans in 1922. Between Milcom's mother and this brother there had existed a very close link of affection and understanding. In her own words, he was the world and all to her; and with his death, tragedy had unmistakably come into that household.

James, then a boy of 20, had watched his mother's agony, and his father's rigid and stubborn refusal to compromise with his political principles even to ease the sorrow of a wife to whom in his own stolid way he was devoted, and on whom he was in fact absurdly dependent.

He watched her struggles to adapt herself to an emotional situation which was really impossible of endurance. That lasted for about a year; then she died—apparently of influenza; really, the desperate boy realized, of a broken heart, a heart broken less by the loss of the brother she adored than by that interior struggle, the attempt at an impossible degree of self-suppression and self-control. At his father's quiet genuine despair at her death he had not known whether to laugh or to rage—within himself he did first the one, then the other.

All this had had a profound effect on him. From love and marriage he had definitely averted his face. The passion that might have gone into them he deflected onto the affairs of mankind at large. He had allowed himself a few brief love affairs, in which the spirit was in no way involved—and thoroly unsatisfying he had found them.

But rule his life as he would, from his sensitiveness there was no escape. Any human suffering or distress or generosity or beauty moved him instantly. He was helpless, defenseless in the face of such things. That child in the cellar, to whom he was now hurrying thru the windy streets, and her quiet-voiced, uncomplaining mother—to such he would always be accessible.

Thru the Looking Glass

A cleansing, soothing lotion for the eyes is well worth whatever it may cost, we think. Whether you work hard or play hard the good eye bath serves a purpose; once you've acquired the habit of using one you'll feel that to dispense with it is a real sacrifice.

No eye lotion can do more than cleanse and soothe. But that's plenty! After a day out of doors, especially in this weather and in this windy town, our eye lotion is one of the first things we reach for. And after a day spent at a desk, when the eyes are tired to the point of irritation, a refreshing, cooling lotion seems magical in its effects.

One of our favorites comes close to being the most popular item in a fine line of beauty aids. We can understand its popularity. It does a spectacular kind of a soothing job when the eyes are irritated and congested, whether it be from eyestrain or too much dust. You can use it with a cup—a white pyralin cup is a companion piece in one presentation of this, the lotion may be bought separately if you like—or apply it to gauze pads placed over the tired lids. Either way the effect is restful, and the eyes are cleaner and brighter for it.

When you've read far into the night, or stayed out gallivanting and collided with the milkman on your way home, a brisk morning eyebath with this is a great help. Your eyes will be less red and weary and will feel less like hot coals. You can use it with perfect safety several times a day to relieve the tired feeling and to step up your supply of sparkle.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

There are lots of good cookies which may be made without sugar. Some women have complained to me that the ones they've made with honey have been "tough." This is because many honey cookies need to age before they soften. Cookies made entirely with honey usually need to stand in the cooky jar or can for as long as a week before they're best eating.

Molasses-made cookies don't need to ripen, but often they're better after a few days. Any sirup-made cooky will keep well. Use enriched flour in your baking so that you'll be helping your family to get the vitamin B1 they need.

Ginger Cookies.
[About two dozen large.]
3½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons ginger
1 egg, beaten
1 cup molasses
½ cup melted shortening

Sift flour, leavenings and spices together. Add molasses and shortening to beaten egg, and add all to flour mixture. Mix well and chill. Roll out ¼ inch thick on a lightly floured board, cut with a round cooky cutter, and bake on an ungreased sheet at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

Maple and Orange Drops.
[Five dozen.]
¾ cup butter or other fat
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 cup maple sirup
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped prunes or raisins, or nuts [optional]

Cream shortening, rind, and sirup. Add beaten eggs. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt several times, and add. Drop batter from a spoon onto a greased baking sheet and bake at 375-400 degrees for about 10 minutes.

Date and Honey Bars.
[Sixteen bars.]
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup honey
1 cup chopped nuts
1 pound dates, pitted and chopped
3 eggs, well beaten

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder several times. Add nuts and dates to honey, and combine with thoroly beaten eggs. Fold in flour mixture. Spread in greased pan ½ inch thick. Bake at 325 degrees about 45 minutes. Cut into strips and store in covered jar or tin box a week before using.

Baked Pralines.
1 can [1¼ cups] sweetened condensed milk
⅔ cup maple sirup or dark corn sirup
2½ cups graham cracker crumbs
⅔ cup pecan halves

Blend milk and sirup. Add crumbs and nuts. Drop by spoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet and bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Eggplant Patties.
[Serves six.]
1 large eggplant
2 beaten eggs
1½ cups cracker crumbs
Salt and pepper to taste
Fat

Peel, dice, and boil eggplant in a small amount of water until soft. Drain, and mash with a fork. Stir in beaten eggs and cracker crumbs. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Drop by spoonfuls on hot, greased griddle or skillet, flatten out, and sauté until well browned. Serve hot with butter. MRS. H. M. SMITH,

North Shore Juniors of N. U. Settlement Hold Tea Tomorrow

In place of its usual summer benefit, the North Shore Junior board of the Northwestern university settlement will raise the money to send settlement children to camp this summer thru the contributions of members. Mrs. William O. Campbell, first vice president of the group, is in charge of the project. The junior board's settlement volunteers will meet for tea tomorrow afternoon in the Evanston home of Miss Marie Stevenson. The volunteers' duties include serving as receptionist at the settlement, taking children to the dental clinic, assisting with the summer play school, and visiting the homes of settlement families. Mrs. George D. Wolf Jr. is in charge of Red Cross work for the settlement.

Plans for Heart Tag Day Will Be Discussed Today

Plans for the annual Have-a-Heart tag day will be discussed at a meeting of committee members today at the home of Mrs. Roy L. Davis, 2672 Stewart avenue, Evanston. Heart tagging in the Chicago area is set for Monday, Sept. 14.

Smart Juvenile Fashions

CHILDREN'S DRESSES.

Dresses a great deal like "big sister's" always appeal to growing girls. Both the patterns today differ only a little from those for misses, and your small daughter will like them. Both have shirtwaist tops, contrasting collars, and full skirts, and a variety of material will make up well.

Style No. 2562 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 1⅞ yards of 35 inch material, with ⅝ yard contrasting and 4½ yards of rickrack.

Style No. 2736 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 35 inch material with ¼ yard contrasting.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing costs.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost [coin preferred—wrap it carefully], for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The summer pattern book costs [5 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 3.—It's all over but the shouting, and I'll let the others do that. Ingrid Bergman, and not Zorina, will play Maria in "For Whom the Bell Tolls." After one day's shooting Director Sam Wood realized Zorina was not right for the part. Ingrid Bergman was tested.

Ingrid Bergman.

Then after a big powwow and much bickering it was decided she'd play the rôle.

Busy Little Bee.

There's little of the social butterfly life for Cole Porter these days. An occasional dip in the pool and chin-chin with old friends are all, 'cause he's up over his eardrums in melody. Not only has he written eight songs for "Something to Shout About," but, together with Dorothy and Herbert Fields, he's writing a new musical for Broadway, which will star Ethel Merman and Paula Lawrence. It has a patriotic background, and is laid at Kelly field, San Antonio. Should be a wow. . . . Joseph Pasternak thinks he'll get Toscanini to appear in "Private Miss Jones" with Kathryn Grayson. Kathryn plays a concert singer who gives up her career to help her father, a colonel in the army. Sure, you're way ahead of me. She helps herself to one of the boys.

Say It Isn't So.

Remember years ago when there was much excitement over doing the life of Madame Curie? Irene Dunne even went to Paris to talk over the story with daughter Eve. Then the story rights were sold to Metro. The story was rewritten, with Greta Garbo in mind. Now they're talking about it as a possible picture for Katharine Hepburn. While Katharine is a fine actress, she's the last girl in the world I'd choose for Madame Curie. . . . Simone Simon, who's doing "The Cat People," says cats hate her, always scratch her. And, while she was telling me that, she opened a wire from her mother, who sent love from herself and Ishah—her mother's white Persian. Ho hum!

That's Tellin' 'Em.

It's Pat Dane's impression that either Dolores Del Rio or Orson Welles has a press agent, 'cause, says Pat, "There's nothing to that reconciliation between Cedric Gibbons and Dolores. He's still devoted to me." . . . When Pat was late on the set the other day, Harry Rapf said, "Do you know that your absence has cost this company at least $20,000?" She cracked back, "And your being here on time has cost this company twice that amount." . . . Oscar Serlin's in town looking for an 18 year old lush, lovely, undiscovered girl for the lead in his new play. He was told all he had to do here was twirl three times, point, and spit—and he'd find one.

Times and Prices Change.

I never thought I'd live to see the day when any actor would pay $75,000 to see himself. But Jimmy Cagney bought $25,000 worth of war bonds in New York for the opening of "Yankee Doodle Dandy" there, and plunked down another $50,000 for the premiere here Aug. 12. Says Jimmy, "I'm getting tired looking at this old pan of mine, but I'd pay to see the worst ham in town, even if it's me, if it meant selling more bonds." Well, Jimmy, the only time I ever saw $50,000 in cash was during the last war, when I sold $50,000 worth of Liberty bonds to Mrs. Andrew Carnegie in her private car.

New Hero.

The sensation of Hollywood today is Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky. While hostesses wrap wet towels around their heads to keep from screaming, he can't help being late. At Elsa Maxwell's party, he arrived at 1 a. m., at the Rathbones—midnight. But he was on the dot for Margaret Sullavan and Leland Hayward, and no picture star was ever more mobbed. He seems to have an answer for winning the war, doesn't mince matters, and uses language the layman can understand. Present was Maj. C. C. Moseley, who was the first one here to start a cadet training school at Glendale. He's so proud because 13 of his boys flew over Tokio with Doolittle. Burgess Meredith was there without Paulette Goddard. . . Dorothy Lamour again with Capt. McQuiston, which made four straight dates for them. Claudette Colbert stagged it. Can't wait till Friday, when she leaves to join her doctor husband back east. She won't be back till October. Mrs. Jack Benny wore on her head three gladiolas plucked from her own garden, and a veil anchored to them—which was unfair to John Frederics and Lily Dache . . . Cordy Hill talked about nothing but planes.

Paul Muni's wife left the "Commandos Came at Dawn" company in Victoria, B. C., to go to the bedside of her sister in New York, who's seriously ill. It's the first time in Paul's entire career that his wife has been absent from the set while he was working. . . . Fifi d'Orsay got an ardent letter from a soldier, which went thru the military censor's hands, and at the end, the censor wrote, "And the censor would like to see you, too, Fifi. How about it?" . . .

While I Swoon.

I've been skeptical of all these "honorary commissions" being handed our gals, so when Dixie Lee Crosby called me and said meekly, "Hedda, can I please have my commission back?"—I thought it was a gag. "Well," said she, "you acted as if you didn't believe me when I told you I'd been made a captain of company B, military police battalion at Fort Ord, so I mailed you my commission." For three days the office was in a cold sweat looking for the darned thing. It finally turned up, and I read: "From the President of the United States—to Dixie Lee Crosby—greetings!" Boy! Did I give it the old salute! Greetings to you, Capt. Crosby—I take it all back!

Good Morning!

Of men as is good and of men as is naughty
Of dames like the first and of skirts what is haughty
Of plottin's that's scand'lous—I might as well warn ye!
And follin's of same, sings "In Old Californ-y"
A druggist from Boston, plays Mr. John Wayne
Who ventures out west for to cure settlers' pain
In young Sacramento he plans for to settle.
A handsome galoot and just chock full of mettle. [Purt near gits filled up with another brand of same but that's gittin' ahead some.]
On the boat goin' out he meets up with Britt Dawson
A guy who's got jest no regard for the law——Son!
The shootin'est feller! There's only one other
As mean as he is, and that's Joe—who's his brother . . .
Britt loves hard and hoggish a blonde—first name Lacey
When SHE looks at any one else he goes cra-cy
Wal, she DOES look at Tom, and she gives Tom a whirl
'Cause he brings out the good in this ba-ad little girl . . .
And when Britt says that Tom Craig can't set up no shop
Out of which to sell pills—Lacey comes with a hop
And SHE says to Tom, the goldurn dauntless lassie:
"I'LL rent you a store where to run your pharm-acy!"
And now sashays there for to cramp Lacey's style
Ellen Sanford from Frisco, to visit awhile
Tom loves her demureness and falls for her line
And—unwittin'ly—leaves Lacey Miller to pine.
[You see he's no IDEE that Lacey adores him
When he finds out about it—the truth nearly floors him.]
As this four-sided romance goes round and around
Complications and comedy sho' do abound
Sech as typhoid, a gold rush; and Miss Patsy Kelly
A 'hookin' herself Kegs McKeever—poor felly!
Helga's Lacey's best friend. The redoubtable Keggy
Who's a one man battalion's devoted to Craig-ie.
Right wins out in the end, tho that swell actor, Dekker,
As Britt does his very goldarndest to wreck her . . .
The maiden from Frisco betrays her true nater
In time to allow noble Lacey to bate [beat] her
To chief place in the heart of the man she loves best.
And what about Dawson? That sarpent goes "west."
As he dies he bleats out a belated confession
That clears Tom Craig of a suspected transgression.

This here movie's funny and has lots of punch
That you'll like it from kiver to kiver's my hunch
It's short and it quits in the way that it should
With toes up for the bad—and the spoils to the good.

See you tomorrow.

A purely original design is this clever, crocheted medallion which is used as a luncheon doily, dresser scarf, chair set, or buffet cloth. The box and wheel medallion is not difficult to crochet, and works up easily and quickly. Ivory, mercerized crochet cotton is suggested for the doilies, and ecru is recommended for a buffet cloth or dresser scarf.

For instructions in crocheting the box and wheel medallion, No. 962, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Help Child in Wartime; Face Things to Come

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Prepare yourselves to face whatever may come.

Help your children to continue living their everyday lives with as little change as possible.

These are two suggestions on how to help your children in wartime. Today we'll discuss the first of these two points, the matter of preparing yourself to face whatever may come.

Frankly, every parent is anxious. Every intelligent adult must recognize the dangers, the upsets, and the changes involved in the total war upon which we are all embarked. Parents must, with the help of the community, appraise the real situation in which they specifically live. So how are parents to behave even tho anxious about their children?

Intelligent fear can be helpful. The dangers and risks that parents may have to face produce an actual fear that might better be admitted to themselves to start with. But there is a vast difference between an intelligent facing of a difficult or even dangerous situation, and an anxious and destructive dread of an unprepared for blow.

Children, far more than adults realize, sense the underlying thoughts and feelings of those they love. What parents think and feel about a situation has far more effect than anything they may say. Therefore it is wiser to be honest with your children, and to command their respect by talking to a certain extent, and quite normally, about the danger of air raids and fires, and the possibility of separations in the family when such dangers and possibilities actually exist.

[Naturally, one considers the age of the child in discussing all these matters.]

Call things by their right names. Above all, don't suppress or banish from family conversation all reference to war. It is a topic your children will certainly hear discussed everywhere else. Children can bear reality much better than the uncertainty created by a mystery. A specific suggestion on this point may be helpful: Use the same words that are heard constantly in school, on the street, and over the radio. Don't make up pretty names to soften the meaning of terms such as "black out," "alarms," "explosions," and the like. If an air-raid drill is planned at home, don't call it "a sort of fire drill." Fear of words communicates fear of the situation itself to the sensitive imagination of a child.

Appraise dangers frankly. It always is best for a child to hear of possible dangers from those he loves most. It is best for him to realize very early that those he trusts are preparing to face emergencies with him. This frank appraisal of dangers where they actually exist is an important step toward the sort of behavior that parents want to achieve, even tho they cannot escape their anxiety for their children.

When we are busy we have little time to worry. The next step follows from the fact that dependence of some one else on us for calmness and strength often helps us to be have as tho we really had both. And behaving as tho we were calm for the sake of others finally produces a degree of real calm. With reasonable conviction and courage we can try to understand what is ahead of us and what we should do about it.

The major part of this article is based upon information in a leaflet entitled "To Parents in Wartime," prepared by the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Wesson Oil—costs so little for delicious home-made dressings

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

Not every hand should be bid up to the hilt. I am not referring to the danger of being defeated in a contract but to a much more subtle point, as exemplified in the following hand:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ 9 7 3 2
♦ 10 5 4
♣ Q 8 7 3

WEST
♠ Q 9 8 6 4 3 2
♥ 8
♦ Q J 7 2
♣ 6

EAST
♠ K 7 5
♥ 10 6 4
♦ A 8 3
♣ K J 4 2

SOUTH
♠ 10
♥ A K Q J 5
♦ K 9 6
♣ A 10 9 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	2 spades
3 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

After South's strong bidding, North, with a sure spade trick, heart support, and some club strength, felt that there might be a good play for game. Nevertheless he refrained from raising.

His reasoning was this: The nonvulnerable opponents had mentioned, and agreed upon, the higher ranking spade suit. True, West had shown no disposition to overcall South's three hearts, but North knew this offered no assurance that he would permit a game contract by North-South to go uncontested. If North bid four hearts and the opponents were in any doubt as to their ability to defeat that contract, they certainly would persist to four spades. Of course considering East's mere single raise and West's apparent reluctance to rebid, it was probable that four spades could be defeated, but North had no guarantee to that effect and was not inclined to experiment. North [like all of us] had seen many a bid intended as a sacrifice turn out as a makable contract and did not intend to have that happen now.

Of course all of this reasoning took only a second and hence, when North passed, East hardly could know what was in his mind.

So South played the hand at three hearts and made four without difficulty, merely thru the caution of leading clubs twice thru East, and finally leading up to the diamond king. Paradoxically enough, North-South made their greatest possible score thru failure to bid game. They actually collected 90 points below the line and 130 above [100 honors and one extra trick], not to mention the potential value of a part-score. If North had bid four hearts, West, with his freak, unquestionably would have bid four spades and that contract could have been defeated only one trick.

Offer Winter Fur Hats in August Sales

BY REA SEEGER.

August is the month this year in which to order or select your winter fur hat. For the first time in shopping history, fur hats are tagged with special prices during the same period as the annual sales on fur coats and wraps. One of the most exciting collections is on display in a Chicago store . . . hats of every imaginable fur, from dramatic berets, pompadour or bang turbans to dashing high hats to add plenty of extra inches to the silhouette.

The beauties made of colored material are star attractions of the showing. The idea is . . . wear a dark fur coat and dress, but add dash and contrast with high colored velvet combined with fur. Cerise, magneta, and American Beauty are three lush red shades used with fur. The velvet is soft and twisted in stunning formation to accent the fur. Sometimes two contrasted shades of velvet, as Dresden blue or red with cerise, amethyst, or yellow, are combined with the fur.

Some of the hats are as flat as a fritter, with a double band of fur forming the rippled edge to flatter the coiffure and face. Other small high hats use the fur as tho it were thick flexible material. Twists, bows, double knots, and even ruchings or ruffles are a few of the effects achieved with extraordinary working of the skins.

Large hats, especially the tams and berets, are made entirely of fur so skilfully manipulated that there isn't any overwhelming bulk or heaviness. Brand new bonnet type fur hats are exceptionally young and bewitching when worn well back on the head. A band of fur encircles the outside edge, and decorations are a bit of colorful embroidery and the back of brilliant color, cerise, gold, yellow, Dresden blue, amethyst, or blonde velvet.

White Collar GIRL
BY RUTH MACKAY.

Railroaders Are Tops!

For the Perfect Boss contest from L. G.: "There's no doubt that railroad officials are the best bosses. I've done my share of stenog. work, and for exacting, but considerate, bosses hundreds of girls give these men the laurel wreath. And, did you miss the fact that they're 'way out front' in personal grooming? Yes, sister, if you want an A-1 boss, work for the railroad."

Personal Equation.

A well operated bank has assembled a group of questions to be filled out, periodically, by the supervisors to rate the employés. Altho the questions are carefully worded with fine distinctions, some doubt arises as to the human equation in this sort of thing. Reporting on the amount [and satisfactoriness] of work accomplished by an employé in one's department is a fairly clear cut matter. But, reporting on the varicolored behavior pattern, on "ability to handle the public" or "effect on co-workers" or on "appearance"—a difficult thing for one woman to evaluate in another woman—assumes a wholly objective viewpoint on the part of the supervisor.

Not as a criticism but as a sidelight on industrial relations it would be interesting to know:

1. Is there any appreciable difference between the man supervisor's report on women employés and the woman supervisor's report on her feminine subordinates?

2. Does a woman supervisor find it possible to appraise a good worker whose manner or personality she doesn't happen to like?

"My business career would have ended 10 years ago," one strongly individual woman remarked in commenting on this system of employé rating, "if Miss Scott, my immediate superior, were handed any such questionnaire about me. I'm sure she would not have checked 'pleasing' for my appearance, for she has never liked my looks, nor I hers. Yet, we've both been successful and in the same company, too."

Nathan Hale 1942!

Anent the Waac who divorced her husband so she could go into the army, N. J. J. suggests that the White Collar guy's lament now is: "My only regret is that I have but one wife to give to my country."

Woman's Work.

Notes from afar: All thru the east the smaller cities have women taxi drivers. . . . From the train window in the early morning light can be seen a new sight for city eyes: Women milk drivers, in slacks, hustling back to their trucks with empty bottles. . . . In New York, Rochester, Brooklyn, and other eastern cities women are rapidly replacing men draftees in detective agencies. One girl recently spent several days pasting labels on goldfish bowls to catch a lady shoplifter. . . . Caught her, too.

JURY COMPLETED IN MURDER TRIAL OF GOLF BAG SAM

Nine Women, Three Men to Hear Case.

Nine women and three men were chosen yesterday as the jury which is to try "Golf-bag Sam" Hunt for the murder of Michael Wade, Negro houseman, whom he is alleged to have shot to death following a traffic argument on July 5. The gangster, who won his sobriquet by carrying a machine gun in a golf bag during gang fighting days of prohibition, went on trial before Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court.

Sam Hunt.

Assistant State's Attorney David Leeds made the state's opening statement. He said the state will prove that the automobile in which Hunt was riding forced that in which Wade rode to the curb, that foul language was exchanged between the occupants of the cars and that Hunt leaped from his car "with his gun blazing."

Claims Hunt Unarmed.

Attorney William Scott Stewart in his opening statement for the defense, indicated he will show that Wade was armed with a gun and was shot during a struggle with Hunt for possession of it.

Earlier Stewart had obtained a postponement of the trial until Sept. 28, on the ground that Hunt was entitled to at least a month's continuance under the law.

Assistant State's Attorneys Gordon Nash and David Leeds objected when Stewart asked Judge Ward to grant "Golfbag Sam" his freedom on bonds.

"The charge is murder," Nash said, "and the state has sufficient proof to proceed."

Deny Hunt Bail.

The court denied the motion for bail but Stewart persisted. The court placed Hunt on the stand. Hunt testified Wade cut off his car at Indiana avenue and Cermak road the night of the shooting.

"Did you have a gun?" Stewart asked.

"No," Hunt replied. "One of the Negroes struck me in the face with a can. The other shot me in the leg."

Stewart then made his demand for immediate trial and selection of the jury was begun.

Hyman Gottfried, part-time chauffeur for Hunt, who was with him in the shooting, is charged with accessory to murder. He is at liberty on $5,000 bonds and his trial is pending.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 3 (AP).—Gov. Dwight Green today called a special election for Nov. 3 to fill vacancies on the 16th district Circuit court bench resulting from the resignations of Judge William J. Fulton of Sycamore and Judge Frank W. Shepherd of Elgin.

The special election in the district, which includes De Kalb, Du Page, Kane, and Kendall counties, will be held concurrently with the state-wide general election on the same day. Candidates must be nominated at least 75 days before the election.

600,000 VICTORY GARDENERS WILL FILL UP WAR BINS

Untroubled by seesaw reports from the fighting fronts, Illinois' 600,000 Victory gardeners have gone quietly about their business this summer and by fall will have produced vegetables at the rate of 100 pounds per garden, according to Lester J. Norris, state chairman of the Victory gardens committee.

A campaign is now under way to salvage this huge accumulation of produce, with the committee working in coöperation with the women's division of the council, the Food for Victory committee, the Garden Club of Illinois, and the Illinois State Nutrition committee.

CHARGE TO JURY SPURS DRIVE ON SLOT MACHINES

Judge Backs Independent Probes by Members.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Instructions given the newly impaneled grand jury yesterday by Judge Harold G. Ward, acting as chief justice of the Criminal court, assure further intensive prosecution of the slot machine racket in Cook county, according to Criminal court attachés. Judge Ward's statement was construed as approval of the slot machine crusade, begun by one of the July grand jurors, which resulted in orders to Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien to discharge his three police lieutenants.

Meanwhile, State's Attorney Courtney announced his intention of asking the new jury to seek evidence on which indictments may be voted against those responsible for the reappearance of the illegal devices last month. Under Judge Ward's instructions the coöperation of the grand jury is assured, prosecutors said.

Sanctions Private Investigations.

Edwin W. Eisendrath, 546 Hawthorne place, president of the Monarch Leather company, 1127 Division street, was appointed foreman of the August body.

"I hope you ladies and gentlemen will take your duties seriously," Judge Ward then said to the group. "The court wants to point out that the state's attorney is the legally constituted officer to carry on prosecution of gambling and present facts to the grand jury.

"However, when I say that, I do not mean in any manner to say that you cannot independently investigate such matters as you may deem proper under the circumstances.

"You have a perfect right under the law to make your own investigations unaided by county or state's attorney's officers. The court cautions you, however, not to engage in any independent investigations without reasonable proof that evidence will be obtained on which to act in your capacity as grand jurors."

The remarks were deemed significant because Adolph Helquist, a member of the July jury, started out on his own initiative and found slot machines in four taverns.

While the grand jury was being sworn, Chief James Fleming of Sheriff O'Brien's county highway police was conferring with the newly appointed lieutenants who replaced Henry Andel, Morton Leviton, and Fred Mulhausen, the discharged trio. The new officials are Lieut. John Burns of the Willow Springs station, Lieut. John Pufahl of the Morton Grove station, and Lieut. Alexander Maylath of the Homewood station.

"You can't be lackadaisical; you must go out yourself and see that the work is done," Fleming said to the new lieutenants.

Chief Fleming followed his lecture with a midnight surprise—an order replacing Pufahl. The order named Sergt. Anton Paulus of the Homewood station, as acting lieutenant at Morton Grove in Pufahl's place. Fleming's only comment was that it was for "the good of the service." Lieut. Paulus assumed his new duties at once. He is about 40 years old, lives at 4311 South Wood street, and has been a county highway policeman 14 years.

AUTOIST WHO RAN RED LIGHT SLAIN BY POLICE WHILE FLEEING AFOOT

Anthony Pocica, about 20 years old, 2332 West 19th street, was shot and killed early yesterday by Policeman John Heretik of the Lawndale station after an automobile chase thru southwest side streets. Heretik and his squad partner, Charles Drury, chased Pocica after they saw him drive thru a red light. At 2358 South Whipple street, they said, he leaped from the automobile he was driving while it was in motion and started to run. Heretik said he fired once into the air and once into the ground. It was believed the latter bullet struck a stone and ricocheted into Pocica's back. Albert Gladstone, 3506 Wilson avenue, a soft drink distributor, viewed the body and said Pocica was one of two bandits who entered his automobile Aug. 1 and robbed him of $70 and a watch.

N. U. SETS UP CAMP FOR ALL-STAR SQUAD

WASHINGTON PARK OPENING DAY BETTING GOES UP 57%

SIGNATOR WINS HANDICAP BY THREE LENGTHS

12,000 Put $459,610 Thru Mutuels.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Signator, the Woolford Farm's fast 4 year old colt, carried his winter season speed right into midsummer by winning the $4,000 Lakeside handicap, feature event of yesterday's opening program at Washington Park. After going to the post at 4 to 5 odds, he came home three lengths ahead of Mrs. Bennie Creech's Sales Talk. An equal distance farther back in third place was Some Man.

The spirited betting of 12,000 who gathered to launch the Washington Park meeting gave indications that this track is going to enjoy the same increase that has been recorded at other racing centers this season. The mutuel handle was $459,610, an increase of $167,586 over the $292,024 which went thru the machines on opening day last season. The gain amounted to 57 per cent.

He Likes Chicago Tracks.

Following a good showing in Florida during the winter, Signator had been campaigned sparingly during the summer but he has done a lot of running in the few times he has been to the post. His victory yesterday was his third in four starts on Chicago area tracks. He won a handicap on the opening day of the Lincoln Fields meeting. His other success was achieved at the expense of Best Seller and Smacked in the Clang handicap recently at Arlington Park. On that occasion he ran the seven furlongs in the blazing time of 1:22 2-5.

He was sent out yesterday on a track which was so far from top condition that an overnight field of 17 was cut to 6 by wholesale scratches. Among the withdrawals was Alsab. His handlers decided it would be unwise to ask him to run a hard race over a difficult track in his first start since recovering from a splint.

Smacked Leads, Then Quits.

While the heaviest betting support was going to Signator at 4 to 5, Daily Trouble was being held at 4 to 1, Smacked at 6 to 1 and Sales Talk at 7 to 1. Happy Pilot was a 10 to 1 shot and Some Man completed the field at 20 to 1.

On the break from the gate in this seven furlong dash, Smacked went out as usual to take the lead. Jack Richard got Signator away alertly and kept him close beside Smacked as they went down the backstretch. On the turn, Signator went to the front and soon after the stretch run began he drew out to a lead of three lengths. Smacked gave up in the straightaway and dropped back to finish fifth. Meanwhile Sales Talk and Some Man were closing well to take second and third.

Burgoolette Triumphs.

Those who backed Signator collected $3.60, $2.80 and $2.40 across the board. His time for the seven furlongs over a slow track was 1:25 2-5.

The Marsch family, which enjoyed such a successful season at Arlington with the stake victories of Occupation and Blue Delight, got away to a successful start at Washington Park. Mrs. John Marsch's Burgoolette beat a band of 2 year olds in a six furlong dash.

This filly was established as the 7 to 5 favorite against seven rivals of the $2,500 class. Doctor Rush also drew considerable backing at 2 to 1.

Immediately after the break Navy Cross, a stake winner during the Churchill Downs meeting, went out to make the pace. Burgoolette followed, several lengths farther back and Ak-

CARE, FEEDING OF 70 PLAYERS IS MAJOR TASK

Team to Assemble Saturday.

Musicians!

COLLEGE musicians and former members of the All-Star band residing in the Chicago district are invited to participate in the ceremony between the halves of the College All-Stars-Chicago Bears game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 28. A limited number of senior high school musicians also will be accepted. Musicians should write G. Cliffe Bainum, band director, Fisk hall, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern university is ready for the All-Star football players who will report Saturday to start practice for the battle with the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field, Aug. 28.

K. L. Wilson.

For the ninth consecutive year the college men will be housed on the north shore campus and will hold daily drills in Dyche stadium. Last year two dormitories were turned over completely to the All-Stars for the three weeks period. The same buildings will be occupied again by the men who now have been chosen in the national election to oppose the champions of the National Football league.

Squad Is Largest.

The college players will have their meals in the dining room of one of these buildings, as has been the custom since 1934. Housing, meals, practice equipment, and physical care of the squad produce a task greater than that for any other athletic team if for no other reason than no larger group of players, in any sport, ever is brought together. College football teams, for instance, seldom number 70 and in the rare exceptions when squads of this size are brought together, the group does not require the complete service given to the All-Star squad.

The job of assembling the All-Star team began a week ago, after the fans of the nation had chosen it, when transportation was furnished to members of the squad to come to Evanston. Later, of course, they will be returned by train, plane, or by any other means of transportation they select. When they report Saturday they will be assigned rooms. Last year coaches and players occupied 74 individual rooms.

276 Meals Served Daily.

In 20 days last year 5,520 meals were served, an average of 276 each day. Hours for arising, meal hours, and camp regulations are drawn up in advance and conform to the plans of the coaches. Lunchtime and dinner time may be changed from day to day depending on whether afternoon or evening drills are held. In general, the players always will have an outdoor drill each morning or meet for blackboard instructions.

K. L. [Tug] Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern, is the head of the army of employés required in the All-Stars camp. Actual supervision falls to Ade Schumacher, his assistant. Nearly 100 work in various capacities to keep the camp running smoothly. Last year Rut Walter, member of the Northwestern coaching staff, and Ike Kepford, were in charge of the dormitories. Both now are in service and must be replaced.

Otto Graham, Northwestern half back, returns to have charge of the 57,305 Boo as Dim-Out Stops New York Rally.

New York, Aug. 3 (AP).—Under dramatic circumstances which brought sustained booing from a crowd of 57,305 persons, the Brooklyn Dodgers beat the New York Giants, 7 to 4, tonight in an army relief game ended by dim-out regulations in the midst of a ninth inning rally by the Giants. Under baseball law the score reverted to the end of the eighth.

The disapproval of the crowd over the way the contest ended was expressed in a demonstration that continued after all lights in the Polo grounds had been extinguished except a spotlight which lighted the American flag while an orchestra played "The Star Spangled Banner" in what had been intended for a stirring and patriotic closing ceremony.

Walker, Camilli Hit Homers.

The impetus for the Dodgers' triumph had been furnished by Dixie Walker's fourth home run of the season with two on in the third inning and by Dolph Camilli's homer which knocked the former Flatbusher, Van Lingle Mungo, out of the box in the fifth.

But the Giants remained undaunted, tying the score with three runs in the fourth, tallying another run in the seventh and threatening Whitlow Wyatt again in the ninth when the game was called.

Bill Werber led off with a sharp single to left and while the huge crowd shouted for a homer, Mel Ott walked. Then Umpire George Magerkurth took off his mask, stepped out in front of the plate, and waved his arms to indicate the game was over.

Crowd and Players Confused.

But both the crowd and players were confused, the Brooklyn team kept its position in the field and several of the Giants remained clustered on the first base line until the fans, who had been allowed to overflow onto the field during the game, finally broke the police lines and headed for the exits.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

AMONG the recent orders for tickets to the All-Star football game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28 is one from Harry Smith, the All-American from Southern California who captained the 1940 college squad. . . . Smith will attend with his chief, Don Faurot of the University of Missouri. . . . Faurot is studying the Bears' T formation in the hope of learning some new passing tricks to go with his own T, which primarily is a running system. . . . Eighteen year old Jeanne Cline, the Bloomington, Ill., golf star, has been playing since she was 12. . . . She learned the game from Sandy Armour, brother of the better known Tommy of Chicago's Medinah club. . . . Forrest [Woody] Jensen, former Pirate outfielder, is athletic director at a big airplane plant in Wichita, Kas. . . . The Tigers are leading both major leagues in errors this season, but they are a long way from the all-time record of 425 miscues in 136 games established by the Tigers of 1901. . . . Connie Mack agrees both Amos Rusie and Walt Johnson were fast, but his nomination for the speediest pitcher he ever has seen is Pink Hawley, who was purchased by Connie for his Pittsburgh club from St. Louis in 1895. . . . The price was $3,500 and three players. . . . Bob Patrick, the Tiger outfielder who was forced out of action by a line drive which bounced off his knee in batting practice early in the season, has notified General Manager Jack Zeller he will take the rest of the season off to await the arrival of an heir in his Fort Smith, Ark., home. . . . Zeller is trying to persuade Bob to join the club's Beaumont farm. . . .

The Foxburg, Pa., Country club claims one of the oldest golf courses in the United States. . . . It was laid out in 1887 and Harry H. Harvey, one of the founders, still plays it daily. . . . Ann Arbor fans already are making hotel reservations in South Bend for the eve of the game with Notre Dame Nov. 14. . . . The Giants and Yankees have completed plans for spring training. . . . The former will return to Miami and the world champions to St. Petersburg. . . . Dmitri Shostokovich, the eminent Russian composer, would rather watch a good, rough soccer game than listen to one of his own symphonies. . . . Bob Tarleton, the new manager at St. Paul, wears his civvies on the bench, á la Connie Mack. . . . Lieut. Whitey Baccus, former Southern Methodist basketball coach, has charge of the track squad at a preflight naval school in Georgia. . . . Whitey figures he has a pretty fair nucleus in Oklahoma's Bill Lyda. . . . Les Burge, who is knocking down fences for Montreal, probably will be Dolph Camilli's understudy next spring.

The Wanderer.

I've roamed the earth for untold years
In search of quiet and of rest,
But some ambitious man appears
Who always thwarts me in my quest.

Altho I've journeyed here and there,
That which I seek I cannot find,
For hate and greed are everywhere
And man to tolerance is blind.

The blood of men who bravely fought,
That I might realise and know
The priceless things I long have sought,
Besmears my robes once white as snow.

And now a man who knows no God
Aspires to grind the earth to dust
And drench with blood it's fertile sod
To satisfy his awful lust.

But those who place their faith in me,
Will triumph over ruthless Might
And soon my robes again will be Devoid of blood and spotless white.

And when that wondrous day shall come,
My aimless wanderings will cease,
And bursting shell and muffled drum
Will sound no more, for I am Peace!

WHITE SOX HAVE FUN AND DEFEAT CAMP GRANT, 9-2

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 3.—James J. Dykes, the well known showman, took care of the soldiers this afternoon in the way of good clean fun and amusement. Of course, his White Sox whipped the Camp Grant team 9 to 2, but the 1,000 khaki clad youngsters didn't mind this setback in view of such mirth provokers as Grandpops Mule Haas and Bing Miller playing the outfield and Umpire-in-Chief Bill Summers doing his bit by wearing black glasses after being chided about hazy vision.

The Sox provided room for horse play by making an early removal of the competitive feature. Private Dick Hirsch, Sox farm property, apparently was a bit awed by seeing the team with which he hopes to find employment some day. He also was distressed by some absentee third basing, the upshot being a five run first inning. The major leaguers finished Hirsch in the fourth and whatever they accomplished subsequently was due to blunders behind Private Joe Rogalski.

Sox Use Three Pitchers.

Except for Turk Skurski and John Young the army team didn't whittle off much of a batting dividend against a trio of Sox moundsmen. Joe Haynes served the first three innings, yielding the enemy's only runs. T. Skurski's bat nicked Joe for a triple and a double and Young got a single. Bill Dietrich's three inning term was marked by only two hits and it was T. Skurski and Young again. Lee Ross drew the last three innings and also had to accept Haas and Miller for fly chasing assistants. Ross was touched for two hits, one a fly ball on which Miller became slightly confused.

Meet Tigers Today.

The Sox will resume work on the main line tomorrow afternoon against the Tigers in the opener of a three game series at Comiskey Park. It will be Ted Lyons' turn to assume the pitching burden, the idea being to give him a chance at his

Britons See a Ball Game, Jeers and All

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Wembley stadium, England's most famous sports arena, echoed to the crack of baseball bats today while between 30,000 and 40,000 watched a Canadian army team defeat an American aggregation of soldiers, 5 to 3.

A goodly portion of the crowd was made up of Canadian and American servicemen. Their cheering and jeering in true baseball-fan style was something of a shock to the staid English spectators, who always watch their athletic competitors with polite restraint. In pre-war days, Wembley stadium was the scene of football, rugby and tennis.

Mrs. Winston Churchill, charming in a gray suit, was among those present. Her main concern was centered on the chest protector worn by the plate umpire, Pvt. John J. McNabb of Wayne, Pa. "What is that garment?" she asked. "I stand behind the bat," explained Pvt. McNabb. Mrs. Churchill smiled as tho she understood.

A Pop Fly Is a Home Run to This British Spectator.

When a Canadian batter lifted a pop fly which was caught, a little boy asked his dad to explain the play.

"One of their home runs, I fancy," was the answer.

Later the Canadians and Americans swarmed around an umpire and strenuously argued about a called third strike. The youngster wanted an explanation for this.

"They seem to have lost their tempers, son," replied his father. "It is something we do not tolerate in cricket. It is not proper to argue with the referee, you know. They might report him to the committee, but not during the game."

The doughboys and Canadians, with their girls, had a wonderful time. Before it was over some of the home folk were joining in the cheering, tho it was patent they didn't know what it was all about, even tho the program carried an explanation of the game and a diagram of a baseball field.

Corporal from Chicago Serves as Official Scorekeeper.

The task of recording the Canadians' victory fell to Corp. Albert R. Byerley of Chicago, who was the official scorekeeper. The Canadians made all their runs in the first inning on only two hits. The American rallied for their three scores in the seventh.

Corp. George J. Ciccarelli of Philadelphia was captain of the losers. Except for three players from Michigan the entire squad was comprised of Pennsylvanians.

The Canadians were recruited from Ontario, Nova Scotia, Alberta, and Saskatchewan.

CHICAGO GETS ZALE-ABRAMS BOUT FOR USO

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Middleweight Champion Tony Zale and Georgie Abrams, first class specialists in the navy, will meet in a 10 round nontitle bout in Chicago the week of Sept. 14 for the benefit of the USO, it was announced yesterday by Mike Jacobs, under whose promotion the event will be held in cooperation with Comm. Gene Tunney, head of the navy's special events department.

The site was not announced, but since Comiskey park will be occupied by the White Sox the greater part of the week, the bout likely will be offered in Wrigley field or Soldiers' field. Jacobs usually conducts an outdoor card on Thursday, so the date probably will be Sept. 17.

Robinson to Fight on Card.

Ray Robinson, called the uncrowned welterweight title holder, will appear in a second feature on the card, probably against Tony Motisi of the Catholic Youth organization. Robinson, who recently maintained his undefeated record by beating Sammy Angott, lightweight ruler, in an overweight battle, will be making his Chicago debut as a professional.

Robinson made a successful previous appearance in this city as a member of the New York intercity Golden Gloves team which held Chicago's representatives to an 8 to 8 tie in the Stadium in 1939. Ray contributed one of Manhattan's points by conquering Tony Ancona in a featherweight bout.

Second Meeting of Pair.

It will be the second meeting between Zale, who is stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training station, and Abrams, who is at Jacksonville, Fla. In a previous fight in Madison Square Garden on Nov. 28, Zale gained undisputed right to his championship by conquering Abrams in a hard 15 round fight.

Originally it had been planned to have Zale risk his belt against Abrams, but Tony's representatives reminded Comm. Tunney and Jacobs that the Gary fighter has not fought since losing to Billy Conn last Feb. 13 and needed a warmup fight before risking the championship.

Zale agreed to put his title on the line in a third contest against Abrams within 30 days after the September match if the latter beats him.

Closing of the Zale-Abrams encore spoiled Promoter Irving Schoenwald's plan to have the champion meet the winner of a 10 round event involving Anton Christoforidis, former light heavyweight champion, and Nate Bolden in Marigold outdoor arena next Monday.

rontown was running third. As they went around the curve the field was well strung out, for the leaders were showing pretty fair speed in the difficult going.

Navy Cross held an advantage of two lengths as they came into the stretch. Steve Brooks then shook up the favorite. Responding well, Burgoolette came up on even terms with Navy Cross. The pacemaker then gave way and dropped back while Burgoolette went on to finish all by herself, five lengths ahead of her nearest rival. Dr. Rush closed well to take second money and Time Out was third. The winner's prices were $4.80, $3 and $2.60 across the board.

Hometown Takes Maiden Event.

Hometown, owned by Leslie Combs II. of Lexington, scored a popular victory in an event for maiden 3 year olds. This daughter of Jamestown, which had never started as a juvenile, had been third in all four of her previous efforts this season. She left no doubt of her ability to win yesterday.

Jockey George Martin sent her to the front immediately after the break and she dominated the race all the way, winning by six lengths. Burgoo Mary was second by a narrow margin over Perfecto Phil. The winner returned $5.60, $3, and $2.40.

Bill Petersen Holds Eagle to 10 Round Draw

Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, held Charley Eagle of Waterbury, Conn., to a 10 round draw in Marigold outdoor arena last night. Referee Bernard Weissman voted 51-49 for Petersen and Judge Jack Ripple scored the contest a deadlock, while John Bray, the other judge, voted 53-47 for Eagle.

Petersen weighed 202½, 26 more than Eagle. A crowd of 1,954 contributed to a gross gate $2,688.

Joe Dupont, south side junior welterweight, scored an upset when he stopped Ramey McKnight of Milwaukee in the third round of a semiwindup set for six rounds. McKnight was down in the second and five times in the third before Referee Harry Mueller stopped it.

Al Walker and Bill Jordan, 141 pound rivals, went five rounds to a draw in a slugging match.

In other contests Tito Taylor beat Mike Sopko, Indiana Harbor welterweight, in four rounds, and Al Jordan stopped Walter Schramm, East Chicago heavyweight, in four.

Geisel, Hurt on June 27, Is Released from Hospital

Harry Geisel, veteran American league umpire, has been released from Mercy hospital where he had been confined since June 27 following an injury in a White Sox-Yankee game in Comiskey park. DALY, ATWATER GAIN 3D ROUND IN CULVER TOURNEY

Bob David Moves Up; Beskin, Evert Lose.

Culver, Ind., Aug. 3 [Special].—Just 47 players of an original field of 108 remained tonight in the National Junior and Boys' Tennis tournament after two full rounds had been completed in the boys' section and the juniors had moved well into the second round.

The favorites were still in there, of course. Budge Patty of Hollywood, defending champion, drew a bye. Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Cal., 1941 boys' champion, defeated Bill Friel of Portsmouth, O., 6-3, 6-1, while second seeded Harry Likas Jr., of San Francisco, slashed his way past Richard Randall of Oak Park, Ill., 6-1, 6-2. Ted Norpoth, of Houston, Tex., fifth seeded, had a busy day, first defeating Norman Appel of Cincinnati, 8-6, 6-4, then coming back to whip young Jerry Evert of Chicago, 6-4, 6-3, after Jerry had taken the opening set, 4-6. The Chicagoan had beaten Dick Friedman of St. Louis, 6-2, 6-2, in his first round match this morning.

Daly, Atwater Move Up.

A couple of other Chicagoland youngsters moved into the third round. Benny Migdow of Chicago moved up to the second round on a default. Marvin Beskin of the north side ran into Andy Paton, an Ann Arbor, Mich., youngster, and was beaten, 3-6, 7-5, 7-2, in the first round.

Favorites in the boys' division won all along the line in the first two rounds. Leading the procession was top seeded Sammy Handel of Philadelphia, a polished young tennis workman, who routed Chicago's Joey Weiss without the loss of a game and won over Howard Calloway of Hamilton, Ga., 7-5, 2-6, 6-1, in the second round. Wade Herren, seeded second, defeated D. Clark Majors of Houston, Tex., 6-0, 6-0, to enter the third round.

Bob David Comes Thru.

Bob David, Chicago boy champion, won his first round match by default, but was forced to three sets before conquering Don Woolsey, Ventura, Cal., 7-5, 2-6, 6-2, in the second round. M'Namara's 66 Wins Medal in City Amateur

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Sergt. Frank McNamara, an old settler in the precincts of the City Amateur golf tournament, yesterday returned to the opening phase of the 38th version of the town's oldest golf show and won the qualifying medal with a 31—35—66, four under par for the Jackson park course, sit of the tourney since its foundation. The ruddy faced Chicago policeman from Lincolnshire, who recently won the Knights of Columbus championship, held a one stroke advantage over the field of approximately 300, largest in the history of the Amateur.

McNamara, a perennial contender who reached the semi-finals in 1940, after having been a quarter-finalist the three preceding years, was one shot to the good over 20 year old Marshall [Moe] Springer of Old Orchard. Moe, who cut his golfing teeth on Chicago's parks and fee courses, was in with a fancy 31—36—67, for command of second place.

Kletcke and Judelson Warm Up.

Ed Kletcke of Beverly, winner of last year's championship, and Hymie Judelson of Old Orchard, another former title holder, were exempt from the qualifying round, but elected to warm up by going around, anyway. Ed had a 37—39—76, while Hymie came in with a 38—41—79. Two other former champions, Chick Evans of Edgewater and Harold Mathisen of Woodridge, were absent from the medal play exercises, but will join the match play cast, which will get to work today with 32 matches in the championship flight.

The second round tomorrow also will be a single competition, consisting of 16 man-to-man battles. On Thursday, two 18 hole matches will be played, reducing the field in the championship bracket to the semi-finalists, who will play 36 holes Friday.

The cards for McNamara and Springer follow:

Par—Out	444	443	434—34
McNamara—Out	343	443	434—31
Springer—Out	343	343	434—31

Bears Exercise and Footballs Go Into Action

A few of the Chicago Bears yesterday took some light exercise on the lake front and it wasn't by accident that a few footballs popped up here and there, especially with George Halas, owner-coach of the professional champions, looking on.

Halas explained that the participants were only his quarter backs and centers, who need more instruction in the T formation man in motion than the other players. Official practice will begin Saturday at St. John's military academy in Delafield, Wis., for the College All-Star game Aug. 28 in Soldiers' field.

Cubs Absorb 6-5 Defeat on Syracuse Stop

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 3 [Special].—The bewildered Cubs, who will open a two game battle with the Pirates in Pittsburgh tomorrow for sixth place in the National league standings, warmed up tonight in a duel with the sixth place Syracuse Chiefs of the International league and the result augured ill for their chances against Frankie Frisch's men.

After spotting the Chiefs a 6 to 1 lead in the first sixth innings, the Chicagoans fought gamely back to score four runs in the last two innings, but, as happens so often with do-or-die rallies in their own circuit, the effort fell just short and the Chiefs won, 6 to 5.

Errickson Pounded.

Earl Harrist pitched all the way for Syracuse and yielded seven hits. The Chiefs made two runs in the second inning off Jake Mooty, one time Syracuse pitcher. Dick Errickson was mauled for three runs and four hits in the fifth, and another marker in the sixth. Jim Foxx put the Cubs back in the game in the ninth when his double off the left field wall scored Rip Russell and Dom Dallessandro. Then Bob Scheffing, batting for Errickson, grounded out to end the game.

Bithorn to Hurl Today.

The series in Pittsburgh, with sixth place at stake, should prove much more exciting in a negative way than the Dodgers' so-called National league pennant race. Tomorrow's game is scheduled for the afternoon and Wednesday's for after supper. Hi Bithorn is scheduled to start for the Cubs and Ken Heintzelman for the Pirates tomorrow.

Johnny Schmitz, Cubs' Pitcher, Enlists in Navy

Johnny Schmitz, 21 year old southpaw pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, enlisted in the navy as a seaman yesterday, at 225 South Clark street. His home is in Wausau, Wis., where he was to report to his draft board soon.

Johnny Schmitz.

Schmitz came to the Cubs last September from the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association. He had won three games and lost seven this season. He left the Cubs in Brooklyn over the week-end, having gone out of the game Saturday after being hit by a line drive while pitching.

Lures for Bass Need Charms of Music, Too

BY BOB BECKER.

How to make a fly rod bass bug weedless by using the metal E string of a mandolin and doing a little fancy hemstitching with a pair of pliers is one of the interesting educational features of a fishing trip along the Mississippi river near Prairie du Chien, Wis.

When we were bass fishing on the backwater lakes, sloughs, and bayous above Prairie du Chien a few days ago we took our lesson in rigging up bass bugs with E strings from Les Stringer, who coaches football in the fall and worries the bass during the summer months.

Protection Is Imperative.

Because so many casts with a bass bug must be made into willows, around snags, among lily pads, and into the heavy masses of duckweed on the water it's imperative that you use a weedless bass bug or other lure. If you don't toss a lure that is equipped with a guard over the hook it's no dice and no fish. The boys along the river said there was nothing to do but take their favorite lures and fit them with weed guards, so they raided the music stores to get their materials.

Stringer gave us our first lesson in threading an E string thru the head of a pop n' wiggle bass bug one hot afternoon when he had parked the boat in the shade of a big maple tree. He made an opening in the head of the lure with a needle, thrust the wire thru it, buried one end in the lure and then brought the wire back over and above the point of the hook to form a protective guard above it. The entire operation took less than a minute and a half.

Wouldn't Foul on Weeds.

This transformed pop n' wiggle bass lure later traveled right thru the duckweed and even climbed over snags without fouling so we could catch bass with it without trouble. Before Stringer concluded [for our benefit] his open air class on how to make bass bugs make music with mandolin string guards we even got a demonstration on how to make a whiskerbug bass fly weedless. This effective bucktail, one of our favorites for it can be fished either dry or wet, also gets plenty of bass from the Mississippi river lakes. We tried it out last year while using a 4⅝ ounce rod.

HARBERT SHOOTS 66, WINS PLAYOFF BY NINE STROKES

Battle Creek Pro Routs Harrison at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 3 (AP).—While his wife rode behind him in an army jeep and tossed smiles after every shot, young Chick Harbert easily won the St. Paul Golf Open championship today.

So inspired was the 27 year old Battle Creek, Mich., pro—son of a pro—that he confidently swaggered around the Hilly Keller public course in 66, six strokes under par and the lowest round of the entire tournament.

Harrison Shoots 73.

His opponent, E. C. [Dutch] Harrison, the Arkansas traveler of Harrisburg, Pa., played tag with the traps and rough most of the day to take a 75. Harbert thus won the play-off by a nine stroke margin, one of the largest in any tournament play-off sponsored by the PGA.

For his victory, Harbert the Lark [he whistles while he putts], pocketed a check for $1,000. It was presented before a crowd of 1,000 galleryites—remnants of some 12,000 who watched the tournament during the week—while Mrs. Harbert stood proudly by his side. The play-off was completed when she stood on tip-toe and kissed him. The crowd liked the final chapter and so did Chick. Said the young pro: "I'm a pretty lucky guy all around, folks."

Raises Earnings to $4,692.

The check boosted Harbert's money earnings for the season to $4,692 and left him in sixth place among the top ten coin collectors. Harrison wrapped $750 around his bank roll for a total of $4,100.

In five rounds of golf during his trail to the title, Harbert fashioned scores of 68—73—68—71—66—346, 14 strokes under Keller's 36—36—72 par.

JUDGE APPROVES SEIZURE, SO FIRM PAYS BACK TAXES

Decision Bolsters County's Collection Drive.

County Treasurer John Toman's efforts to collect past due personal property taxes were bolstered yesterday when Judge Oscar F. Nelson in Superior court denied the Crystal Pure Candy company, 2611 West Chicago avenue, a request for a temporary injunction to restrain the treasurer from seizing and selling its property for taxes.

The company owed a balance of $1,061 on a 1941 personal property tax bill of $1,402, having paid $341. The injunction was sought last week when deputies from Toman's office threatened to tack up a sign on the premises ordering a sale for taxes.

They Get Quick Results.

After Judge Nelson's decision, Toman sent the squad out again to schedule a tax sale, but the deputies returned with the company's check for $1,103, representing full payment of the unpaid balance plus penalties accrued since May 1, the date the taxes were due.

At the court hearing David H. Kraft, attorney for the company, contended the assessment on which the tax bill was based was so excessive that it amounted to "fraud." He admitted, however, that no protest was made to the board of tax appeals, the agency set up by law to hear assessment protests.

Kraft said the company originally filed a schedule with the assessor's office, showing property value of $9,320, which would have resulted in a tax, but that the assessment was "arbitrarily" boosted by the assessor.

Cites Tax Return.

Edmund Fallon, assistant state's attorney, told the court, however, the company's federal income tax returns showed machinery and equipment alone were valued at $62,000.

Toman predicted the decision in this case will strengthen his hand in making further collections. He reported his collection squads have taken in $396,856 in 1941 personal property taxes from 1,492 companies in the last two months. The deputies have called on 3,589 companies owing $3,256,200. The collections are 12.1 per cent of the total owed.

CITY MAY VOTE TO AUTHORIZE USE OF SUBWAY

Mayor Kelly said yesterday the city may have to hold a referendum at the Nov. 3 elections to authorize the elevated lines to operate the State street subway. He said delay by the Illinois Commerce commission in approving Chicago's traction merger plan may make it impossible to form the proposed unified company in time to operate the subway.

The commerce commission last week continued hearings on the merger plan until Sept. 15 over protests from the traction lines and in the face of a request by the city that the plan be approved this month. The commission ruled that time should be allowed to permit Chicago's suburbs to intervene at the hearings and also said the companies' evidence was not in proper shape to proceed at this time.

"The commission has had plenty of time to study the traction plan," Mayor Kelly said. "I am sorry if the commissioners choose to delay action on it for political reasons. This is just another example that Chicago needs home rule of its affairs."

SUIT BY MIDDLE WEST ATTACKS POWERS OF SEC

Utility Asserts Act Is Unconstitutional.

Purcell L. Smith.

The Middle West corporation filed suit in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Washington, D. C., yesterday, challenging the constitutionality of certain discretionary powers of the Securities and Exchange commission.

The SEC has ordered the big utility holding company to terminate corporate existence of either the Central and South West Utilities company or the American Public Service company, subsidiary holding companies, and to change the capitalization of the serviving company to a single class of common stock.

The company's suit argued that the SEC's order, and the act itself if construed to authorize the order, violates provisions of the Constitution which limit federal regulatory powers to interstate commerce or the mails. The legal action was from Chicago directed by Purcell L. Smith, president of Middle West.

Says Authority Is in State.

Middle West contended that the right to regulate and alter capitalization of either subsidiary and the relative rights of their security holders rests solely with state authorities in Delaware, where the companies are chartered.

The petition attacked the SEC act as containing no guides or standards as to what constitutes an unduly complicated corporate structure or an unfair distribution of voting power among security holders, thus creating an unlawful delegation of legislative power in violation of the Constitution.

It said the SEC's one stock plan could not adequately protect the prior interests of the holders of preferred shares of both subsidiaries without depriving holders of junior issues of Central and South West Utilities of the "leverage to which they are entitled in respect to both earnings and assets."

Would Change Rights.

The result of the order, the petition alleges, is to change the rights of public holders of various securities of Central and American. Such holders are not parties to the SEC's action, nor does the act authorize any action against them, it argued.

Middle West declared that the SEC order requires an act on the part of the utility not within its power to perform, since Middle West's holdings in the two companies are not sufficient to assure consummation of a one stock plan within the requirements of the corporation law of Delaware.

Litigation between the companies and the SEC grew out of Middle West's attempt to effect a voluntary merger of Central and American involving issuance of new preferred and common stocks in exchange for outstanding shares of the two subsidiaries.

Merger Plan Rejected.

The SEC rejected the plan after two years' consideration on the ground that the preferred stock would amount to about 85 per cent of the new company's capitalization and would result in a "top heavy" corporate structure.

Middle West owns 61.04 per cent of Central's outstanding common, 46.55 per cent of its $7 prior preferred, all of the $6 preferred and 56.34 per cent of the $7 preferred shares. It holds 99.79 per cent of American common and 46.61 per cent of the preferred stock.

The petition sets forth additional grounds for relief from the SEC's ruling, and seeks a modification of the order requiring Central and American to proceed with a consolidation as offered in an amended plan in the event the entire order is not set aside by the court.

Approves Two Steps.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission approved today a plan for the dissolution of one subsidiary and the sale of securities of another unit in the North American Light and Power company system.

Under the plan all property, except cash, of McPherson Oil and Gas Development company in Kansas will be sold to Kansas Power and Light company for $38,394 cash and McPherson will be dissolved.

North American Light and Power also will sell to Kansas all its holdings of 1,250 shares, or 50 per cent, of the outstanding no par capital stock of the Blue River Power company for $30,500 cash.

Honduras Agrees to Sell Its Excess Rubber to U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—Honduras has signed a rubber agreement with the United States, the state department announced today, under which all rubber it produces up to the end of 1946 will be sold to the Rubber Reserve company. The agreement is the eighth to be concluded to obtain western hemisphere rubber for the united war effort.

Offers Block of Atlantic Coast Line 'Unified' Bonds

New York, Aug. 3 (AP).—A block of $844,000 of Atlantic Coast Line unified 4½ per cent bonds due in 1964 was offered late today by a banking group headed by Lehman Brothers.

Registrations for Fall Market Events Exceed Expectations

Officials of the Chicago Association of Commerce said last night earlier fears that war conditions might slow up the annual Chicago fall market weeks which opened yesterday were dispelled with the arrival of several thousand out of town department store and other retail executives. The retailers will attend the annual midsummer meeting of the Interstate Merchants council and the other related trade events sponsored by the association.

By last night, merchants and buyers from 19 states had registered. It was predicted that within a few days attendance at the trade and style shows and other special events scheduled for the next two weeks will be close to the 20,000 registered a year ago.

"Grab Everything in Sight."

Association of commerce representatives said the heaviest demand yesterday was for women's wear, dry goods, toys, gift articles, and general merchandise. One official said that with uncertainty prevailing concerning goods available for the coming holiday buying season, merchants were "grabbing everything in sight."

The sessions of the merchants council will be held in the Hotel La Salle and will continue thru Saturday. Two exhibits, the Chicago Gift show and the Chicago Merchandise fair, will be held in the Palmer House. The Style Creators show will be staged in the Knickerbocker hotel, the Style Exhibitors display in the Morrison hotel, and the Apparel show, the China, Glass and Pottery market and the Merchandise Mart Gift show in the Merchandise Mart.

The china and gift shows in the Merchandise Mart will continue thru Aug. 15. Mart officials said registration yesterday was only about 10 per cent under last year and predicted more buyers and merchants would register as the market gets under way.

Plan Price Rule Conference.

Tomorrow night a "grass roots" price control conference will be held in the La Salle. Speakers will be J. K. Galbraith, head of the price division of the Office of Price administration; Fred Lazarus Jr., chairman of the retailers advisory committee; D. J. Duncan, professor of marketing at Northwestern university and head consultant in the division of civilian supply of the War Production board, and Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the association of commerce.

Today's program includes clinics, luncheons and a banquet.

Treasury 'Tap' Offer Brings Large Buying

Active response in Chicago and New York City to the treasury's reopened "tap" issue of 2½ per cent bonds of 1962-'67 was reported yesterday by victory fund committee officials and financial houses.

R. Winfield Ellis, sales director for the metropolitan Chicago victory fund committee, said the demand was "excellent." The new provision in the bonds permitting them to be used, under prescribed conditions, for payment of federal estate taxes on a par and accrued interest basis, at the death of the owner, has made the issue attractive to wealthy individuals, Ellis said.

Metropolitan Order Largest.

E. P. Hall, chairman of the New York victory fund committee, said that the largest subscription there on the first day was the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's order for 125 million dollars of the issue. Metropolitan took 100 million of the original offering of the "tap" bonds in May. Mutual Life Insurance company subscribed for 70 million, compared with 60 million in the May offering.

The amount of the reopened offering is not specifically limited, and the books will remain open until further notice. In contrast with the war bonds, which are designed for appeal to the public, the "tap" issue is aimed at institutional investors such as insurance companies, trust funds, pension funds, estates, and wealthy individuals.

Commercial Banks Ineligible.

The tap bonds cannot be purchased, until after 10 years, by banks which accept demand deposits.

Subscriptions during the original offering period in May totaled 882 million dollars. The date of issue for the bonds was May. 5. Income from the bonds is subject to all federal taxes now in force or to be imposed hereafter.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. recently requested victory fund committees thruout the nation to assist in the sale of the issue.

1,000 QUIT JOBS ON WAR PROJECT IN WEST VIRGINIA

Point Pleasant, W. Va., Aug. 3 (AP).—Approximately 1,000 men left their jobs today at the West Virginia Ordnance works the government is building near here. The army's public relations officer, Lieut. James Raber, said that "the whole thing seems to be the result of a misunderstanding."

"There has been no official strike call," he said, "and no union or union leader is assuming responsibility for the walkout. Apparently the workers, approximately 1,000, walked out in an effort to get a higher wage scale, but no formal demands have been made."

Drivers Refuse Stamps.

New York, Aug. 3 [Special].—Ten truck drivers for the Ellery Truck and Supply company went on strike today in protest against payment of 10 per cent of their wages in war stamps. The men are members of a CIO union. Other workers and the management said that a majority of the employés had agreed to take part of their pay in war stamps.

WESTINGHOUSE DROPS PROFIT SHARING PLAN; NET TOO INDEFINITE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. [Special].—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company announced today its intention to abandon its wage and salary payment plan under which all employés shared in earnings over and above their regular pay. Steadily mounting taxes and renegotiation of contracts with the government were given as reasons for the discontinuance.

"This action," A. W. Robertson, chairman, explained, "is necessary on account of recently enacted laws providing for the renegotiation of contracts with the government, and subcontracts relating thereto, and the refund of profits, which will prevent the company from reporting definite figures monthly or even yearly."

Other changes in the company's profits and taxes, he added, also emphasize the necessity for the discontinuance of the plan. Last week the company's quarterly common stock dividend was cut from $1 a share to 75 cents.

Introduced in 1936, the adjusted compensation plan has added varying amounts to the regular pay of Westinghouse employés in every month since except one. The adjusted compensation ranged as high as 16 per cent in August, 1937.

CHRYSLER BEGINS MAKING WELDED MODEL M-4 TANK

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3 (AP).—The Chrysler corporation came to the end of a model period today, but it was at its tank arsenal rather than on an automobile assembly line. Shortly before noon the last of the medium weight M-3 army tanks rolled off the assembly line and pulled an M-4 into position.

The switchover to the M-4, an all-welded model in contrast with the M-3 riveted type, was made without interruption to output. As the M-3 moved off to be placed aboard a flat car an overhead crane swung a huge turret onto the newer model and production went ahead at full speed.

Chrysler officials said that tank production at the arsenal was 200 per cent ahead of the contract schedule and that many M-4s already have been produced by the corporation in its tool shops.

COUNCIL GROUP VOTES CONGRESS ROUTE PURCHASE

The city council finance committee yesterday approved the purchase of nine parcels of land at an agreed price of $663,500 as part of the right of way for the Congress street highway between State street and the river. The rest of the needed right of way probably will be condemned, according to Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and superhighways. The total cost of property to be acquired will be about 7 million dollars, he said.

Of the $663,500 price, which was approved last week by the state department of highways, $506,965 will be paid from the city's share of the motor fuel tax fund and the rest from the city's traction fund. Action by the entire council is the next step before clearing of the properties can begin.

MUNICIPAL BOND TAXATION HELD WAR HINDRANCE

Hits City Expansion to House Workers.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—Austin J. Tobin of New York City, representing the conference on state defense, testified today that federal taxation of municipal and state bonds would seriously impair financing by cities that are coöperating to furnish vital utilities for war industries.

Appearing in opposition to a treasury proposal to tax the income from future issues of bonds, Tobin urged the senate finance committee not to "burn down the barn to catch a few mice."

The witness said such taxation would add practically no revenue in the next 10 years, but he estimated it ultimately would add $175,000,000 to state and city financing costs by forcing up the rate of interest these agencies would pay.

Increases Interest Costs.

Tobin said that cities such as Detroit and Philadelphia with "urgent refunding programs," would feel the impact of the proposed new tax immediately, adding:

"Cities which are loyally coöperating in the war effort to provide the roads, the sewers, the water supply, and the schools required immediately by expanding war industries, such as Norfolk, San Diego, Wichita, and Cleveland, would feel the burden of increased borrowing costs at once."

Tobin said the "so-called evil" of the tax exempt security had been "grossly exaggerated," adding that only 6 per cent of the capital in all estates over $50,000 had been invested in state and local bonds. The treasury has recommended taxation of the income from outstanding issues, but the committee decided not to go into this question in its consideration of amendments to the house bill to increase taxes by $6,271,000,000.

Held Invasion of Rights.

The witness complained that federal taxation of the income from state and municipal bonds would constitute an invasion of the field of local self government.

"If congress has the power by simple statute to tax state and municipal bonds, it has inevitably the power to control state and municipal financing," he said.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City, also testified that taxation of the income from future issues of state and local securities would have "disasterous" consequences on municipal financing.

La Guardia said that there would be no net gain for the federal government in taxing the income from such bonds because local taxpayers in the end would have to pay the bill.

"If these securities are taxed, the taxpayers of the cities pay for it, not the rich guys these youngsters from the treasury department say," La Guardia asserted, turning to glare at three youthful treasury representatives who sat nearby.

Sen. John Thomas [R., Idaho] protested in a brief submitted to the committee that a house-approved tax of 5 per cent on freight and express shipments would discriminate against shippers of farm and forest products in states distant from central markets.

AIR TRAVEL DIPS, BUT MAIL AND EXPRESS MOUNT

Air travel from the Chicago airport declined sharply in July but airmail shipments increased almost 50 per cent over a year ago and air express shipments rose 15 per cent, airport officials reported yesterday. The number of passengers using its facilities dropped to 53,820, a decline of 31.7 per cent from 78,837 a year ago. Plane arrivals and departures dropped 36.6 per cent.

During the first seven months of 1942 a total of 384,162 passengers used the airport, compared with 381,502 in the corresponding period last year. The number of planes carrying these passengers declined from 31,844 to 29,002 in the latest period. Seven months airmail shipments were up 42.6 per cent and air express shipments 7.8 per cent.

SUGAR INCREASE FOR COMMERCIAL USERS EXTENDED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—Increased sugar allotments granted industrial and institutional users for July and August will be extended thru September and October, the OPA announced today.

The increased quotas give industrial consumers 80 per cent of their normal supply instead of 70 per cent, and institutional users are granted a 25 per cent increase to boost their allotments to 75 per cent of normal.

OPA estimated that the increase for the four month period would amount to about 160,000 tons. Purchase certificates for the additional allotments will be granted when the user applies for his regular allotment for the September-October period. Applications for this period will be received any time after Aug. 7.

Jones & Laughlin Reports 14 New Output Records Set

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP).—H. E. Lewis, president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, reported tonight 14 new monthly production records were established in July by the corporation's workmen in the Pittsburgh and Cleveland districts.

Weighs Plans to Simplify Data on Rent

Earl Dean Howard, Chicago area rent director, yesterday weighed the merits of plans to simplify registration of the 1½ million dwelling units in Cook, Kane, Du Page, and Lake counties which must be completed by Aug. 15 under federal rent regulations.

The registration would obtain from landlords a statement concerning rents on the March 1 ceiling date and the nature and extent of services and equipment furnished at that time. Howard has delayed starting the registration because of objections from the Chicago Real Estate board that the process would be costly and unnecessary.

Howard conferred with Ronald J. Chinnock, president of the board, and Morgan L. Fitch, chairman of its rent control committee. The committee proposed a simplified registration by large property owners who would list their rental units on a master form instead of individually.

Termed Economy Move.

Chinnock said the multiple form would reduce landlords' expenses and speed the registration. He said tenants would be notified in a separate statement as to the ceiling rental and the services and equipment to be furnished.

The committee discussed with Howard the need for asking tenants for notice of their intention to move Oct. 1. Chinnock said that, while normally 60 day notices would be solicited, the rent regulation had complicated matters by nullifying lease termination dates. Howard asked the committee to submit a request for a specified number of days' notice.

The federal rent office was jammed with the heaviest flood of inquiries since federal rent control became effective in this area July 1. Of the 2,097 visitors at the rent office at 222 West Adams street, 372 were landlords and 429 tenants. Phone calls numbered 1,296 and more than 200 inquiries were handled by receptionists without formal reference to a rent examiner.

Letters Bring Owners.

Many of the landlords appeared in reply to 800 letters mailed last week informing them they had been accused by tenants of violating the rent regulation.

John F. McCarthy, area rent attorney, said that 99 per cent of the landlords accused of violations signed compliance statements agreeing to make refunds of any overcharge. One landlord agreed to make 54 refunds of $2.50 each. McCarthy said most of the violations were unintentional and resulted from inadequate knowledge of the order.

Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, announced that 45,000 Negro tenants in Chicago had signed a petition addressed to Price Administrator Leon Henderson asking that the rent ceiling in substandard sections of the Chicago area be based on July 1, 1941, levels instead of March 1, 1942.

RETAILERS BEGIN OWN ANALYSIS OF INVENTORIES

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations announced yesterday that with its affiliates it is mailing questionnaires to 5,000 merchants in Illinois to determine the extent of their inventories in an effort to learn if an inventory limitation as suggested by the WPB is needed. The American Retail federation, of which the state federation is a member, is distributing the questionnaires nationally.

Merchants are not required to identify themselves on their questionnaires. No information is being sought from drug, liquor, food, chain and department stores or mail order companies.

"The survey gives the merchant full opportunity to tell his story as to whether or not inventory control is needed," J. T. Meek, secretary of the Illinois federation said. "Many Illinois merchants talked to WPB executives last week and indicated a belief that no control was now necessary and that need for such control would be greatly lessened in a few months. However, retailing wants to be certain of its ground."

Railroad Gives Unneeded Guard Rails as War Scrap

The Illinois Central railroad reported yesterday that in connection with its scrap drive it is removing approximately 13 miles of guard rails weighing 675 tons which have been found unnecessary to the safe operation of trains. A complete canvass of the system also is being made to discover other salvage materials. The government recently requisitioned 81 miles of Illinois Central branch line for metal salvage.

WAR SPENDING SOARS TO RECORD IN MONTH; DEFICIT TOPS 4 BILLION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—War spending accelerated faster during July than in any previous month, setting a new record of $4,494,460,686.

This was approximately 700 million dollars more than was spent in June and nearly five times as much as was spent in July, 1941.

The July figures set an initial pace which gave promise of making good the budget bureau estimate that 67 billion dollars will be spent on budgetary war activities this fiscal year. July was the first month of the fiscal year.

Adding in other governmental costs, the treasury spent $5,162,263,657 during the month. Revenues, however, were only $747,008,677, making a one month deficit of $4,415,254,980. The treasury debt rose to $81,717,627,500.

5,000 MORE TANK CARS ASKED FOR HAULING OIL EAST

Hint Restrictions in Other Areas.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—The possibility of limitations on petroleum deliveries in areas now unrestricted was indicated by the Office of Petroleum coördinator today in calling upon the oil industry and tank car companies to make 5,000 more tank cars available for service into the eastern area.

Deputy Coördinator Ralph K. Davies said it was the agency's policy to withdraw from unrationed areas any transport facilities "which can be effectively used in relieving the into the eastern shortage area.

Agency Ready to Act.

"As this release of facilities creates a shortage in new areas, appropriate limitation orders as to sale and distribution of remaining supplies are then issued applicable to such areas." Davies telegraphed petroleum industry committees east of the Rocky Mountains.

A spokesman for OPC said he did not know whether diversion of 5,000 additional cars would create shortages in the middle west and southwest sufficient to cause curtailment of deliveries to fuel oil and gasoline dealers. If it does, he said, OPC is ready to act.

Expects Immediate Increase.

The new diversion will bring a total of 67,000 cars—more than 60 per cent of the country's total—into the eastern service. Most of the additional cars probably will come from the southwest and Rocky Mountain areas, the spokesman said, and will be capable of delivering about 65,000 barrels daily into the Atlantic seaboard.

Davies said he expects "a substantial and immediate increase" in overland shipments as a result of government absorption of the extra costs of hauling oil by railroad instead of by ship. In addition, Federal Loan Adminstrator Jesse Jones has agreed to subsidize the extra cost of petroleum products purchased in the middle west as compared with these bought on the gulf coast, Davies said.

Big War Plant Additions Lift Building Total

BY AL CHASE.

Permit for a $465,000 addition to the Studebaker corporation's aircraft engine plant at Archer and Cicero avenues was one of several large industrial expansion programs which boosted Chicago's July construction record two million dollars above that of June.

One of the others was a $253,000 enlargement and alteration planned for the former Pines-Winterfront plant at the southeast corner of Cicero avenue and Division street, bought recently by Defense Plant corporation for operation by Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company. The expansion will add 7,200 square feet to the plant's 210,000 square feet of floor space.

Edison Plans Expansion.

Another big industrial expansion for which a building permit was taken out last month was a $500,000 addition to the Commonwealth Edison company power plant at 1111 Cermak road.

Building Commissioner Paul Gerhardt reported 227 permits were issued last month for buildings valued at $2,996,867, compared with 126 permits issued in June, valued at $950,480. Comparison with July of last year, however, was not so encouraging, for during that month there were 652 permits for buildings costing $7,390,020.

Home Building Gains.

Home building in Chicago was considerably ahead of June figures but much below the total of July, 1941. Permits were issued for 153 single family homes, costing an average of $4,342. In June there were 90 permits and in July, 1941, the total was 537.

Construction of apartment buildings spurted with permits issued for 22, costing $417,707, compared with 7, costing $53,000, in June, and with 15, costing $115,500 in July of last year.

DU PONT BONUSES OF 1¼ MILLIONS PAID 24 PERSONS

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP).—Bonuses in stock and cash totaling $1,273,560 were awarded during 1941 to 10 executives and 14 employés by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

In addition, du Pont paid $150,220 to W. S. Carpenter Jr., as chairman and a director; $140,914 to A. B. Echols, vice president and a director; and $125,560 to J. W. McCoy, vice president and director.

Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, received $95,000 last year, an increase of $23,000 over his 1940 income.

W. B. Gillies, vice president, received $72,000 and W. E. Watson, vice president, got $68,000, increases of $14,400 and $14,000 respectively.

The Inland Steel company, Chicago, paid Wilfred Sykes, president, $84,464, an increase of $16,404 over 1940; Everett D. Graff, president of Joseph T. Ryerson and Sons, Inc., $73,239, and Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of Inland, $68,387, an increas of $3,387.

MEDIUM SIZED FIRMS GET BIG SHARE OF LOANS

Bank Analysis First of Its Kind Made.

Businesses with assets of $50,000 to $500,000 got 28.2 per cent of the commercial and industrial loans and renewals handled by 640 reserve system member banks in the 7th [Chicago] district from April 16 to May 15, and borrowing to finance war work is accounting for an increasingly large proportion of bank loans.

These findings were announced yesterday by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, reporting the results of a commercial and industrial loan survey which was the first of its kind ever made.

Total loans and renewals in the month covered by the survey were $294,678,000 in the district. Of these, 31.7 per cent went to companies with assets of 5 million dollars or more, and 33.2 per cent to those with assets of $500,000 to 5 millions.

Little Business Gets Little.

The "little" businesses with assets of less than $50,000 accounted for 6.9 per cent of the total.

Of the new loans and renewals, 45.8 per cent in terms of dollar volume were entirely for direct war purposes, and 4.7 per cent partly for war purposes, making a total of 50½ per cent.

Leaving the renewals out of account, the survey showed that new loans followed an increasing trend toward application to war work. Of the new loans, 49.6 per cent were for war purposes. This compared with 38.7 per cent of the renewals which were for direct financing of war activities.

One of the purposes of the survey was to determine to what extent small manufacturers were being assisted by bank loans. Another was to find out whether bank loans were being used to any large extent to finance production other than essential war goods.

Industry Gets 42 Per Cent.

The study showed that manufacturing and mining enterprises received 42.1 per cent of the new loans and renewals during the period covered, the rest going to such classes of business as wholesale and retail trade, sales finance and personal loan companies, public utilities, transportation companies, and building construction.

An indication of the extent to which industry was converting to war production was the finding that 70.7 per cent of the new loans and renewals of the manufacturing and mining companies were for direct war purposes.

Total commercial and industrial loans of the 640 banks declined about 8 million dollars from the beginning of the survey to its conclusion a month later. On April 15 the total of such loans was 1 billion 108 million dollars. On May 15 it was 1 billion 100 millions.

Such loans have been declining since they reached a peak on March 18, the bank said.

Start Laying of Pipe Line This Week in Southwest

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—Laying of the new 24-inch pipe line from Texas to Illinois to feed the east with more petroleum will begin this week in the southwest, Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes announced today. Pipe has been strung out and welding and ditching operators are scheduled to begin work immediately, he said. When completed in December the pipe line is estimated to deliver 300,000 barrels of crude oil from east Texas each day to Illinois for transshipment eastward.

SELECTED RAIL, LIQUOR STOCKS AT YEAR'S HIGHS

Bidding Lends Strength After Shaky Start.

New York, Aug. 3 (AP).—Further quiet strength in rails, together with new buying of liquor issues, helped today's market recovery.

The list was shaky at the start but, when no real liquidation appeared, bids began to come in for leaders. While gains running to a point or so were shaded in numerous cases at the close, advances topped small declines by a good margin. Several new highs for the year or longer were posted.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .1 of a point at 36.6.

Rail Stocks Draw Support.

Rails continued to receive support on the basis of record or near-record earnings and the brightening of the dividend outlook for many roads. The distillery group still reflected the Office of Price Administration boost in price ceilings for this industry and the belief whisky inventories on hand were sufficient for five years' normal consumption.

Distillers corporation stock equaled its peak of 1939 and new 1942 tops were registered for Schenley, Southern Pacific, and Atlantic Coast Line.

CHICAGO STOCKS HIGHER.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange were higher yesterday on a turnover of 10,000 shares. Of the issues traded 30 advanced, 15 declined, and 14 were unchanged. Leaders included Commonwealth Edison and Nash-Kelvinator, both up ⅛; Swift & Co., and Libby, McNeill & Libby, both up ¼, and United States Steel and Anaconda Copper, both up ⅛. Consumers company preferred advanced ⅛ to a new year's high of 9⅛.

STANDARD OIL CO. (IND.) DECLARES USUAL 25 CENTS

Directors of the Standard Oil company [Indiana] yesterday declared the regularly quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share, payable Sept. 15. In 1940 and 1941 extra dividends of 25 cents were paid in September.

General Motors corporation announced a common dividend of 50 cents, the same amount that was paid in June and March this year. Payments last year were 75 cents in March and $1 each in the other three quarters.

The following dividends were declared yesterday:

ARGUES OIL FIRM WAS NAZI TRUST 'JUNIOR PARTNER'

Senators Told Standard Gave Up Autonomy.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 (AP).—Patrick A. Gibson, special assistant to the attorney general, told the senate patents committee today that Standard Oil company [New Jersey], prior to the war, had "surrendered its freedom of action in the chemical industry into the hands of the largest industrial corporation in Germany."

His statement came as he began to trace the patent pooling arrangements between Standard and I. G. Farbenindustrie of Frankfort on the Main, thru which, he said:

"In substance, Standard agreed to refrain from going into any chemical business in the future except as a 'junior partner' of I. G. and under I. G.'s domination and control. In turn, I. G. agreed to remove itself from and stay out of the oil industry except in Germany."

Attacks Firm's Sincerity.

"Scarcely even sincerity," he told the committee, "can attach to the recently publicized argument that this renunciation of liberty of action in the chemical industry by Standard was only natural for an oil company, since as early as 1928, almost two years prior to the execution of this agreement, an official of Standard wrote:

"'The petroleum industry is rapidly becoming a chemical industry and has, of course, available to it the largest supply of raw material, both in its natural gas and crude oil. Looking to the future, it is evident that the manufacturing and marketing interest of the large refining companies will clash with the large chemical companies.'"

He said that Standard established a plan in the United States by which 18 major American oil companies received the right to "hydrogenation licenses," and added

"The plan adopted spread in this country the use restrictions of I. G. agreements to cover the future operations of all these companies, and prevent development of hydrogenation for chemical purposes by the oil industry."

Converts Oil to Gasoline.

Hydrogenation constitutes the subjection of hydrocarbons to heat and pressure in the presence of free hydrogen. Thru this process crude oil and coal can be converted into gasoline.

Gibson said that development of hydrogenation had resulted in modern methods for producing high octane gasoline, toluol for T. N. T. and butadiene for synthetic rubber.

He said that a recent consent decree adjudged the American hydrogenation plan unlawful and enjoined its further execution, with the result that the hydrogenation patents for both oil and chemical purposes were made available.

ARMY CONTROL.

As a holder of securities issued by the Stevens Hotel corporation, I would like to know where I stand now that the gover..ment has taken over control of the hotel. Has the government become the new owner and will I be forced to sell my interest?—R. S.

Answer: Thru condemnation proceedings in the federal District court at Chicago, the government took over control of the Stevens hotel as the lessee, not as a new owner. Consequently the government must pay a rental fee for use of the premises. The hotel corporation and its security holders remain owners.

The hotel corporation cannot dispute the condemnation proceedings. It can bring suit in the civil courts for a higher rental fee, if not satisfied with the government's offer.

Altho no mention of rental fees was made at the time of the condemnation proceeding, the rental, no doubt, will be determined on a basis considered sufficient to cover operating expenses and fixed charges. Nothing definite can be known, however, until a rental actually is agreed upon by the government and the hotel or established by the courts.

REPUBLIC STEEL.

How does Republic Steel corporation rank in size in the industry and what is its total funded debt?—W. L. D.

Answer: This company ranks third in the steel industry with a total annual ingot capacity of about 8 million tons. At the end of 1941, total funded debt was $95,224,569.

Answer: At the end of last year, Standard Oil Company of Indiana owned 78.63 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of Pan-American Petroleum and Transport.

PUBLIC SERVICE PROFITS CUT TO HALF 1941 LEVEL

Packard's Earnings Rise in First Six Months.

Earnings of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois for the first six months of 1942 were less than half those of the corresponding 1941 period, a report to shareholders disclosed yesterday. Net income was $1,294,789, equivalent to $1.93 a share, compared with $3,079,499, or $4.60 a share, a year ago.

The company is a subsidiary of Commonwealth Edison company which last week also announced a slash in earnings.

Substantially increased tax burdens in the first six months cut net earnings of the Commonwealth and Southern utility system, Justin R. Whiting, president, announced. He said these tax boosts, along with Securities and Exchange commission restrictions, were the cause of the corporation's failure to pay dividends on its $6 preferred stock, arrears on which now amount to almost 35 million dollars. He indicated that resumption of dividends may hinge on proposed tax schedules.

Net Income $4,981,391.

Whiting announced net income of the utility for the half year was $4,981,391, against $5,935,434 a year ago.

Profit of the Central Illinois Public Service company was reduced in the June quarter to $317,394, from $561,915 a year ago. Profit for the 12 months ended June 30 was $1,914,471, compared with $2,038,642 in the preceding year.

June quarter net profit of the National Steel corporation fell to $2,750,445, or $1.25 a share, from an adjusted net income of $4,291,430, or $1.95, for the same period of 1941.

The Packard Motor Car company's net income for the six months ended June 30 was $3,966,151, compared with $1,251,693 in the first half of 1941. George T. Christopher, president, explained, however, no provision has been made for contemplated excess profits taxes or for renegotiation of any government contract and he said that such adjustments will operate against earnings during the remainder of the year.

Yellow Truck Earns Less.

Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company reported its June quarterly net income was $1,133,280, equal to 29 cents a share, compared with $1,848,849, or 53 cents a share a year ago.

General Mills, Inc., in a preliminary report for the fiscal year ended May 31, placed its net profit at $5,135,111, equivalent to $6.06 a share, compared with $5,251,733, or $6.23 a share for the preceding fiscal year.

The Belden Manufacturing company, Chicago insulated wire producer, reported net profit of $247,721, equal to $1.03 a share, for the first half of this year compared with $283,911 or $1.18 a share, in the corresponding period of 1941. The company computed taxes at the rate of 66⅔ per cent, against 57½ per cent a year ago.

BUTTER SETS 13 YEAR HIGH; EGGS AT TOP SINCE '20

Butter prices advanced ¼ to ¾ cent pound on the Chicago wholesale market yesterday, 92 score selling at 40 cents a pound. Prices on the consumer grades of butter reached the highest levels since March, 1930, and industrial grades set new tops since 1929.

Fresh graded first quality eggs sold at 32 to 32½ cents a dozen, a price unequaled in early August since 1920.

Butter receipts totaled only 757,524 pounds, compared with 1,263,845 pounds a week ago and 1,106,746 on the corresponding date last year. The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation purchased 600,000 pounds.

Butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange reached new 12 year peaks as the market went up .05 to .15 cent. The November delivery closed at 40.7 cents a pound. The October egg futures closed at its seasonal peak of 34.7 cents a dozen on a market rise of .1 to .2 cent.

SALES TAX YIELD CUT BY RETAIL SLUMP; GAS RETURN OFF $149,950

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 3 (AP).—A decline in June retail trade in Illinois under May sales was disclosed today with the report that state sales tax collections for last month, reflecting June sales, totaled $6,796,521. The total was $104,532 under June collections based on May sales.

The state finance department reported, however, that taxable sales reports for June were 5.7 per cent higher than in June, 1941.

Gasoline tax collections continued to drop, the July total being $3,474,963 or $149,950 under June collections and a 14.6 decrease under July, 1941. Cigaret taxes yielded $1,173,451, compared with $1,167,998 for June; liquor taxes totaled $2,093,087 against $1,798,598; and oil production taxes were $356,239, compared with $337,601.

DIRECT SUBSIDY TO SMALL FIRM POSSIBLE—MEAD

New York, Aug. 3 (AP).—United States Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], today outlined plans for government aid to small business concerns which "might possibly take the form of direct subsidies."

Declaring that "small business is in danger of receiving such a blow from the war that when peace comes big business will be in command of the entire field," the senator said that a special senate committee on small business of which he is a member has drafted plans for lending funds.

"The committee will consider the advisability of setting up a corporation which would be authorized to lend money to small concerns to meet necessary minimum overhead costs, taxes, interest, and upkeep," Mead said.

PAINT COMPANY FILES WITH SEC ON STOCK OFFER

The Nu-Enamel corporation, Chicago, announced yesterday the filing with the Securities and Exchange commission of a registration statement covering the proposed offering of 106,500 shares of common stock. The projected sale does not represent new company financing since the shares are now held by C. L. Lloyd, chairman, and his wife. The Floyd D. Cerf company is the principal underwriter.

Nu-Enamel also announced the sale of its Cleveland plant, idle since September, 1940, to the Tremco Manufacturing company, for $64,000.

Reopen Hearing on Fight Between Unions, Packers

Hearing of a controversy between three unions and the Armour, Swift, Wilson and Cudahy packing companies involving wage increases and union security was reopened yesterday in the Palmer House before a mediation panel appointed by the WLB. The hearing, which began early last month, is expected to continue several days.

ADMIT CANADIAN SHIPS.
